STATE OF THE BLESSED:—There shall be no night there; and they need no candle, neither the light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light; and they shall reign for ever and ever.—Revelation 22:5.

THE RETURN OF THE HOHENZOLLERN.

The return of former crown prince Frederick William to Germany and the various reports that his father, the former emperor, will return, have stirred up many Americans. They see in the apparent effort by the Hohenzollerns to get control of Germany again a conspiracy by which France and the allies would be defeated in the reparations question, and Germany would go back under the monarchistic regime. The Gastonia Gazette expresses the opinion of many when it declares "the reported action of the Hohenzollerns ought to be enough to convince the most ardent pro-Germans that the Huns are a people of deceit, fraud and trickery," and that paper goes on to say "if the Hohenzollerns gain the throne again, Germany will certainly repudiate every debt and the first thing the world knows, Europe will be plunged into another macabre war."

The French have refused to give the Germans an inch and it is apparent now that they were right in this attitude. When the reparations first came up the Germans made all kinds of excuses until a new reparations treaty was made in 1921. That is the one the French are determined to enforce and the action of the Germans recently has convinced most of the world that they must be dealt with severely, just as France would deal with them. If there is a let-up now the Germans will put Wilhelm back on the throne, regardless of all promises made to keep him out of the country, for the Huns are showing every disposition to slip and slide by the penalties of war, and their whinnings and false appeals for clemency are not getting them much.

There is some money in Germany somewhere. It is true that most of it has been taken from the middle class, but those people who made Germany one of the greatest countries in the world before the war, but someone else has it now, and it is up to Germany to get it from them. The United States wanted to hold a conference at which time new reparations payments would be discussed, but France objected. She gave the Germans a chance in 1921 and she is determined to collect on that basis.

The activities of the Hohenzollerns, together with the apparent efforts of deceit and trickery on the part of the Germans, has led many Americans, and especially former American soldiers, to express the belief that the armistice should not have been signed anywhere except in Berlin. By allowing the Germans to sign at the time they did, just when they were feeling the bitter dregs of war, was the first mistake made by the allies, some Americans point out, while others feel that the troubles facing the world now on account of Germany cannot be compared with the number of lives that would have been lost had the allies marched on to the German capital.

But Colonel Don E. Scott, of the 120th infantry, made an address recently that has been supported by many individuals, newspapers and organizations. Col. Scott declared that "deep down, in my heart I never did believe that the Germans intended to keep faith with their part of the contract. They were a set of liars from the beginning of the war and they are a bigger set of liars today."

Continuing Col. Scott said:

"France stands almost alone today in making Germany pay for bringing on this struggle, making her carry out her part of the treaty. I feel that if I am speaking for the American soldier when I say we are behind France. Make Germany pay every cent she owes; make her carry out her part of the contract to the very last letter and if she does not pay up, does not fulfill her part of the contract, then strangle the very life out of

KANNAPOLIS DEPARTMENT

Kannapolis, Nov. 14.—Mr. Orin C. Deal, of Mooreville Route 1, and Miss Aubrey Helms, of Kannapolis, were quietly married Sunday afternoon, November 11, at St. John's Church. The pastor, Rev. L. A. Peeler, performed the ceremony. Mr. Deal has accepted a position with the Cabarrus Mills of Kannapolis and they will make their home in this city.

On Friday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. the Kannapolis school will render a delightful program in observance of National Children's Book Week. The teachers have been developing plans for this event, and a pleasant hour of instructive entertainment is assured for those who attend. The object of National Book Week is to stimulate interest in children, added interest in books and standard literature, this being done in various ways in different places. There will be no admission fee, but a free will offering will be used as a fund for buying books for a grammar grade library. It is hoped a large crowd will greet the young people, and co-operate to make this occasion a success, this being deemed a propitious time for starting a library.

Misses Lillie Willett and Gladys Waggoner and Messrs. Bill Mauldin and C. A. Hoffman attended the celebration at Davidson Monday and heard Governor Morrison's speech.

Daniel Jung, of Norfolk former proprietor of the Kannapolis Laundry, is in the city this week visiting relatives.

The friends of Miss Lura Ford will be pleased to know that her condition is now improving after many months of illness.

Miss Verna Davis spent last week-end at her home in Winston-Salem. While there she attended the Wake Forest-Trinity football game on Saturday.

There is the largest attendance in the schools of Kannapolis in their history, the enrollment being eighteen hundred.

