

SOCIAL & PERSONAL

CARR-HOWELL NUPTIALS IN DURHAM SATURDAY NIGHT

Brilliant Wedding of Carolina Social Favorite and Atlanta Young Man.

A brilliant and notable wedding of unusual interest in North Carolina and Georgia was solemnized at St. Philip's Episcopal Church at Durham Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock, when Miss Margaret Louise Carr was married to Clark Howell, Jr., of Atlanta.

The church was beautifully and artistically decorated in white and green. Standards bearing graceful clusters of blooms formed an avenue of lilies from the entrance of the church to the chancel.

Stately palms, standard and tall baskets of white chrysanthemums, were used about the altar and throughout the chancel, the soft light of cathedral-candles completing an effect of unusual beauty.

Just before the ceremony Mrs. Neal Pharr, of Charlotte, sang "O Perfect Love." Twenty years ago Mrs. Pharr, who was then Miss May Oates, sang at the wedding of the bride's mother and father.

In the receiving line were: Mrs. Julian Carr, Jr.; Clark Howell, of Atlanta; Mrs. James W. Cannon, grandmother of the bride; of Concord; Julian Carr, grandfather of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Clark Howell, Jr., and the other members of the bridal party.

After the ceremony a reception was given by the bride's mother, Mrs. Julian Carr, Jr., for the bridal party, intimate friends, and out-of-town guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Howell motored to Raleigh, leaving on the midnight train for New York. November 6th they will sail on the Berengaria, spending their honeymoon in southern France and England.

Among those who attended from this section were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Neal Pharr, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Lambeth, of Charlotte; Mrs. James W. Cannon, Miss Elizabeth Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Cannon, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Cannon, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene T. Cannon, of Concord; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cannon, of York, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Hill, of Winston-Salem; Mr. and Mrs. David H. Blair, of Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Cannon, of Concord.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. J. S. Carr, Jr., who was before marriage Miss Margaret Cannon, of Concord, daughter of Mrs. J. W. Cannon.

Mrs. Effie Hostess at Country Club Luncheon.

The following from the Winston-Salem Sentinel will read with interest here: Mrs. Edward L. Effie entertained most charmingly at the Country Club this morning at a beautiful luncheon, honoring Mrs. Edwin Turner, a recent bride; Miss Alice Henley, a bride-elect; and Mrs. Clyde Propst, of Concord, guest and sister of the hostess.

Three massive silver baskets filled with yellow chrysanthemums were placed at either end of the table and in the center marking a flower path between the two baskets, where trailers of small yellow chrysanthemums and asparagus fern. The place cards were attractive and hand-painted autumn girls. Little yellow baskets held delicious salted nuts. Six elaborate courses were served and a suggestion of the color note, yellow, was observed in each course.

To the honorees the hostess presented dainty pieces of linen. Covers were laid for thirty guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Parents of Son, Born, a son, to Mr. and Mrs. George R. Edwards, of Rocky Mount, on Saturday, November 3rd, 1923. Mrs. Edwards before marriage was Miss Nancy Lee Pitterson, of Concord, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. K. Patterson.

Missiary Society to Meet.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist Protestant Church will meet tomorrow (Tuesday) evening at 7:30 o'clock with Mrs. D. A. McLaurin, at her home on Kerr street.

ARMISTICE DAY CELEBRATION

American Legion to Stage a Mammoth Occasion in Charlotte.

Charlotte, N. C., Nov.—Flanders Field in all its grim action of 1917-18 will be brought to Charlotte when Hornets Nest Post, American Legion, stages a mammoth Armistice Day Celebration here November 10th.

"Over the top," just as real as the famous jump offs from the mud holes of France will be staged as one of the attractions of the day's celebration. Detachments from Fort Bragg, and National Guard units will take part in the demonstration, which will be plainly seen by the thousands expected.

French 75's will roar, machine guns will bark, trench mortars will boom and airplanes will circle above as the "doughboys" move forward to an imaginary objective.

