

TEARS UP "SURPLUS MONEY"

Hit Man Taken to Bellevue For Observation Still Has Some Left. New York Times.

"Money, money," he shouted, according to the police "Lots of money."

Juko's actions attracted a crowd which included Patrolman Kelly of Old City Station. He detained the man with difficulty and summoned Dr. Di Innocentes of Broad Street Hospital. Police found some money intact in a large wallet carried by Juko.

LOCAL MENTION

A regular meeting of the business girls' gym class will be held at the Y. M. C. A. tonight at 7:30. The DeMolay and Wildcat basketball teams of the City League will play at the Y tonight at 8:30.

The card and sewing party scheduled to be held on Thursday of this week by the American Legion Auxiliary, has been postponed until Tuesday of next week.

Police officers report that $136.85 was collected in fines and costs in police court Monday afternoon. No serious charges were lodged against the defendants, it was reported by the officers.

Eggs are becoming plentiful now, and as a result prices are declining. This is the season of the year when almost every kind of a chicken will lay and local merchants declare the supply now is equal if not greater than the demand.

Members of the Men's Bible Class of the First Presbyterian Church are now perfecting plans for a banquet to be staged on Thursday night of this week at the Cabarrus County Club. The program for the event will be announced later.

A. F. Jordan, 72, for years a well known resident of Huntersville, died Monday night at the home of his son, T. N. Jordan, on the Statesville road, four miles from Charlotte.

Prof. J. B. Huff, principal of the Wingate Junior College, was a visitor here Monday. While in the city Prof. Huff asked Prof. J. B. Robertson to deliver an address before the student body of his school next Tuesday and the invitation was accepted by the local superintendent of rural schools.

Rev. Shuford Peeler, of Catawba College, will preach here Sunday for Rev. W. C. Lyerly, who is spending ten days in Maryland. Mr. Peeler will preach at both the morning and evening service Sunday in the Corbin street school, where the congregation of Trinity Reform Church is now worshipping.

The Red Cross is now issuing another call for wool sweaters for disabled soldiers in the government hospitals. Mrs. Richmond Reed has plenty of wool on hand, and would appreciate it if any of the ladies of Concord who knit, or can have it done, will knit one or sweaters for these disabled soldiers. Mrs. Reed also has the instructions for knitting the sweaters.

The Hickory Record compiled these items from various newspapers which are interesting to all readers: Lies slumbering here one William Lake; he heard the bell, but had no brake.—Detroit News.

At fifty miles drove Allie Pidd; he thought he wouldn't skid, but did.—Rome Times.

At ninety miles drove Eddie Shawn; the motor stopped, but "Ed" kept on.—Little Fall Times.

Here he sleeps, one Johnny Fonker; he rounded a turn without a honker.—Scranton Scrantonian.

Down in the creek sleeps Jerry Bass; the bridge was narrow; he tried to pass.—Wilkes-Barre Times-Leader.

Beneath this stone sleeps William Raines; ice on the hill; he had no chains.—Harrisburgh Telegraph.

Here lies the body of William Jay, who died maintaining his right-of-way.—Boston Transcript.

Ice Fountain

A water spray has been installed at the top of a 30-foot spruce tree at Escanaba, Mich. It has been showing water since Dec. 1, and the tree is now an ice fountain, lighted at night by colored lights.

The Increase of Words.

Charlotte News. Of the making of words, as it was and is with the making of books there is no end. The dictionary that we resort to in these times contains nearly 150,000 words.

The vocabulary is expanding in proportion as knowledge increases, and we are discovering things so rapidly and making intellectual progress so rapidly that the covers of the dictionaries continue to get wider apart trying to keep up with what has come to be generally known.

Dr. Frank H. Vizetelly, managing editor of Funk & Wagnalls new standard dictionary, says that the well schooled lawyer, minister or physician has a vocabulary exceeding that commonly attributed to Shakespeare.

The poet's vocabulary included 23,000 words, Dr. Vizetelly says, while the highly trained professional man must know 25,000 or more, the average business man gets along on 10,000 or less.

Woodrow Wilson in three of his books used 60,666 distinct terms, but in the first seventy-five speeches he made after becoming president he used only 7,000. The average individual not specially educated knows from 3,000 to 10,000.

Wonderful things are words with which to work and play. Some men pack their words full of rich freight. Some use words as artists use colors. Others fill them with carbonic acid gas which results in much sizzling and hissing and fizzing.

Some men trail words behind them as a locomotive pulls a long train of empties. Others use many words to conceal their lack of ideas. Some folks use words as camouflage, to hide their intention, to conceal their cowardice, to confuse the listeners.

And some men are to be found, for example in the United States Senate who are word fountains and from them rivers of verbiage flow on forever and forever.

