BROTHERHOOD PROGRAM UNIQUE AND INTERESTING

Seventy-Five Present For Banquet Held Thursday at First Baptist Church.

The Men's Brotherhood of the First Baptist Church enjoyed a program most unique and inspiring in the social hall of the church Thursday night.

A number of men expected to be present, caught in the "flu" epidemic, were unable to venture out in the unfavorable weather. However, seventy-five men attended the banquet—the word "banquet" adequately describes the great feast of good things to eat, prepared by the Ladies' Aid Society.

A. E. Harris, president of the brotherhood, was toastmaster, and called out the different numbers on the program, which consisted of a duet, a reading by Mrs. J. A. Patterson, on the "One-Legged Goose," and two recital reproductions of negro sermons, by Fred Agee. These humorous discourses convulsed the attendants in laughter.

One very interesting feature of the occasion was observed when each man was asked to stand, and give his name and occupation. Men representing a great diversity of trades and professions was noticed in this roll call. The pastor, responded when his time came, by giving his name and stating as his occupation "pastor of the greatest church in the world." Another happy feature of the occasion was the introduction, by the pastor, of his mother, Mrs. Mary E. Trueblood, of Elizabeth City. The men all stood up in beautiful respect to the pastor's mother.

Dr. Clay I. Hudson, pastor of the Pritchard Memorial Baptist Church, Charlotte, was introduced by the pastor. The visiting minister made a most forceful address. His subject was "Men For Religion and Religion For Men." It was a strong appeal for men to be "out and out for God and the church." It made a profound impression upon all who heard it.

At the conclusion of the address, President Harris had slips of paper passed to each man, and opportunity was then given to all who desired to become members of the brotherhood to sign their names. Sixty men, in addition to the officers who had been previously elected, signed and were enrolled as members.

It is the plan of the brotherhood to hold one meeting at least every month, with possibly a special meeting, with supper and program similar to that of Thursday evening, every three months.

Officers of the brotherhood are: A. E. Harris, President; A. H. Snyder, First Vice President; W. F. Agee, Second Vice President; J. M. Culcasure, Third Vice President; H. D. Helms, Secretary and Treasurer.

Col. House a Small Potato.

Colonel E. M. House would much better have remained silent awhile longer. The biggest thing about the letters he is writing on Wilson is the colossal conceit they reveal. The colonel is a very small potato.

CHARACTER OF JESUS THAT OF PERFECT MAN

His Character Such That No Man Either Before or Since Has Proached Him, Says Minister.

How do you account for the person, Jesus Christ? asked Dr. George Longaker in Trinity Reformed Church on Thursday night. Whose son is He? Whence came He? "Whence art thou then?" was the question of Plato to Jesus.

The Nazarenes said we know Joseph, Mary, his brothers and his sisters. They were ordinary folks. But where did Jesus get his wisdom? They knew His ability but could give no account of the person of Christ. He was not a student in their college, and sat not at the feet of the great teachers. The disciples said "What manner of man is this?" as they saw the powers he exerted over nature and man. The winds obey him. The dead were raised. The lepers were cleansed. The poor had the gospel preached unto them. The Pharisees said he is of the devil. How can we account for Jesus. The Words He spoke were words of dissonance such as no man hath spoken. The works He did reveal a power that no man before or since hath had. And His character is that of the perfect man, which no man either before or since hath approached.

Dr. Longaker gave the Biblical view of the person of Jesus. The Bible tells us that Jesus is man. But it does not tell us that Jesus is only a man. He emphasized the doctrine of the supernatural conception and the Virgin Birth. Heredity is not sufficient to account for the personality of Jesus Christ. Environment will not account for him. Neither will the race, the Jews, account for him. Jesus is the Son of God. Jesus is Immanuel, God is with us. As such He claims our faith. He claims our love. He claims our life.

Dr. Longaker will close the series of gospel services tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The place is the new Church Street. The subject tonight is "The Testing of the Cross." Gospel song service will be led by the choir.