This event will be but one of many arranged for the pleasure of the visitors, and in celebration of the close of the greatest war of all time.

Rear Admiral Andrew T. Long, of the United States Navy, will be the chief speaker of the day. General A. J. Bowley, commander of Fort Bragg, will also be a guest.

In the morning there will be a mammoth parade participated in by the soldiers from Fort Bragg and Davidson College, military company's six bands, members of fraternal orders in uniform, and fifty or more floats of civic and business organizations.

There will be a polo game in the afternoon between teams from Fort Bragg and the Charlotte Polo Club. Automobile races will also be staged in the afternoon, as well as a football game between Charlotte and Huntersville High School grid teams, crack outfits of this section. Band concerts will be given in various parts of the city. The barrage at twilight will complete the afternoon's program.

The day will be climaxed with a grand military ball at the Carolina Exposition Hall that evening. A formal dance will be given Friday night before the celebration at the Myers Park Club, and at the same time there will be an informal hop at the City Auditorium.

Thousands of visitors from the Piedmont Carolinas are expected to be in the city and every effort is being made by the committee of legionnaires to make their stay both profitable and pleasant.

At the Theatres.

The Star today is offering a big feature with several famous screen stars. Katheryn McDonald plays the leading role in "The Lonely Road," at the Pastime today. A Century comedy is also on the program.

PERSONAL

Mrs. Chas. B. Wagoner left Saturday night for Philadelphia and New York, where she will spend some time.

Misses Kathleen Sappenfield and Mary Belle Cannon left this morning for Georgetown, where they will teach school.

Misses Grace Propst, Mar. Hiller and Elizabeth Hahn have returned to Lenoir-Rhyne College at Hickory, after spending the week-end here.

Mr. W. T. Miller, of Columbia, S. C., spent the week-end here with friends.

Mrs. Clyde Propst has returned from Winston-Salem, where she was the guest of her sister, Mrs. E. L. Efrid.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Eudy and daughter left Sunday for Florida, where they will spend some time with relatives of Mrs. Eudy.

Mrs. L. K. Lee, of Gastonia, spent Sunday afternoon and night here with home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Sherrill and daughter, Ellen, have returned from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Correll in Greensboro.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Graeber spent the week-end in Burlington with relatives of Mr. Graeber.

Mr. Joe Hendrix is spending several days in Greensboro on business.

Miss Kathleen Sappenfield left this morning for Georgetown, where she will teach school this year.

Miss Elizabeth Hahn and Miss Grace Propst have returned to Lenoir College at Hickory, after spending the week-end here with home folks.

Miss Edith Somney, of Charlotte, spent the week-end in Concord, the guest of Miss Mary Spurgeon.

Miss Stella Mismehner and Miss Mary Peck, of this city, and Mr. Squires, of Charlotte, spent Sunday in Winston-Salem with friends and relatives.

Miss Lena Hilliard, of Greensboro, spent the week-end in Concord with her aunt, Mrs. Margaret Terry, at her home on North Church Street.

Miss Estelle Crowell, of New York, is spending some time here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Crowell.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson Parents of Son.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wilkinson are being congratulated upon the birth of a son on Saturday, November 2nd.

Reformed Church Groups to Meet.

Groups Nos. 1 and 2 of Trinity Reformed Church will meet tomorrow (Tuesday) afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. G. T. Crowell. Group No. 3 will meet tomorrow at 3 o'clock with Mrs. C. O. Earnhardt.

ARMISTICE DAY CELEBRATION

American Legion to Stage a Mammoth Occasion in Charlotte.

Charlotte, N. C., Nov.—Flanders Field in all its grim action of 1917-18 will be brought to Charlotte when Hornets Nest Post, American Legion, stages a mammoth Armistice Day Celebration here November 10th.

"Over the top," just as real as the famous jump offs from the mud holes of France will be staged as one of the attractions of the day's celebration. Detachments from Fort Bragg, and National Guard units will take part in the demonstration, which will be plainly seen by the thousands expected.

