Rat Industry Profitable in Philly. Philadelphia, Jan. 8.—One of the most unusual industries to which Philadelphia has become the center is that of propagating white rats. At the Wistar Institute of the University and Bio-Chemistry of the University of Pennsylvania, equipment costing $40,000 is maintained and a staff of several men is required to care for the rodents.

They are valued for scientific research because of the similarity of their structure, growth and digestive processes to those of man.

Started for the purpose of supplying the Wistar Institute, the industry has expanded until Philadelphia now is the most important rat raising center anywhere and the institute is called upon to supply rodents for other scientists in this country and abroad.

Scientists in widely distant centers find it necessary to compare results and for this purpose a standard strain is necessary, according to Dr. Milton Greenman, director of the institute.

EAST CAROLINA TOUR TO COME TO CONCORD

Goodwill Trip of Piedmont to Include Concord and Kannapolis—Want to Visit Towell Mill.

A goodwill tour, composed of a large party of men representing the 46 counties of eastern Carolina, will visit Concord next Thursday, January 14, according to information received here today by Dr. T. N. Spencer, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

The tour is under the direction of the eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce which has its headquarters at Winston, and is being given for the purpose of showing the people of the east what Piedmont Carolina has to offer and, at the same time, is advertising eastern Carolina.

Little definite information has been received here yet about the tour. The letter which Dr. Spencer received only told that the party was anxious to stop at Concord and asked to be shown through one of the mills at Kannapolis. It is not known how long they will remain here nor is it known at what time they will arrive.

Arrangements will probably be made with the Cannon Mills at Kannapolis to have the personnel of the party go through one of their plants, unless the number of those desiring to go on the sight-seeing trip are too large.

It is probably that the entire party will be shown through the Jackson Training School.

The tour will open in Raleigh on Tuesday at 11:30. Wednesday will be spent in Charlotte or its section and the way will then be turned toward Greensboro.

The Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce has its central office located at Winston, from which place Mr. Bartlett is making his arrangements for the tour. John W. Holmes, of Farmville, is president of the organization. Other officers for the present year are Mr. Bartlett, C. F. Harvey, Jr., of Winston; John S. Westcott, of Bayboro; T. R. Thiippen, of Mount Olive, and L. J. Mewborne, of Kingston.

CABARRUS COUNTY MAKES BIG REDUCTION IN TYPHOID

Deaths From This Disease Have Been Brought to Low Figure as Shown in Health Bulletin.

The reduction in the number of cases of typhoid fever in Cabarrus county is graphically shown in the January number of the Health Bulletin, published by the North Carolina State board of health at Raleigh.

A table is used in which the figures for the twelve counties where "typhoid" vaccination campaigns have been most continuing and intensive" during the years between 1915 and 1925.

The Cabarrus county campaign started in 1918 and the figures given are for the seven years from 1919 to 1925 inclusive. They show the death rate for typhoid dropping from 37.4 per hundred thousand in 1918 to 2.6 in 1924.

There is only one break in the steadily reducing number of deaths that was in 1923 when there was an epidemic of typhoid among the residents of Shankletown, a settlement of negroes outside of the city limits. In this year an epidemic was prevalent among these people, a number of them dying. The death rate for that year was 10.4.

For the seven years given in the table the dates are as follows: 37.4 for 1919, 5.9 for 1920, 8.3 for 1921, 3.8 for 1922, 16.4 for 1923 and 2.6 for 1924.

Only two counties given in the table have a lower death rate than does Cabarrus. They are Cumberland and Northampton, both of which have no deaths from the disease. Some of the counties have much higher rates. Among them are Rowan with a death rate of 12.7, Guilford county with a death rate of 9.0 and Wilson with a death rate of 17.1.

DAVIS DENIES A SPLIT OVER WILSON AWARD

Admits Foundation Considered Chamberlain Briand and Dr. Stresemann.

New York World. Norman H. Davis, President of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, denied last night that a difference of opinion among trustees had made it impossible for the foundation to make its 1925 award for unselfish public service of an enduring nature by some living persons. He pointed out that the foundation is not bound to make an annual award.

