Cutest Thing

New York Mirror. Father—Son, why is it you are not doing so well as you did at the beginning of the term? Son—It's the teacher's fault. She removed the boy who sat next to me. I took my little brother to the barber to have his hair cut, when the barber asked: "Do you want it cut short, Johnny?" "Yes," replied Johnny, "but I don't want it cut short as a girl's."

Mrs. P. A. Sloop Dies at Mooresville

Salisbury, Jan. 22.—Mrs. P. A. Sloop, widow of one of Rowan's most prominent men, and for year a resident of the county, died today at the home of a daughter, Mrs. J. F. McGraw, at Mooresville. She had been in ill health for some days, but was seriously ill only a short time. Mrs. Sloop was 77 years old and is survived by four sons and four daughters. These are John A., C. A., Leon and Louis, all of Salisbury, and Mrs. McGraw, of Mooresville; Mrs. Earl Bostian, of China Grove; Mrs. D. M. Barger, of Rockwell, and Mrs. L. W. Beaver, of Oklahoma City. The funeral takes place tomorrow at 2 o'clock at Ebenezer Church, near China Grove.

INSURE When You Start to Build

DINNER STORIES

Certain Acquittal. The village loafer had been arraigned on a charge of chicken stealing and had informed his attorney that he intended to plead guilty. "How do you figure your chances are better by doing that?" he was asked. "Wal," drawled the client, "I'm sech a liar nobody'll believe me." With the New Rich. Mrs. Moneybags, accompanied by her young son, had gone to the reception the evening before. She had worn her newly purchased and—so hoped—quite dazzling jewelry. She was anxious to know if they had created the expected sensation. "Did you see my sunburst last night?" she inquired of her neighbor. "No, I didn't," was the caustic reply. "But I certainly thought he would if he ate another bite."

It For Tat

Porter—Miss, your train is— Precise Passenger—My man, why do you say "your train" when you know it belongs to the railway company? Porter—Dunno, miss; why do you say "my man," when you know I belong to my old woman?

No Chances

Aviator—"Sure, I'll take you all up but you'll have to pay in advance." "In advance. Why we've been up before and always paid when we got through flying." Aviator—"Sure, but this machine isn't as safe as it used to be."

The Usual Result

"What are those terrible yells, officer?" demanded an excited pedestrian, as uncharitably screams issued from an office window. "I investigated and it's all right," assured the cop. "A painless dentist is trying to operate on himself."

Excessive Gallantry

"You seem to have had a serious accident." "Yes," said the bandaged person. "I tried to climb a tree in my motor car."

Appreciated

Harry—What did Schram say when you give him the brandied cherries we sent to cheer his convalescence? George—He said he was afraid he was not strong enough to eat the fruit, but he appreciated the spirit in which it was sent.