French 75's will roar, machine guns will bark, trench mortars will boom and airplanes will circle above as the "doughboys" move forward to an imaginary objective.

This event will be but one of many arranged for the pleasure of the visitors, and in celebration of the close of the greatest war of all time.

Rear Admiral Andrew T. Long, of the United States Navy, will be the chief speaker of the day. General A. J. Bowley, commander of Fort Bragg, will also be a guest.

In the morning there will be a mammoth parade participated in by the soldiers from Fort Bragg and Davidson College, military company's six bands, members of fraternal orders in uniform, and fifty or more floats of civic and business organizations.

There will be a polo game in the afternoon between teams from Fort Bragg and the Charlotte Polo Club. Automobile races will also be staged in the afternoon, as well as a football game between Charlotte and Huntersville High School grid teams, crack outfits of this section. Band concerts will be given in various parts of the city. The barrage at twilight will complete the afternoon's program.

The day will be climaxed with a grand military ball at the Carolina Exposition Hall that evening. A formal dance will be given Friday night before the celebration at the Myers Park Club, and at the same time there will be an informal hop at the City Auditorium.

Thousands of visitors from the Piedmont Carolinas are expected to be in the city and every effort is being made by the committee of legionnaires to make their stay both profitable and pleasant.

SPENCER TANNER DEAD IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

Son of S. B. Tanner, Widely Known Textile Manufacturer.

Charlotte, Nov. 4.—Spencer Tanner, 22, son of S. B. Tanner, widely known textile manufacturer, was instantly killed late last night when an automobile in which he was riding, driven by Edward Dowd, son of W. C. Dowd, publisher of the Charlotte News, turned over on the highway between this city and Fort Mill, S. C., to which the two were going, following the wedding of a prominent couple here.

Young Mr. Dowd was badly shaken up and shocked but not seriously injured.

Tanner and Dowd had attended the wedding of Miss Julia Baxter Scott and Stuart W. Cramer Jr. in the city and were going to the home of Capt. Elliott Springs, when the accident occurred.

Wheels Slipped, Skidded, and Hurled Car Over High Hill.

Charlotte, Nov. 4.—In connection with the death last night in an automobile accident of Spencer Tanner, it is stated that Edward Dowd, his companion, was at the wheel. There is an embankment on the York road, which they were traveling to Fort Mill, about a deep. The road was clear and being late they were going at pretty good speed. One wheel slipped off the macadam, striking wet ground and the car skidded, hurling them over the embankment. Mr. Dowd was thrown from the top of the car, but was not seriously injured. As soon as he recovered from the shock he called to Mr. Tanner, but there was no response. It was dark and he could not see where he was. Rushing to the main road Mr. Dowd hailed two or three cars speeding past, but none would stop, thinking perhaps, that the man in the road was a highwayman.

Mr. Dowd dazed and unsteady from the shock, found his way to a farm house, where he got help. It was found that Mr. Tanner had been killed instantly, his neck being broken.

Flies 265 Miles An Hour, New Record.

Mitchell Field, N. Y., Nov. 2.—The fastest speed ever attained by man was made today by Lieut. H. J. Brown, navy aviator J. who flew over a three-kilometer straight-away course four times at an average speed of 259.15 miles an hour. On one leg of the course he traveled at the phenomenal rate of 265.21 miles an hour. The spectators held their breath as his plane shot through the air, and the thrill of the day came on the second leg when, flying with the light wind that wafted over the army post field, he sent his machine at the 'breath-taking clip of nearly five miles a minute. Stratisticians figured out after the trials that on Brown's fastest leg his engine was turning over at the rate of 2800 revolutions a minute. The propeller hub going at this speed, sent the propeller through the air so fast that its tips were describing a seven-foot circle at the rate of 1,100 a second. These were declared the fastest times either a motor or propeller ever had turned without flying to pieces.

