LOCAL MENTION

Miss Mary Trexler has gone to Charlotte, where she has entered the Sanatorium for treatment. Born, January 15th, to Mr. and Mrs. Curtis A. Yarborough, of the Hartsell Mill, a daughter.

Slight improvement is reported today in the condition of Mrs. James C. Fink, who has been seriously ill for some time at the Concord Hospital.

Marriage license was issued Saturday by Register of Deeds Elliott to Oscar Hatcock and Miss Dorothy L. Russell, both of Kannapolis.

The American Legion Auxiliary will hold its regular monthly meeting tonight at 8 o'clock with Mrs. R. E. Ridenhour, Jr., at her home on White street.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Concord Realty Company, which owns the stock in the new hotel, will be held Tuesday. A number of important business matters will be considered at this time.

Mark Alexander has sold to Mattie Alexander for $10 property in No. 11 township, according to a deed filed Saturday. Another deed records the sale of property in Ward One by John R. Boger to W. G. Cochrane for $1200.

Federal pay for members of Company E, Concord's military unit, has been received and will be given to the members of the company at the regular drill tonight. Captain Alston plans to begin paying off tonight at the armory at 8 o'clock.

Primary teachers of the county will meet here next Saturday for a conference with Prof. J. B. Robertson, superintendent of the county schools. The conference will be held at the court house at 10:30 a. m., and primary work will be discussed.

The Franklin Mill band furnished the music Saturday night for the wrestling match at the Y. M. C. A. The quality of music given by the organization was very pleasing to the people gathered there, a number of compliments being given on their excellencies.

The heavy rains of Sunday and early this morning amounted to a total of 1.1 inches, according to local weather men. This amount exceeded the fall for several months last summer when there was practically no precipitation. One month had recorded as its fall only 9-10 of an inch.

Water ran riot this morning on some streets of the city following the heavy rains. Gutters and drain pipes could not take care of the water, and streets and sidewalks were inundated at several points in the city. The water ran off quickly, however, and caused little inconvenience.

The next regular quarterly conference for Central Methodist Church will be held next Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. Z. Paris, presiding elder of the Salisbury district, will be in Concord for the conference and will preach in Central Church next Sunday night.

Seven defendants are to be tried in recorder's court this afternoon in six cases. Three are charged with operating cars while intoxicated, one with disposing of mortgaged property, one with intoxication and two with an affray, the two being charged on the same warrant.

A change in the Concord No. 2 rural mail route went into effect January 16th, whereby 15 more families will be served. The new part of the route starts at Mason Goodman's and goes out to Morrison's gin, and into the old route again at Johnson's store. O. T. Umberger is carrier on this route.

Practically all of the snow and sleet in this city were melted during yesterday and last night when rain fell practically continuously. Rising temperatures of Saturday night prevailed yesterday and last night, and these, coupled with the rain, melted most of the snow and sleet which had been on the ground more than a week.

One of the hardest rains in recent months fell in Concord during the night. Persons en route to the business district this morning about 7 o'clock were caught in a veritable downpour that continued for some time. By 8 o'clock, however, the clouds were breaking up and the skies were clear an hour later.

Three new members joined Central Methodist Church at the morning service yesterday, the new members coming by transfer from other churches. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Duncan transferred from a Church in Savannah, Ga., and Mrs. John M. Oglesby transferred from the Methodist Church in Marion.

Mrs. J. P. Cook has received the reel of pictorial slides, which will be exhibited at the First Baptist Church tomorrow evening at 7:30. Mrs. J. C. Stewart writes from Owasso, Mich., where these slides were last shown, "I trust you receive them in good condition and enjoy them as we did. These pictures illustrate the wonderful accomplishments in the several states by the King's Daughters in the way of homes for old people, orphanages, libraries and other public and charitable institutions. Preceding the pictures will be a musical program by Prof. Doyle's orchestra."