France's Feeling for America. Dearborn Weekly. The man from France dropped into the office: "We are very badly thought of over there," said he. "Not that we should worry much. France must come to her senses in a number of matters, and the United States is one of them. But those who are guilty of breeding French hatred against a friendly nation bear an awful responsibility. And they are the French politicians. Caillaux is particularly vicious in this respect. He represents to France that he came over here, laid his cards on the table (which of course he didn't) and was kicked out of the door. The situation now is such that American residents in French cities tell me that their children come home from school every day battered up by the hostile young Frenchmen, and the authorities will not interfere. I myself saw evidence of this. Children of Americans in some parts of France are terrorized out of the schools altogether.

The hatred of Americans, however, is not so great as the hatred of the British. The feeling against us will wear off in time, but the feeling against the British is of long standing. "From what I saw, I could not draw the conclusion that we should change our course to win French approval. The conclusion I drew was this—every American attempt at mingling in the affairs of Europe simply makes us a party to one side or the other of European quarrels. We can't do anything without getting into all of the innumerable international dog-fights in progress over there. We do best when we keep out: I mean to keep ourselves in a better position to be of help to Europe. Going in now, under my pretext, simply diminishes our influence."

CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL AT KANNAPOLIS

Articles Written by Pupils of the Seventh Grade. Honor roll for December: girls—Mozelle Brindle, Ellen Ferguson, Emeline Kiser, Mildred Long, Carrie Rogers, Pearl Rogers, Frances Rogers, Sadie Trammell. Boys—Richard Brady, M. B. Dunn, Leonard Gillon, Lacy Mauldin, Walter Kiser, Thomas Widenhouse.

My New Year Resolution. I have made three resolutions: First—To come to school every day unless I am sick and not stay out any more. Second—Come to school and study hard and try to get promoted to the eighth grade.

On Wednesdays we have chapel in the auditorium. The rest of the days we have chapel in our room. Here is the way which we conduct our programs in chapel: Leader—Viola Setzer. Song—Theresa Hare. Scripture and Prayer—M. B. Dunn. Song—Irene Wilkinson. Story—Richard Brady. Song—Pauline Cross.

We have a paper printed every month. It is called "The Seventh Grade Messenger." Editorial. Sadie Trammell—Editor in Chief. Miss Julia Graham—Proof Reader. Jack Moore—News Editor. Halph Puntch—Sport Editor. Blanche Smith—Joke Editor.

Business. M. B. Dunn—Business Manager. Walter Kiser—Advertising Manager. Richard Brady—Circulation Manager. Roll. Girls—Pauline Cross, Mozelle Brindle, Eva Morris, Frances Rogers, Emeline Kiser, Mildred Long, Carrie Rogers, Pearl Rogers, Ellen Ferguson, Sadie Trammell, Viola Setzer, Theresa Hare, Alma Thompson, Helen Flowe, Cornelia Thornburg, Irene Wilkinson and Blanche Smith.

New Year's. By M. B. Dunn Christmas has already passed New Years has come at last. We should all be gay On this glad new year's day.

All of the new year bells are ringing. All of the children of the land are singing. They are all so gay and free, Every one is filled with glee.

Sparking world and staining sky, Sleigh bells all go jingling by, Days that swiftly come and go While the ground is covered with snow.

The New Year. By Ellen Ferguson This is new year's day And we must all start a new way. The snow is falling fast, But our foods will all last.

Let us new resolutions make, That we may not steal or take, Make this year good and fair And see that you are always square.

This old year has rolled around Now to another year we're bound. Let us make this better than the last So that we'll never regret the past.

The Messenger. By Leonard Gillon We started our school paper as a means of creating greater interest in our school work, especially in English. We enjoy writing different kinds of articles, and also seeing them in print. Every one would rather see his composition in a school paper than in a waste basket. We have taken a special interest in poems and dialogues. It also gives us some class spirit.

We hope that we shall be able to carry on this work next year without the help of teachers as this is a very essential part of a high school course.

MASONIC NOTICE. Special communication Stokes Lodge No. 32 A. F. & A. M. Wednesday night 7:30, February 10th. Work in first degree. By Order of the W. M. HOWARD L. COLLIE, Sec. Tues-Wed.

Perhaps the nicest thing about being a man is you don't have to worry even if you do have an Adam's apple. Pay careful attention to the little things. Many a flirter has wrecked a five-ton truck.

Some day some wise congressman is going to be re-elected on the platform that he didn't introduce a bill. Wouldn't it be fine if a woman about her housework could look like those in the soap advertisements? About the time a man begins to enjoy himself he needs a shave again.

The best sympathy

It is only human for a funeral director to feel sympathetic in the presence of bereaved patrons. But it is real sympathy when he recognizes an obligation to see to it that the highest character of burial equipment is furnished at honest prices. Such a policy has been responsible for the success of this concern.