TO DISCUSS PLANS FOR BIBLE STORY CONTEST

Sunday School Superintendents to Confer at the Y. M. C. A. This Evening at 7 O'clock.

Final plans and arrangements for the Bible Story Contest are to be made at a conference at the Y. M. C. A. this evening at 7 o'clock. The conference has been called by H. W. Banks, secretary of the Y. who has invited all city Sunday school superintendents to be present. A Dutch lunch will be served.

It is expected that at the conference this evening plans for the local contests will be made. It is planned to get the contest in each church started as soon as possible. It is known that quite a number of young people already have written and memorized the stories they will tell.

Mr. Banks reports fine interest in this year's contest. "We have not pushed the matter yet," he explained, "feeling that it would be better to wait until the time for the contests to start before giving the matter full publicity. Interest is fine, however, and we expect the best contest in the history of the city."

MRS. CLARENCE G. HEILIG.

Mrs. Pleasant is again saddened by the passing of one of her most respected citizens, Mrs. Emma Regina (Barrier) Heilig was born Feb. 18th, 1868 and died March 10th, 1926, aged 58 years, and 22 days. She was a member of a family prominent in Eastern Cabarrus for many years, being a daughter of the late Daniel and Margaret Boger Barrier who reared a large family of sons and daughters that have reflected honor on the name and community. Four brothers and two sisters are deceased. One brother and three sisters survive—Mr. D. Barrier and Mesdames L. A. Lemtz, M. E. Welsh and M. C. Bowman.

On November 17th, 1886 Miss Barrier was married to Mr. Clarence G. Heilig, eldest son of the late Major Lawson G. Heilig. To them were born five daughters and one son—Mrs. J. C. McDow, Miss Bessie Boger Heilig, Mrs. Edgar D. Skinner, Miss Laura E. Heilig, Miss Emma Grace Heilig and Mr. Clarence Gilbert Heilig, Jr.

Mrs. Heilig was confirmed in early life in Holy Trinity Lutheran Church of which she remained a faithful member till death. She was a devoted wife and mother. Modest and unassuming, happy in ministering to her family and friends, always interested in everything that contributed to the welfare and betterment of the community, Mrs. Heilig set a noble example of Christian womanhood.

A semi-invalid for a number of years, Mrs. Heilig has been rather closely confined to her home. Despite her ailments, she directed the affairs of her household and bore her sufferings with admirable fortitude and patience. A good woman has gone from among us. Requiescat in pace. M.

GROCERY CLERK TELLS EXPERIENCE. Says He Feels Like Stepping on the Gas Since Taking the HERB JUICE Treatment. "This medicine, HERB JUICE, certainly is the thing to make one feel peppy and full of life. Before I used it, I felt all rundown and had no energy at all. Each day I felt a little less like going to my work. It was evident that my system was all out of order and my blood was getting the poison instead of it being properly eliminated." R. L. Whitaker, Jr., popular grocery clerk, who resides at 603 East Lafayette street, Salisbury, N. C., enthusiastically gave the above facts to the HERB JUICE man very recently, and told in his own way just what he thought of HERB JUICE. Continuing, Mr. Whitaker said: "I did not know at first what was causing all my trouble. I had no appetite, and what I ate disagreed with me. I was constipated most all the time, and it is clear to me now that constipation was the seat of all my trouble. When I bought my first bottle of HERB JUICE I was a bit doubtful about the results, but soon I found that I need not worry, for I began to improve immediately and its continued use shows that I got hold of the right medicine. I feel fine and dandy and never have an ache or pain. I feel like stepping on the gas since I have used this splendid medicine. HERB JUICE has so thoroughly cleansed my system and improved my condition so much in every respect that I see no reason why I should ever again feel as I did before using it. If I do, I will know just what to take to put me on my feet. In my opinion, it is the best medicine on the market and I never lose an opportunity to recommend it to others."