Flies 265 Miles An Hour, New Record.

Mitchell Field, N. Y., Nov. 2.—The fastest speed ever attained by man was made today by Lieut. H. J. Brown, navy aviator J. who flew over a three-kilometer straight-away course four times at an average speed of 259.15 miles an hour. On one leg of the course he traveled at the phenomenal rate of 265.21 miles an hour. The spectators held their breath as his plane shot through the air, and the thrill of the day came on the second leg when, flying with the light wind that wafted over the army post field, he sent his machine at the 'breath-taking clip of nearly five miles a minute. Stratisticians figured out after the trials that on Brown's fastest leg his engine was turning over at the rate of 2800 revolutions a minute. The propeller hub going at this speed, sent the propeller through the air so fast that its tips were describing a seven-foot circle at the rate of 1,100 a second. These were declared the fastest times either a motor or propeller ever had turned without flying to pieces.

Flies 265 Miles An Hour, New Record.

Mitchell Field, N. Y., Nov. 2.—The fastest speed ever attained by man was made today by Lieut. H. J. Brown, navy aviator J. who flew over a three-kilometer straight-away course four times at an average speed of 259.15 miles an hour. On one leg of the course he traveled at the phenomenal rate of 265.21 miles an hour. The spectators held their breath as his plane shot through the air, and the thrill of the day came on the second leg when, flying with the light wind that wafted over the army post field, he sent his machine at the 'breath-taking clip of nearly five miles a minute. Stratisticians figured out after the trials that on Brown's fastest leg his engine was turning over at the rate of 2800 revolutions a minute. The propeller hub going at this speed, sent the propeller through the air so fast that its tips were describing a seven-foot circle at the rate of 1,100 a second. These were declared the fastest times either a motor or propeller ever had turned without flying to pieces.

Flies 265 Miles An Hour, New Record.

Mitchell Field, N. Y., Nov. 2.—The fastest speed ever attained by man was made today by Lieut. H. J. Brown, navy aviator J. who flew over a three-kilometer straight-away course four times at an average speed of 259.15 miles an hour. On one leg of the course he traveled at the phenomenal rate of 265.21 miles an hour. The spectators held their breath as his plane shot through the air, and the thrill of the day came on the second leg when, flying with the light wind that wafted over the army post field, he sent his machine at the 'breath-taking clip of nearly five miles a minute. Stratisticians figured out after the trials that on Brown's fastest leg his engine was turning over at the rate of 2800 revolutions a minute. The propeller hub going at this speed, sent the propeller through the air so fast that its tips were describing a seven-foot circle at the rate of 1,100 a second. These were declared the fastest times either a motor or propeller ever had turned without flying to pieces.

Flies 265 Miles An Hour, New Record.

Mitchell Field, N. Y., Nov. 2.—The fastest speed ever attained by man was made today by Lieut. H. J. Brown, navy aviator J. who flew over a three-kilometer straight-away course four times at an average speed of 259.15 miles an hour. On one leg of the course he traveled at the phenomenal rate of 265.21 miles an hour. The spectators held their breath as his plane shot through the air, and the thrill of the day came on the second leg when, flying with the light wind that wafted over the army post field, he sent his machine at the 'breath-taking clip of nearly five miles a minute. Stratisticians figured out after the trials that on Brown's fastest leg his engine was turning over at the rate of 2800 revolutions a minute. The propeller hub going at this speed, sent the propeller through the air so fast that its tips were describing a seven-foot circle at the rate of 1,100 a second. These were declared the fastest times either a motor or propeller ever had turned without flying to pieces.

Flies 265 Miles An Hour, New Record.

