

Why a Master?

You should have your cleaning work done only by a "Master" Cleaner simply because he must be proved and attested BEFORE he is allowed to display the "Master" emblem as member of the National Association of Dyers & Cleaners of the United States and Canada.

First and foremost, he must OWN his own plant. If he is a "Master" he never "farms out" his work to some wholesale cleaner—he must WATCH his work first hand, start to finish.

What Henry Ford Thinks of Prohibition.

From Ford's page in the Dearborn Independent. "We believe that if the opposition to prohibition were analyzed it would be found that it was mainly alien. We believe that every true American is for it heart and soul. We believe that if prohibition were to be put before the nation tomorrow there would again be an overwhelming flood of public opinion in its favor. Although the friends of prohibition may not be so aggressive as its enemies, they are firm in their convictions."

"It is not in the wide open spaces that the defiance of the prohibition laws is the most prevalent, but in the crowded urban centers where alien influence and alien eagerness for money-getting are at work. "After its five years of trial, prohibition is not a failure. It is the people who have neglected to correspond with it who are the failures. If it took Christianity hundreds of years to obtain a footing, why should any one consider five years sufficient for a tryout of the greatest reform since the introduction of Christianity itself? The good that has already come from it infinitely outweighs the evil, and the evils that are, do not arise from prohibition but the failure to practice it."

The Grand National tournament is the great event of the archery season in Great Britain. It takes place in mid-summer, and it is generally held in a different place each year.

In Detroit, a sinner hit a street car, reminding us that it is about time to swat house flies.

The Washington news is a boy waiting to see Coolidge faint, so maybe he thought he heard Coolidge talking.

Foreigners have trouble with our language, but what could you expect? A "dumb-bell" is one who talks too much.

In San Francisco an antique dealer is engaged, and we'll bet the bride's enemies make some catty remarks.

Even if women do have more sense than men, a man never has to wonder if his knees are showing.

Stewart's Washington Letter

BY CHARLES E. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—The Public Health Service claims great credit for medical science, on account of its success, during the last two or three decades, in stretching out the average human life longer and longer. Individual humans like to keep on living, unquestionably. When one of them pays a doctor to keep him hanging on as long as possible, it assuredly is the doctor's business to do his best and earn his money. If he does a good job he's entitled to feel proud of it. But as a broad general proposition, what's gained by prolonging the average human life? Ultimately people die anyway. What difference does it make, in eternity, to them or to anybody, at what average age they do it?

THIS may sound like a ridiculous question, but when I put it up to the Public Health Service it kinda stumped 'em. Finally, "Well," they answered, over the telephone, "a human being's an asset to society, so it seems to us it follows, the longer he lives the more of an asset he is."

There was no use arguing with so illogical an outfit, so I dropped it. As we all know, however, even young, husky human beings are assets only where society needs them, as in not too thickly populated countries.

And right now economists and biologists are worrying about world overcrowding. In China, already, it's a misfortune when a new average human being is born —a misfortune to him and a misfortune to the society he's born into.

NBODY but politicians and bankers need work up any enthusiasm over news that France and Italy have taken certain very short little steps toward "settlement" of the 6 billion and some odd—a mere matter of a couple of hundred millions hardly counts in such transactions—dollars of war debts they owe the United States.

The very most France and Italy will or can do will be to say, "Yes, we owe this money," and give bonds for it.

The politicians thereupon will report to the country that they've accomplished something wonderful—as it really will be, to get France and Italy to go even that far—and ask to be re-elected on the strength of it.

And the bankers will have the bonds to unload on the public at about 30 millions profit for themselves.

But it isn't likely this generation of Americans, and perhaps not the next one, will see much of the actual money—even the interest.

NOT worth what it would cost to keep them afloat."

This verdict by W. B. Mayo, Henry Ford's chief engineer, sums up the entire reason why the government has so much trouble in finding private owners who will agree to keep its war-built merchant ships in operation.

Nobody wants them even as a gift. And, as Mayo adds, they're "poor material" for the very junk man.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES CRUZE PLAY WITH CROSSWORDS

NUMEROUS folks have been tripped up by a four letter word meaning "attention." James Cruze, the noted Paramount director of "The Covered Wagon" and other outstanding pictures, and his wife, Betty, are reported to have little trouble solving it. Both Jimmy and Betty have reached the heights in their hunt but at their beautiful Filtridge they seem to be finding all the answers in solving a crossword puzzle. Miss Compton, an especially tall young woman, astonished Jack Holt, leading man in "Eve's Secret," her latest Paramount picture, by her facility at filling in the blank spaces.
