There is good sense in the Spanish saying, "Tell me whom you live with, and I will tell you who you are." Make it therefore your business, wherever you are, to get into that company which everybody in the place allows to be the best company next to their own; which is the best definition that I can give you of good company.—Letters of Lord Chesterfield to his son, October, 1748.

RED CROSS CHAPTER HAS FIRST MEETING OF YEAR

Reports Heard From Members of the Organization.—Miss Katherine Myers Makes Speech.

The Cabarrus County Chapter of the American Red Cross held its first meeting of the year at the Y. M. C. A. Friday at 4 p. m. Mr. Howard C. L. Colie, chairman, presiding.
Interesting reports of the various services brought out the fact that the Chapter is carrying on a continuous and efficient program.
Miss Mary King reported 100 per cent enrollment in the Junior Red Cross for the last three years and participation by the children in Christmas giving for crippled children, and other activities. Mr. J. W. Denny, chairman of the Life Saving and First Aid, spoke of the wide interest in the Red Cross Life Saving program and said that 670 young people were taught to swim last year.

Mr. Colie stated that the response to the call for sweaters, which went out last September, had been splendid and that he had on hand a number of warm sweaters ready to ship to the hospitals for the disabled men. The great supply left over from the war work has just now become exhausted and the new supply guarantees that no ex-service man will call in vain to the Greatest Mother whose faithful workers have brought out their knitting needles again.

Miss Katherine Myers, nursing field representative, was present at the meeting and complimented the chapter and its 750 members enrolled in November on their fine program of service to the community, and discussed the possibility for additional constructive work for the future. Along this line, mention was made of the nutrition program of the Red Cross, which was established in 1921 in response to a demand for trained nutritionists to go into a community for three months or more to direct an intensive educational campaign against malnutrition. The whole country is now awake to the fact that an astonishing large percentage of our population is suffering from many of the diseases often traceable directly to malnutrition, such as rickets, scurvy, pellagra, tuberculosis, as well as from other indications of malnutrition, such as poor muscular conditions, listless and dull expressions, poor posture, underweight and defective teeth. In our schools it has been found that from fifteen to fifty per cent of the children are malnourished. This condition arises not so much from lack of food as from wrong selection of food, lack of home training, and other remediable factors. Miss Myers suggested that at some opportune time, the chapter in co-operating with other agencies, consider this fruitful field of service.

For the last year the chapter has been providing a car and upkeep for the county tuberculosis nurse, whose work is carried on under the auspices of the health department, and it was decided to continue this assistance, if desired. A subscription to the Red Cross Courier for the Public Library was authorized.

JUDGE BRYSON TALKS TO C. OF C. DIRECTORS

Tells of Great Need for National Park in Smoky Mountains of This State.

Judge T. D. Bryson, of Bryson City, who presided at the sessions of Cabarrus County Superior Court here this week, delivered a masterful address Friday night before the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, speaking on the proposed National Park in the Smoky Mountains.
A campaign to raise funds for this park will be waged in Concord in the near future and Judge Bryson was asked to discuss the matter for the information of the Chamber of Commerce directors. The address was characterized by the men who heard him as one of the finest ever delivered in Concord.

So greatly impressed were the Chamber of Commerce officials that they have asked Judge Bryson to speak again Monday night and he has agreed to do so. He will speak at the Merchants and Manufacturers Club at 7:30 and a number of persons in the city are expected to hear him.
Judge Bryson is a native of western North Carolina and he knows conditions there in a very intimate manner. He has secured data covering the benefits to be derived from such a park, and at the same time he can tell from personal experience the great help that such a park will mean to the people who live in western North Carolina.

WILL PRESENT WINTER BE COLD AS IN 1917?

Weather Prophets Have Predicted That Last Summer's Heat is to Be Followed by Severe Winter.
Will the present winter duplicate conditions of the winter of 1917 and 1918 is the question which is being asked by members of people.
Those who enjoy a "real" winter are hopeful that the heavy precipitation of snow and sleet Thursday night and Friday will remain on the ground for some time, thus giving opportunity for sledding and putting off the day when the streets are covered with slush.

It has been recalled by those who keep up with the weather, that the first snow came in 1917 on the 20th of December. From that time until January 10th, it remained frozen, the ground being covered with a heavy coating of snow and ice.
Weather prophets have been almost unanimous in predicting an unusually severe winter. The extreme heat of the past summer was said to be an indication of extreme cold this winter. Although the day was cold, with the earth covered with a blanket of snow-ice, trees weighted with diamond-like icicles, twenty enthusiastic daughters wended their way to lend a helping loving hand in keeping the southern home fires burning for the old veterans of the War Between the States. In the absence of the local president, Mrs. Robert Jones the vice-president, presided. It was voted to place a bouquet near the Jackson Training School in honor of the Ku Klux Klan, which order did much in the dark days in the protection of their citizens.