Mitchell Field, N. Y., Nov. 2.—The fastest speed ever attained by man was made today by Lieut. H. J. Brown, navy aviator J. who flew over a three-kilometer straight-away course four times at an average speed of 259.15 miles an hour. On one leg of the course he traveled at the phenomenal rate of 265.21 miles an hour. The spectators held their breath as his plane shot through the air, and the thrill of the day came on the second leg when, flying with the light wind that wafted over the army post field, he sent his machine at the 'breath-taking clip of nearly five miles a minute. Stratisticians figured out after the trials that on Brown's fastest leg his engine was turning over at the rate of 2800 revolutions a minute. The propeller hub going at this speed, sent the propeller through the air so fast that its tips were describing a seven-foot circle at the rate of 1,100 a second. These were declared the fastest times either a motor or propeller ever had turned without flying to pieces.

Flies 265 Miles An Hour, New Record.

Mitchell Field, N. Y., Nov. 2.—The fastest speed ever attained by man was made today by Lieut. H. J. Brown, navy aviator J. who flew over a three-kilometer straight-away course four times at an average speed of 259.15 miles an hour. On one leg of the course he traveled at the phenomenal rate of 265.21 miles an hour. The spectators held their breath as his plane shot through the air, and the thrill of the day came on the second leg when, flying with the light wind that wafted over the army post field, he sent his machine at the 'breath-taking clip of nearly five miles a minute. Stratisticians figured out after the trials that on Brown's fastest leg his engine was turning over at the rate of 2800 revolutions a minute. The propeller hub going at this speed, sent the propeller through the air so fast that its tips were describing a seven-foot circle at the rate of 1,100 a second. These were declared the fastest times either a motor or propeller ever had turned without flying to pieces.

Flies 265 Miles An Hour, New Record.

Mitchell Field, N. Y., Nov. 2.—The fastest speed ever attained by man was made today by Lieut. H. J. Brown, navy aviator J. who flew over a three-kilometer straight-away course four times at an average speed of 259.15 miles an hour. On one leg of the course he traveled at the phenomenal rate of 265.21 miles an hour. The spectators held their breath as his plane shot through the air, and the thrill of the day came on the second leg when, flying with the light wind that wafted over the army post field, he sent his machine at the 'breath-taking clip of nearly five miles a minute. Stratisticians figured out after the trials that on Brown's fastest leg his engine was turning over at the rate of 2800 revolutions a minute. The propeller hub going at this speed, sent the propeller through the air so fast that its tips were describing a seven-foot circle at the rate of 1,100 a second. These were declared the fastest times either a motor or propeller ever had turned without flying to pieces.

Flies 265 Miles An Hour, New Record.

Mitchell Field, N. Y., Nov. 2.—The fastest speed ever attained by man was made today by Lieut. H. J. Brown, navy aviator J. who flew over a three-kilometer straight-away course four times at an average speed of 259.15 miles an hour. On one leg of the course he traveled at the phenomenal rate of 265.21 miles an hour. The spectators held their breath as his plane shot through the air, and the thrill of the day came on the second leg when, flying with the light wind that wafted over the army post field, he sent his machine at the 'breath-taking clip of nearly five miles a minute. Stratisticians figured out after the trials that on Brown's fastest leg his engine was turning over at the rate of 2800 revolutions a minute. The propeller hub going at this speed, sent the propeller through the air so fast that its tips were describing a seven-foot circle at the rate of 1,100 a second. These were declared the fastest times either a motor or propeller ever had turned without flying to pieces.

Flies 265 Miles An Hour, New Record.

Mitchell Field, N. Y., Nov. 2.—The fastest speed ever attained by man was made today by Lieut. H. J. Brown, navy aviator J. who flew over a three-kilometer straight-away course four times at an average speed of 259.15 miles an hour. On one leg of the course he traveled at the phenomenal rate of 265.21 miles an hour. The spectators held their breath as his plane shot through the air, and the thrill of the day came on the second leg when, flying with the light wind that wafted over the army post field, he sent his machine at the 'breath-taking clip of nearly five miles a minute. Stratisticians figured out after the trials that on Brown's fastest leg his engine was turning over at the rate of 2800 revolutions a minute. The propeller hub going at this speed, sent the propeller through the air so fast that its tips were describing a seven-foot circle at the rate of 1,100 a second. These were declared the fastest times either a motor or propeller ever had turned without flying to pieces.

