The Sensational Photodramatic Drug Expose That Is Rocking America To Its Foundation—

In smashing sequences of stupendous drama this gigantic motion picture plunges home a mighty story of human life. In a voice of silence it thunders forth a passionate outcry that makes the emotions tremble. In towering transcripts of tremendous thrills it burns its way into the consciousness, leaving a trail of piercing memories that will linger as long as you live.

It's real! It lives! It vibrates in tune with the song of life—vibrant, virile, triumphant!

It throbs with human interest! It flames with blazing emotions! It quivers with crashing power! It rushes with dramatic conflict! It whirls with breathless action! It whips with cutting teeth! It crushes with overwhelming force!

Picture begins at 1, 3, 5, 7 and 9 o'clock.

Exploded Myth of "Unspeaking Turk" Arthur Tremaine Chester in Current History Magazine.

The Turks were not "anxious to fight" any more than we were in the Revolutionary or Civil War, but they were determined to throw off the domination of rival European powers or die trying to do so. "I lived for nearly a year in Angora and I know everything except national freedom they wanted peace and national unity. They had no desire to enlarge Turkish territory at the expense of this principle. The charge that the Turks would have demanded the return of Palestine, Syria and Mesopotamia, had it not meant war with England or France, scarcely deserves refutation. This would not only have been entirely contrary to the National Pact, but frequently Turkish officials have volunteered the information to me that Turkey would not accept non-Turkish sections of their country as constituted in 1914 if offered them. These countries were always a source of discord, endangering the unity of the country, and were a heavy drain on the treasury instead of being a financial asset. As to the aliens already established on Turkish soil, new Turkey has resolutely decided to end once and forever the intolerable situation created by the plottings of the so-called "Christian minorities" against the Government, and to silence the century-long campaign of propaganda and hatred directed against the Turks on the ground of atrocious massacre. The legend of the "unspeaking Turk" must go.

Mrs. Suzuki, a daughter of Japan, who is probably the foremost business woman of the entire world, has an income in excess of $50,000 a day, yet she is content to live as modestly as when, a score of years ago, she helped to do her own housework in the intervals of managing the small sugar refinery which she had inherited from her husband. Today the net of her enterprises covers the whole of the civilized world, from Melbourne to the Yukon and from Calcutta to New York. Her ships, factories and mines—she counts in thousands, and she holds in her tiny hands the threads of one of the vastest and most complex businesses on earth.

Another War in Europe Forecast. Geneva, Oct. 22.—The "blood of the Burgundians" has appeared again on the water of Lake Morat, near Neuchatel, portending more trouble for old Europe, if ancient legend is to be believed. The reddening of the water of this lake is caused by the flowering of an aquatic plant, which, however, blooms very rarely. The phenomenon was seen in 1476, when 36,000 Burgundians under Charles the Bold were defeated near the lake by the Swiss. The last time the water were red was in 1914, just before the outbreak of the World War, a circumstance said to justify the old saying, "When blood is soon on Lake Morat there will be bloodshed in Europe."

Thirteen Prisoners Escape From Jail. Kinston, Oct. 21.—Thirteen negro prisoners escaped from the Lenoir county jail this evening just before dark. None of them had been apprehended at ten o'clock tonight. Bloodhounds lost the trail in the main thoroughfare of the city. Several were under chain gang sentences and were to have been taken to the roads Monday. Escape was made by picking a hole through a brick wall and using blankets to let the prisoners down from the second floor. Other prisoners, including several white men, did not know of the escape which was made from the main corridor in the colored section of the jail.

A Newspaper of 192 Pages. The New York Times printed Sunday, October 7, the largest edition in its history—probably the largest regular edition ever published by any New York newspaper. It consisted of twelve sections, comprising a total of 192 pages (176 full-sized newspaper pages). The total weight of paper in the edition of 565,000 copies was 877 tons, or 1,754,000 pounds. There were 545 columns of news, special features and pictures, and 883 columns of advertising—the largest volume of spontaneous advertisements ever printed in a single day in a regular edition of a New York newspaper.

A Power User Wants to Know. Charlotte Observer. A cotton mill man of Gastonia and a large user of the Southern Power Company's current, called up The Observer yesterday, asking to be allowed to put in one question at long distance. He wants to know this: "Why is Josephus Daniels fighting increases in rates, when investigation reveals the fact that since 1917 Mr. Daniels has raised advertising rates in his paper approximately 60 per cent, and his subscription rates nearly $3.50?" What he wants to know of The News and Observer is if it "would be willing to lower rates to those prevailing in 1917?" A mill man is asking The Observer to submit this request for information, and it is for our Raleigh contemporary to oblige him, if it desires to do so. Of course, The News and Observer could have his name, if it should want to have conversation with him.