DAUGHTERS OF CONFEDERACY MEET

The United Daughters of the Confederacy held an interesting business and social meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jno. K. Patterson, with Mesdames Frank Goodson and C. E. Wagoner as joint hostesses. Although the day was cold, with the earth covered with a blanket of snow-ice, twenty enthusiastic daughters wended their way to lend a helping loving hand in keeping the southern home fires burning for the old veterans of the War Between the States. In the absence of the local president, Mrs. Robert Jones the vice-president, presided. It was voted to place a bouquet near the Jackson Training School in honor of the Ku Klux Klan, which order did much in the dark days in the protection of their citizens.

It was decided to re-elect Mesdames L. T. Hartsell and Robert Young as Confederate Dinner committee.
After the business session, an enjoyable social hour was given over to the hostesses, when the following beautiful program was rendered:
Mrs. Goodson read "The Lost Cause."
Mrs. H. G. Gibson sang in her usual beautiful voice "Love's Old Sweet Song," and "Jingle Bells."
Miss Rose Harris, a most gifted story teller and reader, gave a delightful reading of an old time Southern story.
The Daughters departed with a true Southern spirit of love for the cause, to meet in February at the home of Mrs. L. D. Coltrane, Sr.

POSTAL BUSINESS AT GASTONIA INCREASED

Gastonia, January 8.—(AP)—Uncle Sam's business in Gastonia showed a marked increase during 1925 over the preceding year, the report of post-office sales for 1925 shows.
Postal sales during 1925 totaled $67,000 during the 12 months of 1925, an increase of approximately $10,000 over 1924, it is announced by the local post office.
In addition to the heavier mail, newspapers, etc., the local post office estimates that it handled a quarter of a million two-cent stamps during 1925.

JOHN DAWKINS PAYS WITH LIFE

Raleigh, Jan. 8.—(AP)—John Dawkins, negro, paid the supreme penalty at the State Prison this morning for the murder of Jos. H. Vaughn, merchant of Winston-Salem. Two shocks were administered before the negro was pronounced dead. Dawkins entered the death chamber shortly after 10 o'clock and the first shock was given at 10:15. Before being executed Dawkins confessed to the crime for which he was sentenced to die.

SLIDDING IS POPULAR SPORT FOLLOWING SNOW

Hills in and Around Concord Filled With People Enjoying the Winter Sport.

Slidding was a popular amusement in Concord Friday when the first snow in three years of sufficient depth to use for this sport fell. Transforming the hills into ready-made places alides.
As is customary on occasions of this kind, Archibald's pasture was a bee-hive of activity throughout the day and during the early part of the night. Although the sleet made the course a little slower than when only snow falls, it was sufficiently fast to make an exhilarating sport.
Not only did the boys and girls of the city make use of the "hill" but a number of the grown-ups indulged in sledding, many of them spilling before they learned how to handle their conveyance.

Several of the streets made admirable slides. Bell Avenue was used part of the day, as was Academy street from Spring to the gas plant. This latter has a straight-away for the longest drop in the city. The danger from automobiles kept many from using these two streets.

Some of the more ingenious boys and girls hooked up behind automobiles and proceeded over the paved streets at a rapid rate.
A string of conveyances which attracted much attention was a secret of sleds hitched behind a horse. N. A. Archibald drove the horse and behind him were twelve children on the train, saving money time as they roared through the city.
Prospects of a thaw today made it look as though there would be but little more use to which the sleds might be put for the present.

JURY FREES LUCAS

State Capital Policeman Found Justified in Killing McCaw.

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 8.—Joseph L. Lucas, former night policeman at the state capitol here, was this afternoon found not guilty of the murder of Harry McCaw, clerk of the state supreme court, who fell dead in a pistol duel between the two in the south corridor of the capitol, in the early morning of May 8th last.
The jury got the case at 3:15 o'clock this afternoon and was out 55 minutes. There were no scenes in the court room when the verdict was read. Several friends of the Lucas family shook hands with Mr. Lucas and congratulated him.
Lucas' plea was self-defense. He stoutly maintained his innocence since the killing, and he graphically told his story on the stand, that he killed McCaw only after the court clerk started firing at him. McCaw, he said, had threatened his life on previous occasions.