Flies 265 Miles An Hour, New Record.

Mitchell Field, N. Y., Nov. 2.—The fastest speed ever attained by man was made today by Lieut. H. J. Brown, navy aviator J. who flew over a three-kilometer straight-away course four times at an average speed of 259.15 miles an hour. On one leg of the course he traveled at the phenomenal rate of 265.21 miles an hour. The spectators held their breath as his plane shot through the air, and the thrill of the day came on the second leg when, flying with the light wind that wafted over the army post field, he sent his machine at the 'breath-taking clip of nearly five miles a minute. Stratisticians figured out after the trials that on Brown's fastest leg his engine was turning over at the rate of 2800 revolutions a minute. The propeller hub going at this speed, sent the propeller through the air so fast that its tips were describing a seven-foot circle at the rate of 1,100 a second. These were declared the fastest times either a motor or propeller ever had turned without flying to pieces.

Flies 265 Miles An Hour, New Record.

Mitchell Field, N. Y., Nov. 2.—The fastest speed ever attained by man was made today by Lieut. H. J. Brown, navy aviator J. who flew over a three-kilometer straight-away course four times at an average speed of 259.15 miles an hour. On one leg of the course he traveled at the phenomenal rate of 265.21 miles an hour. The spectators held their breath as his plane shot through the air, and the thrill of the day came on the second leg when, flying with the light wind that wafted over the army post field, he sent his machine at the 'breath-taking clip of nearly five miles a minute. Stratisticians figured out after the trials that on Brown's fastest leg his engine was turning over at the rate of 2800 revolutions a minute. The propeller hub going at this speed, sent the propeller through the air so fast that its tips were describing a seven-foot circle at the rate of 1,100 a second. These were declared the fastest times either a motor or propeller ever had turned without flying to pieces.

Flies 265 Miles An Hour, New Record.

TO BEGIN DRIVE FOR WORLD COURT

A 'Nationwide Campaign to Induce Congress to Act on It'

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—A nationwide campaign to induce Congress to act on the World Court at its next session will be launched by the National Council for Prevention of War during the week beginning tomorrow. "Arbitration Week," which churches and other organizations are being asked to observe as "World Court Week." It is recommended that during the week special effort be made to obtain signatures to World Court petitions to be sent to the President and Senate of the United States, that peace programs be everywhere emphasized, and World Court resolutions adopted.

Something has been arranged for everybody so that working alone or in groups, each one can contribute something to the achievement of the great end sought. Such service ranges from the writing of personal letters to public speeches. One of the ways pointed out for advancing the World Court idea is the formation of groups for the study of the subject. Lectures, talks, addresses and debates on such a court later could be arranged.

Other ways outlined by which service can be rendered is by the encouragement of international exchange of college professors and students; development of international correspondence among school children; seeing that public libraries have biographies, recent books and magazines and special shelves on international problems; looking into histories being used in schools to see if they are modern histories or of the old fashioned type which exalt war; and supplying history teachers with literature on efforts of the United States to bring about world peace; providing to editors, ministers, teachers, legislators, public officials and others literature on peace subjects and encouraging promotion of international good will in news, editorials, sermons, public addresses and statements; requesting local chambers of commerce, labor unions, lunch clubs, civic and social organizations to devote a meeting to international affairs; arranging public meetings, pageants, plays and so on in the interest of world peace.

Condition of Rev. T. W. Smith Improved.

A letter received this morning from Atlanta says that the condition of Rev. T. W. Smith, who was recently operated on there, is improving nicely. The hope is expressed that he will be out of the hospital in another week.

Play at Stanfield.

A play, "The Deacon," will be given at Stanfield High School on November 9. Admission 15 and 25 cents. 5-11-c.

No woman is commonplace when she loves.

