Dark and Cool

When warm weather arrives, practically every woman yearns for a dress that is both dark and cool and may be worn on the street without looking like the wearer were bound for a garden party. Here is something that just fills the order. It is of blue kersey crepe with just a suggestion of trimming in the way of white porcelain bands. The pleated apron adds to the tailored effect and gives a certain weight to the sheer material. The easy neckline and short sleeves insure absolute freedom and comfort.

Mission Study Class to Meet
The Mission Study Class of Central Methodist Church will meet Tuesday at 4 o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. R. Odell, with Mrs. Odell, R. A. Brower, and W. A. Jenkins hostesses.

Tom Gibbons, the St. Paul heavyweight pugilist, finds his chief recreation in golf.

OPPOSE PRESENT PLAN TO UNITE THE METHODISTS

Five Bishops Declare It Would Favor Northern Church—Issue Joint Statement.

Atlanta, Ga., June 21.—Declaring that "the matter before the church is not unification in general but a particular plan which should not be considered upon a mere impulse of sentiment," a joint statement issued here by Bishops Warren A. Candler, Collins Denny and U. V. W. Darlington, W. N. Ainsworth and James F. Dickey, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, asserted that "however attractive may be some possible conception of the unification with the northern branch, it does not follow that the pending plan would fulfill the purpose."

"It has been constantly declared," the statement said, "that the chief ends of unification are to remove 'irritating competition,' prevent overlapping and duplication of work by the two churches, save the needless expenditure of men and means and eliminate unseemly friction and arrest the erection of 'altar against altar.'"

"But none of these desirable objects does this plan propose to accomplish; on the contrary, these objectionable conditions are expressly continued by it."

"It must be borne in mind that the northern jurisdiction will be co-extensive with the United States, while the southern jurisdiction will be restricted to the south and west where the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, now is under the plan. The northern jurisdiction will be unlimited and cover the southern jurisdiction like a blanket."

"It is claimed by advocates of the plan that under it there will be a voluntary merger of competing churches and conferences after the two churches are united under one name. What inspired the original organization of northern churches in Dallas, Houston, New Orleans, Louisville, Nashville, Atlanta, Jacksonville, Miami and Tampa? It was the desire for northern fellowship, northern views and northern money to aid their enterprises, and the same things that controlled the original organizations will induce these established congregations to maintain the same relation in the new church. Similar reasons will control many southern Methodists in border territory, and where outside pressure becomes insistent, many Methodists will quietly withdraw and unite with other churches."

"It must be noted that that plan effects the repeal of the 'plan of separation' adopted in 1844 when by an overwhelming majority and pronounced valid and binding with the United States Supreme Court. Our northern brethren undertake to justify their unseemly infraction of this plan by stating that conditions have altered since its adoption. To this it is sufficient to reply that no change of situation can nullify a contract once rightly made."

Don't Want Negro Bishops.

"The plan of 'separation,' by which we hold all the property of the church south obtained prior to 1844 be repealed, to what substitute for it can we look, and upon what can we depend? Moreover, the plan proposes a relation to the negro not best for him and not possible for us. . . . It calls for the acceptance by our people of two negro bishops. . . . We object to this plan because of their powers. . . . Our brethren have never been willing and they ought never to be willing to turn their rights and duties to the general conference."
