ALLEGED ROBBER OF THE MANESS HOME ARRESTED

Lee Baggers, of Union, S. C. Held on a Charge of Entering and Robbing Home Sunday.

Lee Baggers, 20-year old youth from Union, S. C. is in the Cabarrus County jail here awaiting trial on charges of feloniously entering a building and larceny in two counts. The arrest of Baggers followed the robbery here Sunday of the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Maness, on South Union street, the arrest being made by a Charlotte detective.

According to police officers Baggers admitted that he entered and robbed the Maness home, declaring that he had a confederate with him on the job. So far no confederate has been found and as all of the stolen articles were found when Baggers was arrested, it is believed he committed the robbery without the help of any one.

Baggers, according to the story told to Concord officers by Charlotte officers, was arrested after he had confessed to a Charlotte detective that he had robbed the home here. The detective, it is said, spotted Baggers as a suspicious character and soon got in with him. They exchanged confidences and during this heart to heart talk Baggers is alleged to have told the detective of his work here Sunday afternoon. The arrest followed and Concord officers were notified. They went to Charlotte for the prisoner this morning and lodged him in the county jail here.

The warrants against Baggers charge that he "feloniously entered" the Maness home and carried off the following articles: One S. & W. pistol, one ring, two knives, one stickpin, one watch chain, one gold pencil and one auto key, all the property of Mr. Maness; and one diamond ring, one cameo ring, one Elgin watch and about 50 cents in cash, the property of Mrs. Maness.

When Baggers was arrested, it is said by officers, all of his loot except the watch and pistol were found on his person. Later he told the officers to whom he had sold the pistol and it was recovered. The watch was not found, however, but Baggers surrendered $10 he had in cash in place of the watch.

The Maness home was entered by Baggers Sunday afternoon, it is stated, while Mr. and Mrs. Maness were visiting relatives in Albemarle.

MORRISON SAYS HE HAS NO POWER TO PARDON M'BRAYER

Declares the General Assembly of the State Says He Shall Not.

Raleigh, Nov. 26.—Governor Morrison lacks the power to pardon Dr. L. B. McBrayer because the judgment vacating his office as superintendent of Sanatorium was written into the law by the legislature, so he declared in a statement this afternoon after he had informed Dr. T. W. M. Long and Senator W. E. Harrison, of the Sanatorium board of trustees, that he could not modify his attitude toward the affair.

"I have the right to pardon man from the judgment of the courts for fines, imprisonment, etc., for violation of the criminal law, but I have no earthly right to say a public official shall not be removed from office under circumstances where the general assembly of the state says he shall be," the statement declared, adding:

"This seems to be a hard case, but the law is a good one and ought to wear every officer in North Carolina that the matter of trading where self interest is involved is a high offense and cannot be tolerated in this state."

In commenting on the case, the Governor emphasized that he has no personal interest whatsoever. He thinks the state will find insurmountable difficulties in replacing Dr. McBrayer, for he considers him one of the greatest men in tuberculosis work in America.

But the legislature wrote into the law the judgment that vacates the office and Dr. McBrayer's plea of guilty places him under that judgment, the Governor feels.

Funeral of Child.

The funeral services of little Eula Florine Kindley, the two-months-old of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kindley, of Faith, were held here from the home of Mr. W. Kindley on Ann Street last Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the services being conducted by Rev. Lee A. Falls, and interment was made in Oakwood cemetery. The little child had been sick only a few hours, as it was well when its parents retired Friday night. About 2 o'clock it had been given some attention and about 4 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Kindley got up to give it some further attention if it was needed, and found that it had died sometime after 2 o'clock.

At a society wedding in Boston the other day the bride was attired in her grandmother's wedding gown and veil, and she wore also her great-grandmother's rose point fichu and a brooch which had been her great-grandmother's. Her mother's white satin wedding slippers completed her bridal costume, which thus represented five generations.

At Japanese weddings it is the custom to provide a small table on which is placed a miniature plum tree, signifying the beauty of the bride, and a fir tree typifying the strength of the bridegroom.

O. T. C. STUDENTS MAY GET ADDITIONAL PAY FROM U. S.

Ruling May Give Them Difference Between $100 and Their Pay While in Training School.

Former soldiers who served in army training camps in 1918 may get additional pay from the United States. This fact is brought out in a recent ruling of the war department which has been given much publicity and which is causing interest among former service men who served in training camps.

Several Concord men have written to the Chief Finance Officer of the War Department asking for information and he has furnished them with blanks which are to be filled out and sent in.