The fourteen year old son of Mr. G.

her. Our glorious flag should be waving side by side with the tricolor of France today along the Rhine. Our representatives should sit in all world conferences, taking the leading part, instead of hanging round the back door, listening through the key-hole. Isn't this a pitiful sight, this big, wonderful, powerful nation of ours merely an eavesdropper at the conference of the world?

After quoting Col. Scott, The Gazette adds a word of warning, declaring "Germany needs to be watched just as closely today as she was six years ago. She is a nation of deceit and treachery and will stop at nothing to accomplish her purpose."

C. Gibbs, of Oak street, died this morning after an illness of about a month.

Miss Carrie Emerson, one of our teachers, spent the week-end in Salisbury with her sister, Mrs. D. R. Fagart.

Much interest is being manifested in the Trotter meeting now being conducted in the Y. auditorium. Large crowds attend both the afternoon and evening services. Good results are now in evidence and will continue in increasing effect during the progress of the meeting. Mr. Trotter, being superintendent of the Rescue Missions of America, has manifold experience in dealing with those chained in the fetters of sin, and brings them encouragement and messages of hope. Mr. Trotter possessed unusual ability as a singer. This, being coupled with his pleasing disposition and earnest desire to save souls, qualifies him for exerting a good influence in the meetings. Mr. Hermansen is recognized at a glance to be a most expert pianist and he also is concentered and very interested in the work. Prof. Sloan is co-operating nobly, in having arranged for the High School to be dismissed in time to attend the Bible lectures given by Mr. Trotter from 3 to 4 o'clock, and for the various grades of the children to hear Miss Bennett for an hour in the forenoons. Miss Bennett is another member of Mr. Trotter's staff and already has had the satisfaction of seeing numbers of the children converted on these occasions.

All the denominations here are enthusiastically sending their co-operation. The Methodist will give a special supper in the basement of the church Saturday, the 17th, from 5 to 9 o'clock.

 Raleigh, Nov. 14.—Rev. I. T. Strond, of Wayne county, who came down to Raleigh with his attorneys today to ask Governor Morrison for a parole, will begin a four-months' sentence on the county roads tomorrow. The governor could find no reason justifying interference with the sentence.
 Stroud, who was convicted of prostitution, spent the full day in the governor's office, while his attorneys waited to present the request for parole. Tonight, however, he was en route back to Goldsboro to make ready for beginning the four-months' term tomorrow.

DINNER STORIES

When he is born, his mother gets the attention; at his marriage, the bride gets it; at his funeral, the widow gets it.

Dubber—I'm awfully sorry, Mrs. Mackley, that I forgot your party last Thursday night.
 Mrs. Mackley—Oh, weren't you there?
 Teacher—"We borrowed our numerals from the Arabs, our calendar from the Romans, and our banking from the Italians, an any one think of other examples.
 Willis—"Our lawnmower from the Smiths and our snow shovel from the Joneses."
 "Is this the fire department?" yelled the excited chemistry professor over the phone.
 "Yes, what do you want?"
 "How far is it to the nearest alarm box? My laboratory is on fire, and I must turn in the call at once."

As a steamer was leaving the harbor of Athens, a well dressed young passenger approached the captain and pointing to the distant hills, inquired, "What is that white stuff on the hills, captain?"
 "That is snow," replied the captain.
 "Well," remarked the lady, "I thought so myself, but a gentleman has just told me it was Greece."

A captain of an Atlantic liner was bothered by a woman passenger who was always inquiring about the possibility of seeing a whale. A dozen times a day she besought him to have her recalled if one were in sight.
 "But madam," the captain asked her rather impatiently, after long suffering in silence, "Why are you so eager to see a whale?"
 "Captain," she answered, "my desire in life is to see a whale blubber. It must be very impressive to watch such an enormous creature cry."

Club Meeting.
 The first meeting of the Virginia Dare Book Club for the present season was held yesterday afternoon with Mrs. J. L. Hartsell at her home on North Spring Street. The members were present.
 The club members this year are studying "The Southern Magazine," published at Atlanta, and devoted entirely to stories of the South. Articles from the magazine were read at the meeting yesterday by Mrs. J. B. Sherrill and Mrs. W. D. Penberton.
 Following the business session Mrs. Hartsell served refreshments to her guests.

The worst typhoon since 1906 recently struck the British Crown Colony of Hongkong, China. The wind attained a velocity of 130 miles an hour, uprooting large trees and throwing them about like matches. The typhoon lashed the waters of the harbor into white fury, sinking many ships; including a British submarine. The death toll among the inhabitants was heavy.
