finished her last scene in the Paint-ed Desert and would be available for "Trish Luck." Then began a race against time.

Lois had to ride 75 miles by motor across the desert to the nearest rail-road station, then by train to California, where she hurriedly packed her studio trunk and gathered together a few belongings for the trip. Hurrying eastward on the Sante Fe Limited, she paused in New York only long enough to complete her wardrope, on a hurried Fifth Avenue choppings trip, then she boarded the Rowan Bloodhounds Used Twice Sunday.

Saiisbury Post.
Deputy Sheriff L. D. H. Brown, of Granite Quarry, was called to Montgomery county yesterday with his bloodhounds to trail suspected burners of a vacant residence on a farm in that county. The dogs took the trail up and followed it quite a distance, halting at a saw-mill where a number of men are employed. However, no arrests were made and while the officers have their suspicious as to the origin of the fire, it was said that probably no arrest would be made.

Later Mr. Brown was summoned to the Corinth church neighborhood, in Rowan, where a home had been entered and here the dogs got a trail and followed it for a distance, but at last accounts no arrests had been made in this case.

Don't say it—gland secre-tions change all conditions

This is to people who are ageing long before their time. To ailing people who lack vim and strength. To the millions who are under par.

A way has been found to stimulate the liver. The only way. It is found that drugs don't do that. But ox gall does. That is a liver secretion. It is bringing to countless people such results as nothing else has brought.

Torpid liver causes many of our troubles. That means scant bile. Then toxins form in the intestines. Those poisons permeate the blood and cause such results as these:

Indigestion Heart and the contraction of the contraction of the contraction of the contraction.

Medical men for generations have thought that cathartics made the liver active. Now we know they don't. No drug can stimulate the liver active. Now we know they don't. No drug can stimulate the liver. The results that we sought were impossible.

But gland study has developed this fact: Ox-gall, a gland secretion, does stimulate the liver. Eyery clinical test has proved that.
It does far more than we ever thought drugs would do. It is bringing to millions of people new life and new hope which they despaired of getting.

Now ox-gall is supplied in tablet form. The name is Dioxol, and all druggists have it. Each tablet contains 10 drops of purified ox-gall.

We ask you to learn what it does.

Lady Says She Took Cardui and Never Saw Such Improveent-Was So Weak Couldn't Stand.

Weathersby, Miss.—Mrs. James M. Hall, of this place, writes that she Cardui, the woman's tonic was "getting weaker all the time" when Cardul, the woman's tonic, was first brought to her attention.

After she had taken Cardul a while,
she writes that she "never did see such an improvement."
"I suffered all the time and had pains all over," says Mrs. Hall, "I was so weak I could not stand. My slidh was cold and flabby. I did not have any color. I had sliways been a very active woman—used to outdoor exercise, walking and going where I pleased, and to get down, not able to get myself a drink, was indeed a hardship.
"Nothing seemed to help me, till I began on Cardul. The first bottle seemed to strengthen me, and I sent for five more. By the time I had taken these, I was on my feet, going around, doing my work, gained in health and strength.
"I took two more bottles, and I am well and strong. Can work my sarden. I haven't had any more stokness."