HOURLY You Stand Inspected

The kind of shoes you wear play no small part in your dress. This is one of our new style Fall Pumps. It's a black suede with combination of black kid, just like illustration. Priced $8.00

IVEY'S THE HOME OF GOOD SHOES

LITTLE MISS GAGE HATS

The Smartest Millinery Girls from 4 to 14 Years of Age

They Are Beauties See Them Today

Other Special Numbers Ranging $3.95 upward

It Pays to Trade at FISHER'S Concord's Foremost Specialists

Dr. J. A. Shauers CHIROPRACTOR

Maness Bldg. Phone 630 Residence Phone 620 Room Y. M. C. A.

Chicken Mash, Scratch Feed and High Grade Hog Feed

Chicken Mash Makes Hens lay. Made from Oat Meal, dried butter milk, fish meal, meat scraps, linseed oil meal, China Alfalfa meal, corn meal, Gluten Feed, Wheat Middling and Wheat Bran.

Nutro Scratch Feed, high grade $2.95

Corno Scratch Feed, the highest grade hen feed on the market, high per cent. wheat, sunflower seed, buckwheat, kafir corn, cracked yellow corn, price $3.00

Hog Feed, pure ground wheat shorts, shipstuf.

Don't pay fancy prices for feed in fancy bags. Ours plain bags, reasonable prices.

Cline & Moose

Phone 339. We Deliver Quick

COAL AND WOOD

HIGHEST QUALITY

K. L. Craven & Sons

PHONE 74

TO BEGIN DRIVE FOR WORLD COURT

A 'Nationwide Campaign to Induce Congress to Act on It'

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—A nationwide campaign to induce Congress to act on the World Court at its next session will be launched by the National Council for Prevention of War during the week beginning tomorrow. "Arbitration Week," which churches and other organizations are being asked to observe as "World Court Week." It is recommended that during the week special effort be made to obtain signatures to World Court petitions to be sent to the President and Senate of the United States, that peace programs be everywhere emphasized, and World Court resolutions adopted.

Something has been arranged for everybody so that working alone or in groups, each one can contribute something to the achievement of the great end sought. Such service ranges from the writing of personal letters to public speeches. One of the ways pointed out for advancing the World Court idea is the formation of groups for the study of the subject. Lectures, talks, addresses and debates on such a court later could be arranged.

Other ways outlined by which service can be rendered is by the encouragement of international exchange of college professors and students; development of international correspondence among school children; seeing that public libraries have biographies, recent books and magazines and special shelves on international problems; looking into histories being used in schools to see if they are modern histories or of the old fashioned type which exalt war; and supplying history teachers with literature on efforts of the United States to bring about world peace; providing to editors, ministers, teachers, legislators, public officials and others literature on peace subjects and encouraging promotion of international good will in news, editorials, sermons, public addresses and statements; requesting local chambers of commerce, labor unions, lunch clubs, civic and social organizations to devote a meeting to international affairs; arranging public meetings, pageants, plays and so on in the interest of world peace.

Condition of Rev. T. W. Smith Improved.

A letter received this morning from Atlanta says that the condition of Rev. T. W. Smith, who was recently operated on there, is improving nicely. The hope is expressed that he will be out of the hospital in another week.

Play at Stanfield.

A play, "The Deacon," will be given at Stanfield High School on November 9. Admission 15 and 25 cents. 5-11-c.

No woman is commonplace when she loves.

HOURLY You Stand Inspected

The kind of shoes you wear play no small part in your dress. This is one of our new style Fall Pumps. It's a black suede with combination of black kid, just like illustration. Priced $8.00

IVEY'S THE HOME OF GOOD SHOES

LITTLE MISS GAGE HATS

The Smartest Millinery Girls from 4 to 14 Years of Age

They Are Beauties See Them Today

Other Special Numbers Ranging $3.95 upward

It Pays to Trade at FISHER'S Concord's Foremost Specialists

Dr. J. A. Shauers CHIROPRACTOR