FOUR IN DAVIDSON HURT IN STORM

Victims of Auto Mishaps Are Treated in Hospitals.—Telephone Lines Are Badly Damaged.

Lexington, March 16.—A summing up of damage caused by the two unusually heavy March snows of last week shows that four people received treatment from injuries in automobile accidents, at least three others were reported injured in another collision, while telephone lines were broken from which recovery has not yet been made.

Miss Maggie Weaver was struck Saturday by an automobile driven by J. C. Steel, of Raleigh, the accident occurring in a blinding storm of snow. Late in the day on the slippery highway north of the city a bus bound in from Greensboro was sideswiped by a moving van from Gastonia and Bain Leonard and V. A. Candell, of High Point, and a third man reported named Ryerly, received painful injuries, but none were believed serious.

Officials here have not yet learned the extent of damage done Thursday morning between here and Thompsville when a hearse, thought to have belonged to a negro undertaker of High Point, was in head-on collision with an Essex sedan. It was at first reported that three received fatal injuries, but investigation by officers of the county and Thompsville indicated this report was greatly exaggerated.

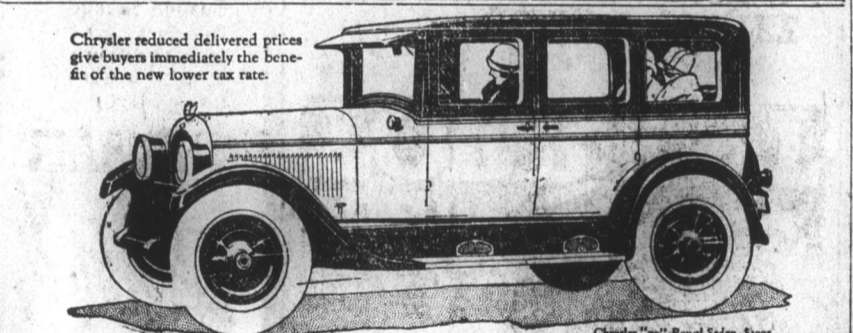

Telephone concerns have not yet fully recovered from the wire breakage they suffered when the wet snow of Thursday gathered on the lines to such an extent that it caused them to snap in many places. Ten out of twelve circuits out of Lexington are reported to have gone out of commission, but these have now mostly been repaired. Saturday's snow did not cause similar trouble, though the fall was a heavy one, due to a stiff gale that kept the flakes blown off the wires. Reports from the rural districts are that the local telephone lines in the several communities are almost wholly out of commission. In many places the poles were pulled up, while breakage of the wires is said to have been general over most of the county.

Middle Georgia Peach Crop Damaged About 50 Per Cent.

Fort Valley, Ga., March 16.—Revised estimates by growers place the damage to the middle Georgia peach crop from the recent cold wave at about 50 per cent of promised production. Several days will elapse, however, before definite statistics can be compiled. The Georgia peach growers exchange has sent experts into the orchards to check the loss. Growers generally declared there was little if any damage to the crop from last night's heavy frost. Frost was the prospect in the peach belt again tonight.
