COMMANDER OWSELEY IN FAREWELL ADDRESS

Retiring Commander of Legion Speaks Before Annual Convention. San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 15 (By the Associated Press).—Alvin M. Owsley, retiring national commander of the American Legion, in his farewell address today before the organization's national convention, called upon the men of the Legion "with patriot hearts, pure as gold, to respond in this hour fraught with many possibilities and laden with whispers of impending danger."

"There is no back sliding for the Legion away from the original purpose of its founding," he said, "and the constitution of the United States, which is the supreme law of the land, must be upheld and defended by you."

Law and order will be kept and preserved, he proclaimed, and proudly asserted the "Masters of Might." Mr. Owsley declared, "The memories of our sacrifices as comrades must be carefully conserved and he will bring happiness and prosperity of all sanctified by our devotion to mutual helpfulness."

"Our immense treasure of national resources must not be wasted away in profligate expenditure for individuals for profit and benefit accruing to groups and combination of capital that sometimes acquire and keep vast holdings against the public policy and common good. Let us then inaugurate and freely support an extensive program for the conservation of our natural resources: reclamation of waste lands, where homes, farms and expression of individualism can be built and established; preserve and give fullest protection to our national forest reserves and parks and the development of our waterways, rivers and canals."

"The wild animal, so distinctively a part of American history, is fast passing out, so much so we may say it is nearly extinct. Our bird life has been slaughtered and destroyed on so extravagant a scale that they are rarely to be seen; our streams, brooks, rivers and lakes once filled with fish are stagnant or fished out and empty. Attention wisely given to protection of forest and bird-closed season for animals and birds—encouragement to the state and nation for their breeding and propagation and the restocking of all our waters with fish will in a large measure give needed employment to numerous workers, and draw to the Legion the acknowledgment from right thinking men and women of our controlling desire for unselfish labor."

Always and fixed in the mind of the Legion is the recognition and desire to uphold and further the best interest of the laboring people, Mr. Owsley continued. "This is the song of better homes, churches and schools. The inalienable and God-given right to man to work out his own salvation in his own way and chosen time. We, the Legion adhere to the doctrine that man's greatest happiness is to be found in his laughter, his labor and love."

Mr. Owsley said he brought a message of enthusiasm, "a statement of accomplishment in which we can take pride; the assurance of duty conscientiously performed; a declaration of hope and courage; a vision into the future that is radiant and inspiring."

"When speaking to the delegates at New Orleans, as the newly elected national commander, I committed the Legion under my leadership to four comprehensive principles of endeavor: Hospitalization, rehabilitation, adjusted compensation and Americanization. "The separate reports of department heads appear, to me, to speak of a consistent progress toward better state for our sick and disabled comrades; a justifiable prediction of the passage of the Adjusted Compensation Bill by the next Congress and the inauguration of a patriotic American discussion and leadership on matters of national education, respect for our flag, veteran unemployment, permanent endowment for decoration of graves in foreign lands, an understanding of and a business conception of the Legion's opportunity of educating and protecting the orphan children of service men; the announcement and introduction to the nation and to the world of the Legion's advocacy of an international conference for the limitation of air armament, America must either work for peace or prepare for war; adherence to and liberal support of a conservative and adequate policy of national defense; the stamping of the Legion in its true light before the nation as an American institution whose creed and purpose are so truly expressed in the familiar term of 'Service to God and Country.'"

"Not only has the force of the Legion been proclaimed throughout every state in the Union, but in the lands of Cuba and Panama and on foreign soil at London, Paris, Brussels and in Germany, in the Ruhr, wherever there was a listening ear."

"To my mind one other forward stride should now be our desire and will. That mighty pioneering race of people whose names have graced the roles of immortals and whose deeds have blessed all mankind, made and have preserved for us, their sons, this our country. O, felicitous Providence that gave to us our America! Let us then here and now rededicate and consecrate our lives to her service."

Four Game Receipts More Than $700,000.

New York, October 13.—The Polo Grounds, home of the New York Giants, held the greatest crowd in its history today for the fourth world's series game between the Giants and the Yankees. The official paid attendance, 46,302, also was the third largest world series crowd on record. It was eclipsed only by the opening game of the series and the Columbus day game, both played in Yankee stadium.

The total figures for the four games: Attendance 204,441; receipts $723,104; advisory council's share $114,405.00; players pool (complete—players sharing in first four games only) $362,783.04; each club's share $122,927.69.

It is now certain that all records of attendance and receipts for any world's series, of whatever number of games will be shattered.

Washington, Oct. 14.—Referring to efforts of Governor Pinchot to "clean up" Pennsylvania, William Jennings Bryan, told the citizenship conference on prohibition here tonight that he would like to trade the Democratic governor of New York for the Republican governor of Pennsylvania.

HEALTH HABITS SHOULD BE GIVEN CHILDREN

Children Between Ages of 2 and 6 Should Be Properly Trained, Says Expert. (By the Associated Press.)

Detroit, Oct. 15.—Instruction of children of the "dangerous" or preschool age in mental health-habits was urged today by Dr. Mary Riggs Noble, chief of the Division of Child Health of the Pennsylvania State Department of Health, in an address before the first annual meeting of the American Child Health Association, in session here.