The following from The American Legion Weekly gives some facts in regard to the matter:

Immediately following the announcement of Comptroller General McCall's ruling that enlisted men who attended officers' training camps during 1918 were entitled to the difference between their army rate of pay and $100 per month, the Weekly received letter from Legionnaires containing in general the following: "I have just received from (giving the name of an attorney) of Washington, D. C., a request that I appoint him to proceed to collect for me pay and allowances due for time spent in officers' training camp in 1918. When was the legislation granting this extra pay passed? Is it necessary to proceed through an attorney in order to collect? Is it advisable to appoint someone to handle the case?"

It is not necessary to proceed through an attorney or to appoint someone to handle applications for this additional pay. This is a matter that the individual can handle as well and probably more expeditiously himself.

A paragraph in the army appropriation act of June 15, 1917, set aside $228,822,500 for pay of enlisted men of all grades, including recruits, and pay at $100 a month for enlisted men in training for officers of the Reserve Corps."

The Comptroller ruled as follows: "It is evident that the purpose of the legislation authorizing pay 'not exceeding $100 a month for civilians in the act of May 12, 1917, and 'pay of $100 a month for enlisted men in the act of June 15, 1917, was to provide pay for the training period and provide trained officers for the army, and not for the purpose of building up Officers' Reserve Corps."

"It is apparent that the designation of enlisted men of the line for training under the revised regulation of January 5, 1918, was for the purpose of training them as 'officers of the army' and that they were accordingly entitled to the pay fixed by the act of June 15, 1917. The adjutant general, U. S. A., reported January 30, 1923, that claimant's status was that of an enlisted man on detached service in training for a commission . . . and he is accordingly entitled to the difference between $33 and $100 a month for such period."

This ruling affects hundreds of men who attended the officers' training camps during 1918. A man coming under this ruling may make application to the Chief of Finance, War Department, Washington, D. C., for this difference in pay. In his application he should show when he was ordered into service, where and when he attended an officers' training camp and what his status and pay were while in attendance.

And it is not necessary to engage an attorney to handle these claims.

TWO BABES LOST IN THE WOODS.

Gold and Black.

Two Sophomores, Mary Grady Parks and Muriel Wolf, in spite of their vast learning and unexcelled knowledge, got lost while participating in the mild sport of 'possum hunting, Friday night, November 2nd. The boys and the other girls spent the next two hours combing the woods and shouting for the lost babes.

With Mrs. Stirewalt, the chaperon, as cheer leader, the cries, "Mary Grady," and "Muriel" were heard every few minutes. Meanwhile several boys in a car were riding up and down the road. About every fifty feet, they would stop the automobile, "toot" the horn and shout "Mary Grady."

The men members of the party were also occupied during this time, for they were shooting vast quantities of ammunition in the wild hunt.

The moon had gone down; silence reigned. The air itself breathed suspense while the crowd of 'possum hunters gathered closely around the fire. No noise was heard except a sob now and then from several girls and the sounds made by the insects in the lowlands. In to this solemn group casually walked the lost ones, little dreaming that they had caused all the excitement. A voice sounding very strange asked: "Have you eaten supper yet? I'm so hungry I could eat—"

Volumes of questions were immediately asked. It turned out that they had not been really lost at all—only carelessly wandered off with the wrong bunch of 'possum hunters.

SAVED SICK SPELLS

Black-Draught Found Valuable by a Texas Farmer, Who Has Known Its Usefulness Over 30 Years.

Naples, Texas.—"I have used Theoford's Black-Draught for years—I can safely say for more than 30 years," declares Mr. H. H. Cromer, a substantial, well-known farmer, residing out from here on Route 3.

"I am 43 years old, and when a small boy I had indigestion and was puny and my folks gave me a liver regulator. Then Black-Draught was advertised and we heard of it.

"I began to take Black-Draught, and have used it, when needed, ever since. I use Black-Draught now in my home, and certainly recommend it for any liver trouble.

"I have given it a thorough trial, and after thirty years can say Black-Draught is my stand-by. It has saved me many sick spells."

Mr. Cromer writes "I am 'never out of Black-Draught,'" and says several of his neighbors prefer it to any other liver medicine. "I always recommend Black-Draught to my friends," he adds.

This valuable, old, powdered liver medicine is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and has none of the bad effects so often observed from the use of calomel, or other powerful mineral drugs. Be sure to get the genuine, Theoford's. NC-145
