LOCAL MENTION

Born, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Dorris Fletcher, on Wednesday, November 1st, 1923.

Marriage license was issued Thursday by Register of Deeds Elliott to Heilig P. Freeze and Miss Bertha Overcash, both of Kannapolis.

Only a few cases were on docket for trial in recorder's court this morning. Most of the defendants were negroes, charged with larceny, having liquor and carrying concealed weapons.

Rev. D. A. Braswell was called from Thomasville on account of Mrs. Braswell having a second stroke of paralysis Wednesday night. The condition of Mrs. Braswell is considered serious.

The condition of Miss Virginia Day-vault, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Dayvault, who underwent an operation for appendicitis in the Concord Hospital several days ago, continues to improve.

Mrs. R. K. Black has returned from a Charlotte hospital, where she submitted to a very serious operation. Her friends will be interested to know that she stood the trip home all right and continues to show improvement.

Mrs. Edward Parnell returned Thursday to her home here from the Presbyterian Hospital in Charlotte, where she underwent treatment for several days. Her condition is reported by relatives as favorably improved.

Mr. Henry McClure, for several months county jailer, plans to leave the jail today. He will engage in the management of the Central Cafe. It is understood that Sheriff Caldwell plans to occupy the jail in the future.

Mrs. Zeno Horde was carried to a Charlotte Hospital Thursday and underwent an operation there at 9:30 this morning. Relatives here have been advised that so far as can be told now, the operation was successful.

Patrolman Baxter Robinson, of the local police force, entered the Concord Hospital Wednesday night. He underwent an operation Thursday, a report from the hospital this morning indicating that the operation was successful.

The regular weekly meeting of the Concord Kiwanis Club will be held at the Y this evening at 7 o'clock. Members of the club will take lunch at the Flower Show at 7 o'clock and after the lunch will hold their regular meeting. Mr. E. C. Barnhardt, Jr., has charge of the program for the meeting.

The Concord high school football team this afternoon is to play its first game in the State championship series. The Lexington team is here as Concord's opponent, and both teams are said to be in good physical condition for the game. The game will be staged at the Gibson mill park beginning at 3:30 o'clock.

Announcement was made Thursday of the purchase of the Cline & Mabery restaurant by I. B. Morris and Henry McClure. The cafe will be consolidated with the Dutch Lunch and will be operated in the future as the Central Cafe at the Cline & Mabery stand. The Dutch Lunch was located on Church Street.

Relatives here have been advised that the condition of Mr. H. G. Ritz, who is undergoing treatment in the Charlotte Sanatorium, is critical. Mr. Ritz has been in the hospital for some time and his condition during the past several days has been so unfavorable that some doubt as to his recovery is felt by relatives and friends.

City Tax Collector Fields now has the tax receipts for Wards One and Two ready to receive for the other wards probably will be completed within another week's time. Persons living in Wards One and Two can pay their taxes at any time now. The tax books for the county were opened this morning by Sheriff Caldwell.

Interest in North Carolina football games tomorrow centers in the State-Davidson game which will be played in Charlotte. North Carolina University plays South Carolina University at Columbia, and Trinity plays Elon. Quite a number of Concord people plan to go to Charlotte to see the State-Davidson game, both teams having many supporters in this city and county.

Prof. J. B. Robertson, superintendent of the county schools, made an address at Roberts Mill Thursday night in the interest of the county-wide school tax, which will be voted on November 20th. Mr. Robertson declared that he was heard by a good sized crowd at Roberts and the audience showed keen interest in his subject. Mr. Robertson will speak in other parts of the county during the next two weeks. Roberts at present has a local tax, put on by unanimous vote several years ago and another fine vote is expected in this community for the tax.

Cold Wave and Snow in West; Below Zero in Wyoming.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 31.—Cold weather, preceded by snow, was general throughout the middle northern section of the country today.

Casper, Wyo., reported 8 degrees below zero last night following a heavy snowfall. The thermometer was mounting rapidly today.

From one to three inches of snow covered Iowa this morning, with the mercury ranging between 16 and 19 degrees above zero.

Northern Nebraska had a heavy snow, with a minimum temperature at Norfolk of 6 above zero.

Wisconsin and Minnesota had their first real cold snap of the season, while in Chicago a light snow fell early today.

Rotten, Rotten, Rotten! Philadelphia Record.

At last we are beginning to learn something about the underground doings at Washington during the past two years and eight months. So long as Republicans had an overwhelming majority in both Senate and House they resolutely squelched any effort at investigation of alleged misdoings in the executive departments of the government.

Now, however, that control has passed to the Democrats and independents, the truth is beginning to come out, and startling it is, indeed.

Nothing more shocking, we venture to say, has emanated from Washington in many years than the testimony of the witness Mortimer regarding the management of the Veterans' Bureau under Charles E. Forbes as director. These are only accusations, of course, apparently tinged with personal feeling, and Mr. Forbes will have every opportunity to refute them; but it is impossible to believe that where names, figures and direct charges are handled with such freedom there is no substantial basis for at least a part of them.

The terrible feature of these indictments is that they are made against a man who should have regarded his office as a particularly sacred trust, in which every personal and political consideration should be subordinated to his solicitude for the unfortunate ex-soldiers committed to his care. There is ample evidence that Forbes regarded his position in no such light. Whether he has been guilty of the direct corruption charged against him is a matter upon which there will be a temporary suspension of judgment.

Of less serious import, but still of decided significance, is ex-Secretary Fall's admission that, after leaving office, he took $10,000 from Harry F. Sinclair, the oil promoter, for services in Europe. It was Sinclair, it will be recalled, to whom Fall, while Secretary, leased the Teapot Dome oil reserves—a matter now under probe. When asked why he had withheld announcement of this deal while there was hectic speculation in oil stocks in New York, he replied brazenly:

I am aware that any reticence in this matter may have justified some criticism, but I have no apology to make.

Then there is Gaston B. Means, one of Attorney General Daugherty's pets, who, when indicted for alleged bootlegging operations on a large scale, announced that, if he is prosecuted, he will make revelations that will blast many Republican reputations. It is predicted that the charges against him will not be pushed vigorously.

Politics, politics, politics! When that is the only thought that dominates official Washington, why be surprised at any exposure of crookedness that may be made?

How to Secure a World Supply of Cotton.

Manufacturers Records. The shortage of cotton is undoubtedly the greatest problem facing the cotton spinning industry today. A statement made by W. Irving Bullard of Boston, treasurer of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, in discussing this situation Mr. Bullard stated that during the past two years the world has consumed about 41,000,000 bales of cotton and has produced during that time only 33,000,000 bales, its consumption in two years having exceeded its production by 8,000,000 bales. In this brief period the world has drawn on its reserves to the extent of almost a full American crop based on the average of the last few years. This year's production he says will fall far below the requirements if the world's mills are to be run full. There are 157,000,000 spindles in the world. When operating on a normal basis they require annually from 22,000,000 to 23,000,000 bales, whereas the world's production this year he estimates at 18,750,000 bales to 19,000,000 bales, a very serious shortage with which to face the next twelve months.

It is in the light of such startling facts as these that the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, which meets in Boston on October 31, will bring to bear upon the subject of cotton production all possible information. Cotton will be discussed from every angle, and efforts will be made to crystallize opinion and point some way to practical action by which production may be stimulated to meet the world's needs.

The best possible way is to pay a living price to the cotton growers and only in that way will it be possible to increase the yield to such an extent as to meet the needs of the world.