He admitted that the moving figures of the Locarno conference—Austen Chamberlain, British Secretary of Foreign Affairs; Aristide Briand, French Foreign Minister, and Dr. Gustav Stresemann, German Foreign Minister—had been considered, but that no action was taken when it was learned the Nobel Peace Prize had been awarded to Chamberlain and Briand.

The first and only recipient to date of the Foundation's award was Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, who received $25,000 in 1924.

Mills Stocks Lower After Dividend Payments.

While there has been a decline in the average price of 25 leading stocks for the week, according to the weekly average released by R. S. Dickson & Company, the decline was brought about by dividend payments January 1st, which naturally reduced the book value of the stocks, as well as the market value. The present average stands at 118.82, compared with 119.18 for the previous week.

A large number of mills have not issued their January dividends as yet, especially the chain of mills at Belmont, N. C., a majority of these usually paying the latter part of January.

The market will no doubt continue irregular until after all January dividends are paid, and the financial statements made public.

"THE CHRIST-RULED HOME"

The following are letters used in connection with Rev. C. H. Trueblood's sermon last Sunday night at the First Baptist Church:

Dear Pastor: In the "Christ-Ruled Home" the father and mother would, of course, be consistent Christians and would strive, by an active Christian life, to train their children for Christ.

Family worship would be a first-act, and love would be the ruling principle in the home life.

If we had more "Christ-Ruled Homes", then we would have fewer young people seeking worldly and questionable pleasures; they would be more concerned about their Father's business.

Dear Mr. Trueblood: A "Christ-Ruled Home", I think, would be characterized by a complete accord in feeling and sentiment between the different members of the family concerning the things of most importance in life.

By far, the greater emphasis would be placed on those things pertaining to the Spirit. The Spirit of Christ dwelling in each would drive away all discord, as fog vanishes before the morning sun.

Dear Pastor: Every home ought to be a "Christ-Ruled Home", for no home, as well as no man, can serve two masters.

The year 1925 was marked by domestic tragedies. Husbands killed wives, and wives killed husbands. Such homes are devil-ruled hells on earth.

One result of a "Christ-Ruled Home" is peace, harmony and contentment. There is no friction in such a home; no jealousy or bitterness or strife. It is a happy home in the inside as well as on the outside.

The members of the family understand each other; they are not sugar to the world and vinegar to each other.

The result of "Christ-Ruled Homes" if they were universal, would be the solution of our social problems, the end of neighborhood, state and national strife, and the dawning of a new day of happiness to all.

DEAR MR. TRUEBLOOD:

"The Christ-Ruled Home", to me, is one in which the Lord's day is sacredly kept and occupants never question the fact that they should attend the services of God's house. If we keep the Sabbath physically, it will keep us physically; if we keep it spiritually we shall also be kept spiritually.

There is no intemperance in a "Christ-Ruled Home", and the amusements of such a home are never of a questionable nature.

There is discipline in the "Christ-Ruled Home", but nagging, but a congenial understanding.

Then of course in the real Christian home prayer is practiced, and sustaining power is experienced in the lives of family.

DEAR MR. TRUEBLOOD:

Before a home can truly be termed a "Christ-Ruled Home" there are essential fundamentals and very essential laws governing the conduct of man.

If a person wills to know the will of God, he can know it. There is incultured in the being of every person from birth a knowledge and a belief in a Supreme Being. Therefore, it is the will of man alone which will prevent his being governed according to the will of God.

The family group that accepts the fundamental principles of Christianity makes Christ the Supreme Ruler of their home as well as of their lives and their conduct toward their fellowmen will be such as can be acquired only by contact and association with the living Christ.

DEAR PASTOR:

In discussing a "Christ-Ruled Home", we presume that the family has accepted Christ as their Savior and Master; that they have dedicated their lives to the living God.

It would be interesting if one could, to imagine what kind of a city Concord would be if Christ were the ruler of every home in the city. Instead of malice, hatred, ill-will, covetousness and vice, which undeniably exist in Concord, as in every city, there would be the utmost respect for law and order. If Christ ruled every home, our penal institutions, which are filled with young manhood and womanhood of the city, would be done away with and in their stead we would find churches.