Not So Nice

The grandmotherly features and pleasant smile of Mrs. Jane E. H. Longley led lots of banks to cash checks for her without question. But finally she was arrested at South Bend, Ind., charged with passing scores of worthless checks. This "nice old lady" has seven aliases, police say, and is known chiefly as Mary F. Paulson. She is 65.

NORTH CAROLINA AN EXAMPLE

Asheville Citizen.

The Philadelphia Public Ledger recently stated: "North Carolina is a billion dollar state if one takes the combined value of its manufactured products and its raw material produced on farm and in forest as a basis of calculation."

"With the value of the output of three-quarters of a billion dollars, with banking resources at the close of 1925 amounting to more than half a billion, and with the value of its farm crops for last year going considerably beyond a quarter of a million, the commonwealth in a material way enters the new year with optimism."

Taking this as a text, The Atlanta Constitution preaches a secular sermon urging Georgia to take a look at North Carolina, learn of her ways and be wise. Georgia's soil is as good as that of North Carolina, says The Constitution, and can be adapted to a greater diversity, and the seasons are as favorable. Why then has North Carolina so far outstripped fair Georgia?

The Atlanta paper, certainly loyal Georgian, finds no difficulty in the question. It says: "There is only one answer to the problem—North Carolina's advanced educational and highway systems are reflected yearly in the increased values of her cashed-in resources, and thereby add to the per capita wealth a greater ratio."

"That is all there is to it. Summoned up, it means that her excellent roads and excellent schools are the best possible dividend payers, in which all the citizens participate."

And so The Constitution insists that Georgia shall not rest until she "shall be placed on a progressive parity with her sister state." North Carolina certainly will welcome this sister state to a place by her side—a progressive Georgia there would be a help and not a handicap to North Carolina. More power to the great Atlanta paper's drive.

SALISBURY IS GIVEN BANK ROBBERY SCARE

Story Gets Started When Stenographer Chases Negress Down Street.—Mrs. Peeler Dead.

Salisbury, Jan. 16.—Stories of a bank robbery got started here at noon today and grew as they traveled. They started when Miss Marion Currell, stenographer at the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company's place, chased Viol Cuff, a 15-year-old negro girl, down the street. Miss Currell had been asked to keep an eye on the girl while a check she had presented was investigated.

The girl took flight and also flight and Miss Currell gave chase but was outdistanced. The girl was caught by others who joined in the chase and her case was turned over to the welfare officer. She had tried to collect a dollar more than the check given her by her employer had originally called for. In juvenile court she was sent to the work house for 30 days.

Cancer caused by accidentally biting her tongue caused the death today of Mrs. Lawson Peeler, 60 years old, who with her husband lived at the home of J. A. Misenheimer in the St. Paul neighborhood.

Lamping Them. Willie: "I looked through the key hole last night when May's fellow called on her." Pa: "What did you find out?" Willie: "The electric light."

Stung. Jinks: "Have you ever seen sausage hanging up in a shop?" Binks: "Yes, of course I have." Jinks: "That's strange! I always thought they hung down."

An English jury in 1803 compelled an advertiser to make good on his promise to pay 100 pounds if his carbolic smoke balls did not bring relief from colds when used three times daily, an old lady having used them with no relief.

Judge Joseph Sabath expressed approval of an amendment which would require the prospective bride and bridegroom to give two weeks' notice before they could obtain a marriage license. This plan has worked out successfully in Europe, he said.

A Frenchman by the name of Captain Delingette has completed the first crossing of Africa from north to south by motor.

Ice skating has become a veritable craze in English this winter, the like of which has not been seen for many years. One of the largest rinks in existence, upon which the world's skating championships of 1926 are to be decided, is shortly to be opened in London. This new rink will be 170 feet long and 100 feet wide. It will include luxurious lounges, a restaurant, an American bar, and dressing rooms. Something like $25,000 is to be spent on the project. A number of prominent people are connected with the undertaking, and already many applications for membership have been received.
