LOCAL MENTION

Marriage license was issued Friday by Register of Deeds Elliott to John Corl and Miss Shirley Safrit, both of Rockwell Route No. 2.

By an inadvertence the name of Catherine Archibald was omitted yesterday from the honor roll of the second grade of the primary school.

The contribution of the First Presbyterian Sunday School tomorrow will be given to the Barium Springs Orphanage.

A large crowd was present at the Hartsell Mill Friday night when the movie program was put on by the Y. M. C. A. This program will be given each Friday night during the winter months, it has been announced.

Full announcements will be made during the next week about the Bible Story Contest, Mr. Blanks said this morning. Much interest is being shown in the contest which is one of the outstanding events of the year in Concord.

Plans are underway for a Thrift Week Program to be put on by the H-Y boys. Speakers will present the Thrift message to the boys and girls of the schools and a speaker will make a brief talk at the moving picture program next Saturday night.

Judge T. D. Bryson, who presided at the January term of Cabarrus County Superior Court which adjourned Friday, left this morning for Charlotte. While in Concord Judge Bryson spoke several times on the proposed national park in western North Carolina.

Miss Mamie Camp, county organizer of the State Welfare Department, spent Friday in Concord with J. H. Brown, county welfare officer. While in Concord Miss Camp discussed with Mr. Brown various phases of her work that were of particular interest to Mr. Brown in his work as county welfare officer.

Prof. J. B. Robertson, county superintendent of schools, is planning now for teacher conferences to be held here in the future. A conference was to have been held today but as many of the less important roads in the county are still in bad condition as a result of the snow and sleet, the meeting was postponed.

The Concord Y team was the loser in a game Friday night with Proximity Y at Greensboro, the final count being 48-21. The two Coble Brothers were stars for the Greensboro team. An effort will be made by the local team to get in better shape for the final games to be held here during February.

The moving picture program at the Y. M. C. A. tonight will be held in the dining room in order that it will not interfere with the wrestling match which is staged with the Davidson College Matmen. The movies will be given from six to eight o'clock and the wrestling match will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

Due to the lifting of the ban on electric power by the Southern Power Co., local mills this week worked on regular schedules. Instead of halting work at Friday noon, as they had been doing, the mills were in operation until noon today, thus following the schedule in effect before the drought of the summer made curtailed operations necessary.

The wrestling match tonight will bring some of the best talent of the state in collegiate circles on the local floor, Davidson having one of the best teams in its history. Prior to the wrestling matches, several boxing matches will be held, one of which is between Earl Blackwelder, local lightweight champion, and the Davidson lightweight ace.

The fact that the snow of last week has been very slow in melting has caused older residents of the country to recall past years when snow was the common occurrence. Luther Cline, a resident of No. 5 township, remembers he says that in 1856 the snow remained on the ground for eight weeks, being piled up by seven consecutive snows.

The snow and sleet which fell last week are much in evidence still in all parts of the state, according to visitors to the city. Due to the fact that no very warm days have followed the fall, the sleet is still protecting the snow and white fields are in evidence in all parts of North Carolina. In some spots in Concord the snow and sleet are almost as deep as they were a week ago.

One defendant tried in recorder's court Friday paid $316.55 in fines and costs. Of this total $200 was assessed for driving an auto while intoxicated, $25 and costs were assessed for transporting, and judgment was suspended upon payment of costs in the case charging possession. In the assault with a deadly weapon case the defendant agreed to pay damages on the car which he is alleged to have struck with his auto.

The late Frank Gotch, the champion wrestler, had a record of throwing the older Zbysko in less than 3 seconds, said to be the quickest time ever known in a contest between any two heavyweight grapplers of prominence.

"Stuffy" McInnis was a star player in the big leagues before he was 21 years old.

BOWIE'S ROAD

Congressman Doughton Appeals to Interstate Commerce Commission for Construction of Link. Washington, Jan. 12—Representative Doughton visited the Interstate Commerce commission today in order to expedite if possible approval of the application to build the Appalachian and Western North Carolina railroad, the survey of which touches Elkin, Statesville, North Wilkesboro, Lenoir and Taylorsville and connects with the through railroad system in Virginia or Tennessee.

Mr. Doughton was advised by the commission that action in the matter was awaiting data from the chief engineer, and that as soon as this report is received the authorization will be made. This surveyed route, which contemplates early construction, will open a wide area of country, now without railroad facilities, and these advantages together with the high-ways that are being rapidly improved will give access, Mr. Doughton says, to a rich and productive section of the state which will add to the wonderful growth and prosperity of the state.

Mr. Doughton introduced a bill in the House today providing for the purchase of site and the construction of public buildings at Mooresville and Albemarle, $1,000,000 being appropriated for that purpose. The bill also provided for the erection of a public building at Lenoir, Caldwell county, on a site previously acquired by the government, the sum appropriated for this project being $90,000.

Stany Liquor Suffers Blow to Reputation.

Lexington Dispatch.

"Something ought to be done to Col. George Reynolds," said to rather prominent and well known citizen of Albemarle the other day.

"What has the Colonel done now?" we asked him. "Ruined the reputation of Stany County liquor abroad," he answered. "And not only that, but the people of South Carolina are almost afraid to drink wine made in this section of the state."

"How come?" he was asked. "Well, you know, several weeks ago George took a trip over to Montgomery County. He returned and told the Stany News-Herald an awful tale about a herd of cattle owned by a Mr. Dowd of near Candor, having partaken of a bad brand of 'mash,' causing them to go stone blind. The article which the News-Herald 'carried,' he went on, 'caused considerable talk and was copied and referred to in a dozen or more newspapers in this state and South Carolina. Just the week before Christmas it was reprinted in the Greenville, (S. C.) Piedmont, and when a well known Albemarle man sent a nice bottle of wine to a Greenville, South Carolina, friend that person wrote back asking, 'Are you sure the wine did not come from anywhere close to Dowd's cow pasture?' 'That's too bad,' he continued. 'Stany County's brands have always had a ready market anywhere, and now George Reynolds has gone and caused folks to question the wholesomeness of our liquor. Something ought to be done about it.' And we presume some of the bootleggers of both Stany and Montgomery counties feel about the same way about it. The Colonel should not have done it. But the news is news and must be printed in the papers, even if it does hurt the sale of Stany County 'licker,' opines the Stany News-Herald.

Following the resignation of Representative John W. Langley of Kentucky, it was reported in Washington that Mrs. Langley would try to win his seat in Congress. Langley was convicted in a liquor conspiracy case and his resignation took effect when the supreme court refused to review the findings. Langley was sentenced to two years.

The Farmers Don't Like It.

The Dearborn Independent.

The general dissatisfaction with President Coolidge's program for the farmers grows out of an essential inconsistency between the President's real views and those which he supports for political purposes. He believes of course that there is no benefit in artificial helps supplied by legislation; he believes that the problems of agriculture are purely agricultural problems; yet with this belief he lends half a countenance to the other view, which would provide a legislative stop to placate those farmers who have not yet plucked through the baleful delusion of political salvation. A policy divided between truth and expediency is always weak. Instead of placating both sides it satisfies neither.