The results of a "Christ-Ruled Home" are numerous. However, if we could sift them down to three which are outstanding, we might enumerate the following:

- 1. Lives clean and consecrated. 2. Lives full of helpfulness. 3. Lives governed by the laws of God and man.

The great strike of the anthracite miners of Pennsylvania in 1902, which tied up the coal mining industry for more than five months, marked the first instance in the history of the country of a President of the United States intervening in an industrial disturbance of any sort, a step which called down upon the head of Theodore Roosevelt the strongest censure of the part of the capitalists, while it won for him the hearty endorsement of the general public and stood out as the first great achievement of his administration.

SLEET FELL IN CITY THROUGHOUT FRIDAY

Gave Solid Costing of Ice to Snow That Fell Thursday Night—Many Costing Parties.

Sleet fell in Concord throughout Friday, giving a heavy coating of ice to the snow that fell Thursday night. The fall of snow and sleet was more than an inch in depth and unless many warm days are to follow the ground will be covered for a number of days.

No snow fell in the city Friday, but sleet came down almost continuously throughout the day. There were lines and at other times the fall was lighter.

No serious traffic accidents have been reported as a result of the snow and sleet. Several cars skidded into ditches but were easily removed, and others were in minor accidents. However, so far as the police know there were no serious accidents and no one in the city was seriously hurt.

Auto traffic was halted only to a minor degree by the snow. The streets were filled with moving vehicles throughout the day, and the sleet was hard enough to make the going easy. Some autos froze to the streets when left parked for some time and a few frozen motors were reported.

Costing parties were organized rapidly Friday afternoon and famous hills and highways in and around the city were utilized during the afternoon and night. A large crowd of persons went to the old Archibald Pasture, on Church street, Friday afternoon, and a still larger party was there Friday night.

Bell Avenue proved a popular costing point, the hill the offering a speedy ride. This street was visited by large crowds Friday night, as was Academy street from Spring to Kerr streets.

The Academy street hill is not as steep as some of the others used by the coasters, but it is longer and persons starting at the Spring street corner were able to coast to the plant of the Concord and Kannapolis Gas Co.

In addition to the larger costing parties many smaller ones were staged in yards and other places. Little children used their own walks and driveways and in some instances nurses and parents spent much of the afternoon giving children rides about the city.

Telephone and telegraph communication was not interrupted by the storm. Practically every wire in the city is covered with snow and sleet but the weight is not sufficient to tear the wires and little damage has been suffered so far by the telephone and telegraph companies.

KANNAPOLIS DEFEATED BY OLSEN SWEDS.

Kannapolis, Jan. 8.—The Kannapolis "Y" quintet was defeated by Olsen's Terrible Swede aggregation here last night by the score of 38 to 22, the game being the prettiest and fastest game played on the court here at any time.

Both teams played a wonderful game of ball all the way through and some brilliant shooting and passing was displayed by both teams, the Swedes being the best in this line.

Olsen, the manager, made some beautiful shots from the center of the court and was master of the ball all the time, his backhand passing being a specialty in keeping the ball from the opponents and shooting goals.

Elliot, all-Okla-homa state guard, was high man for the Swedes, getting a total of seven field goals and two fouls and playing a wonderful defensive game. Every man on the team is a star and the way they handle themselves on the floor in receiving the ball, passing, shooting and breaking up plays was great. The Kannapolis team played a wonderful game but was too much outclassed by their opponent—but they had the fighting spirit and played the best ball they have done this year.

Smith and Gilliam led in the scoring for the home team, getting four field goals each, while Roberts scored two goals, one being shot from below the halfway line.

Flowe, S. Gilliam and Helms played a wonderful game on the defensive and were responsible for keeping the score as it was.

The game was witnessed by a pretty fair crowd who seemed thrilled at the sight of both teams.

Boxing fans of Toronto are expected to turn out in force for the 10-round contest to be held in that city the night of January 11 between Harry Greb, the world's middleweight champion, and Roland Todd, who is generally recognized as the best of the English middleweights.

The real name of Harry Greb, world's middleweight champion, is Borg, which he spells backwards to get his professional name.