Dr. Noble was speaking on the general topic, "Problems of State and City Child Health Officials," and she selected "The Pre-School Child Practical Methods of Securing Medical Examination and Supervision" as the subject of her address. This classification includes children of the run-about ages, between two and six years old.

"Mental health habits," she said, "center around self-control, self-expression, obedience, courage, clean mental content, right storing of the unconscious, right emotional steering."

"The reasons why so much must be done in these four years form the crux of many of the problems of prevention."

"It is the time to establish firmly physical health habits."

"It is the time to catch the early defect and do away with it before lasting harm comes. This can be done by a periodic, regularly recurring and complete physical examination by a doctor and the compilation of a complete record of all findings at each examination. These should be passed on with the child to the school.

"The age from two to six is, we grant, the 'home period,' but the mother, even the most intelligent and best intentioned, does not know all that is needed; let alone how to bring to pass the best for her child. She must have the opportunity for finding all this out. Child health centers and conferences are still widely recognized as one of the best methods of educating mothers, and a second valuable method is by study clubs.

"Superintendents, principals and teachers should welcome the chance to procure a better stock of first-grade material and should be concerned over the pre-school child to the end that he may arrive at the school room door 100 per cent, fit, with brains unhampered by some remediable defect and a beginning of personality and behavior building that will simplify the teacher's job. This will be less costly and will insure a better product all around."

Angus McLean, Lumberton, on Near East Relief Committee.

Don't Lose Sight of the Food Value of Your Baking

Plain flour has a large amount of food value but it must be combined with good baking powder in order to retain this value.

Most self rising flours are not successful because they do not and cannot raise the bakings to the proper lightness. This means a certain loss of nutrition because they are heavy and hard to digest.

Every time you eat food that does not properly digest you do not get the full nutritional value—you are over-taxing your stomach. Nourishing and perfect bakings are what good health demands. The one sure way is—use pure flour and good baking powder.

If you want to find what thousands of housewives have learned—make some biscuits with self-rising flour—then make some with good plain flour and Calumet Baking Powder—notice the great difference. One trial will satisfy you. Your health demands that you make the experiment.

Those who know—millions of housewives, domestic science teachers, big hotels, restaurants, bakeries and railroads will not use anything but Calumet, the Economy Baking Powder.

Play safe—use Calumet and plain flour. It is the most economical and satisfactory, where light, wholesome and pure foods are desired.

SON JUSTIFIED. HIS FATHER SAYS

Robert H. Gamble Makes Statement About Alleged Kidnapping. Asheville, Oct. 14.—"If my son were to publish all the facts, in the case, the public would know that he was justified in taking his children to his home in Florida."

This was the statement of Robert Gamble, father of Robert H. Gamble, in a statement yesterday concerning the alleged kidnapping of the Gamble children from the home of Mrs. Virginia Loney Gamble, in New York.

Mr. Gamble stated that, when in Paris last spring Mrs. Gamble and his son had a verbal agreement regarding the future of their children but that after the divorce decree was in effect, July 12, 1923, Mrs. Gamble refused to live up to the agreement and decided she would go to England where she had previously lived for about 15 years, taking the two children with her, the custody of the children not having been settled, he said, by the decree of divorce.

"Mrs. Gamble told my son," said Mr. Gamble, "that she was to be married again, giving the man's name, this man having been in Paris most of the time Mrs. Gamble was there getting her divorce. Furthermore, the day Robert H. Gamble left New York with the children he telegraphed Mrs. Gamble. Upon his arrival in Jacksonville the following night he again telegraphed her that the children were well and in Jacksonville and that she could see them at any time. My son may not know that if the children are taken to England no power can bring them back to this county against Mrs. Gamble's."

Mr. Gamble said that Mr. Vandivier, one of Mrs. Gamble's New York lawyers, then came to Jacksonville for a conference, which was granted. Mr. Vandivier stating that he had full authority to act for Mrs. Gamble, Mr. Gamble said. It was agreed at this meeting that the children should be given to each parent six months in the year and that Mrs. Gamble should have charge of their education. Mr. Vandivier was satisfied said Mr. Gamble, and he asserted that if this settlement were not accepted by Mrs. Gamble he would withdraw from the case. John M. Cooper, Jr., Mr. Gamble's Jacksonville attorney, agreed with Mr. Vandivier in accepting the understanding arrived at. But when Mr. Vandivier asked Mrs. Gamble over telephone to New York for confirmation of the compromise, she refused to accept it and absolutely refused to allow the father to have the children at any time.

Mr. Gamble declared that his son wants a fair disposition of the children under jurisdiction of a court of law and he asked that the public suspend judgment in the case until the facts are presented in court.

Charlotte Purchases $275,000 Site For Municipal Building.

Charlotte, Oct. 13.—The city of Charlotte today purchased the property on East avenue known as the Liddell square on which the new city hall will be erected. The purchase price was $275,000.

There are three residences in the square, the center one in which Mrs. W. J. F. Liddell—nearly a hundred years old—lives; the one occupied by Walter Liddell and family, which is west of the center building, and the one to the east owned by Mrs. Westray Battle, of Charlotte and Asheville, the property having been bought by her first husband, Vinton Liddell.

The property was originally owned by the late Col. Thomas H. Brem, father of Walter Brem Sr., who erected thereon a residence for himself and family, which is the center residence in the square. Col. Brem died in the house, in 1876. The property was sold after his death, and bought by the late W. J. Liddell.
