

R. N. HACKETT DIES IN STATESVILLE HOSPITAL

He Had Been Ill For Some Time, Kidney Trouble Being the Immediate Cause of Death.

Statesville, Nov. 22.—Former Congressman R. N. Hackett, of North Wilkesboro, died this afternoon at 1:05 o'clock at a local sanatorium where he had been a patient for several weeks, death resulting from kidney trouble and complications.

His body was embalmed in a local undertaking establishment this afternoon and was taken to North Wilkesboro tonight.

Mr. Hackett was 56 years of age. He is survived by one brother, Gordon Hackett, of North Wilkesboro, and a daughter, Miss Lois Long Hackett. He was at one time grand master of Masons of North Carolina, and at the time of his death was counsel for the North Carolina railroad. He was an able lawyer, a distinguished orator and was considered one of the strong men of the Democratic party, having always taken an active part in the campaign in this state.

dicted at a meeting of the board here today. The woman minister in a few years will be as familiar a figure in the country as the present rural school teacher, he said.

"Reports indicate the number of recruits to the ministry is small," Dr. Forsyth declared. "Many ministers find it difficult to continue in the service because of economic conditions. The rural minister has a harder time to support a family now than at any time during the past two decades."

A woman preached would be as successful in the country as is her sister, the country school teacher, the speaker declared. She could live more economically than could a minister with a family.

According to Dr. Forsyth, more whites, born in the south, have sought homes elsewhere than have negroes born there. He declared a study of the 1920 census revealed that 780,000 whites had left the south, whereas 378,000 negroes had migrated to the north.

some issue wrapped in with the proposal to carry it into disfavor with the voters. If that be true then there should be a straightening out of the issue and the thing settled right and for schools.

There is no use to argue this matter of rural schools, they simply must come. The rural schools must keep up with the schools of the cities and towns, and they must keep up in all counties with the high standard set by a progressive school policy. We know that Cabarrus-like other North Carolina counties, needs better rural schools; and we know, too, that they must come and the sooner the better. In every county it is well to take the time to work out the right policy, one best suited to the local county conditions and work to the rounding out and completion of a well established system.

What they voted on in Cabarrus we do not know, little was said of the issue in public print and we are not for criticizing the voters of the good county of Cabarrus. It is our opinion that there must have been something unsatisfactory or the issue would not have been defeated. We do not believe the Cabarrus people voted against better schools, they must have been voting against something else.

Milk, according to a high medical authority, appeases hunger more quickly and satisfactorily than any other article of food.

Davidson, Nov. 22.—L. C. Little, a current year addition to the junior class and a young man that has been in charge of the Young People's work of the Protestant Methodist church in this state for some time, has recently accepted a call to supply the church of his denomination in Concord during the present vacancy in its pastorate. This means that he and Mrs. Little will occupy the parsonage in Concord and Mr. Little will drive over from Concord daily to attend his classes in college.

At one time the mines of India produced all the diamonds in the world; now, more diamonds are obtained at some of the mines of the Transvaal district in one hour than are recovered in the whole of India in a year. Today the garnet output of India is worth more than the production of diamonds.
