IRATE WOMAN ATTACKS MAN IN DIVORCE SUIT

Amazed Crowd Stares as Furious Female Boxes Jaw of Husband's Witness.
Greensboro, April 12.—While a crowd of court attendants stood pop-eyed, Mrs. Sadie Cecil, with her open hand soundly boxed the jaws of Victor Vail in the lobby of Guilford Superior Court room today. He is chief witness for her husband, Gurney Vail, who is seeking divorce on the ground of infidelity. The three are residents of High Point.
Vail had testified in High Point Municipal Court against the woman and ordered postponed a while, the woman called Vail out the courtroom, attacked his veracity and announced what she was going to do —and did it. The man did not resist as she papped his cheeks several times, the noise sounding like pistol shooting.
Deputy Sheriff Russell Dalas dashed up and caught the woman and told her she was behaving in an unseemly manner. Vick rubbed his face and said he would get a warrant for the woman, charging as sault on him.

GET PERMANENT VALUES.

Statesville Daily.
A representative of a Baltimore company, in Hendersonville and Asheville, recently in connection with a loan to a develop company, passed out some sound advice with reference to the real estate boom in that section, as quoted by the Asheville Times. As the advice is in some measure applicable to any section of the state that is promoting development, a part of it is quoted here:
"Quit worrying about the tourists!
Bring into western North Carolina some more new and permanent industries and a few thousand or so more year-round residents. Take advantage of your industrial opportunities.
Then you may rest assured of the kind of development which goes to make permanent progress."
"But you've got to hold your land values in check. They are getting too high. If you don't look out you're going to bust and fall flat. An active real estate market is all right but a bodily inflated market is dangerous.
Look what happened in Florida. Roger Babson says that any man who doesn't know that real estate speculation in Florida is now dead is himself dead—from the nose up. Inflated values did it.

"Western North Carolina doesn't have to depend upon its climate and scenery and the tourists they draw.
Quit bothering about the tourists and quit trying to sell them land at prices you know are too high.
"Draw new industries to the section. Pull for the permanent residents. Develop your industrial resources instead of pumping up the real estate market. The latter may fall flat, but a solid industrial foundation is the proper basis for development and progress.
"I'm not saying to let the tourist traffic go. Nobody's going to take away your climate and your scenery from you. They'll stay and as long as they are here, the tourists will continue to pour in. But instead of expending your energies on attracting the summer visitors and boosting land values, get busy and start the industrial ball a-rolling." That is simply a repetition of what people who take thought know. But the inflation of land values and boosting sales is likely to cloud the real condition, as it did in Florida, as it will do anywhere where people lose their heads in speculation. It is permanent residents and industries that make the real values. The western North Carolina climate and scenery are a valuable asset, just as Florida has a valuable asset in climate and fruits and vegetables. But of course the climate and scenery will be available along with enterprises that furnish a living for permanent residents.

Without the latter there can be resort developments only. These are necessary, but there is a limit to the resort business. "Develop industrial resources instead of pumping up the real estate market," advises the Baltimore man. The development of industrial resources, whether it be manufacturing, dairying, fruit growing, cattle and poultry, or what not, will pump up the real estate market and the advance will be solid when there is sound basis for it to rest upon.
In Paris there lives a certain M.
Duvivier, who spends his days tasting water. So delicate is his palate that he can tell at once from what part of France, almost from what spring, the water has come. Also he can say when miners are present and, approximately, in what quanti-

EVANGELIST JOHNSON BEGINS SERIES OF MEETINGS

Evangelistic Campaign at St. Johns Reformed Church, Kannapolis, Opens Up in Full Swing.
The evangelistic campaign that opened up in St. Johns Reformed Church, Kannapolis, Friday night, April 9th, is attracting an enlarging circle of attendants. The Sunday services were all well attended, but the main auditorium of the church was filled for the Sunday night service.
Evangelist Johnson spoke Sunday morning on the "Power of Prayer," and based his remarks on Jeremiah 33:3, "Call unto me, and I will answer thee, and will show thee great things, and difficult, which thou know-est not."
Mr. Johnson said in part: "Prayer is the chain by which we pull down the power and blessing of heaven upon ourselves and these around us.
The measure of earnest, intense, believing prayer on the part of church members will be the measure of blessing in the life of the church, and through them, to the community round about. James 4:2, Ye have not because ye ask not. The church has every kind of machinery conceivable until you can hear it speak when we try to work it, but it does not have enough of the power of the Holy Ghost to pray down conviction on lost souls. We know that God answers prayer as certainly as we know water quenches thirst and food satisfies hunger. Paul and Silas didn't have influence enough to keep out of jail, but they had power enough to shake the earth with their prayers.
The great Welsh revival was started through Evans Roberts, a young minister, who prayed every morning from 1 to 5 o'clock. The result of that revival brought more than 100,000 souls into saving relation with God.
If we expect to have our prayers answered we must live such lives that will make it possible for us to tune with heaven."
At the afternoon service, Mr. Johnson spoke on "Carnal and Spiritual Christians." He based his remarks upon 1 Corinthians 3:1-7. The speaker urged the people to "cast all their cares upon Him, for He cared for you." One of the marks of a spiritual Christian is expressed in Galatians 6:1, "Brethren, if a man be overtaken in any trespass, ye who are spiritual, restore such a one in the spirit of gentleness; looking to thyself, lest thou also be tempted."

PROF. J. B. THOMAS

Who is leading the music in the Johnson Campaign at St. John's Reformed Church, Kannapolis.

The speaker told of a shoemaker who had a sign, "I work below, but live above," thus saying that his shop was in the basement of his home. We work below but should live in the atmosphere of heaven. We become spiritual by obeying Romans 12: 1, "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, to present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy acceptable to God, which is your reasonable service."

At the night service Mr. Johnson spoke on "Why Our Prayers Are Not Answered," and based his message on Isaiah 58:1, 2, "Behold, Jehovah's hand is not shortened, that it cannot save; neither his ear heavy, that it cannot hear; but your iniquities have separated between you and your God, and your sins have hid his face from you, so that he will not hear." The speaker said in part: "God can answer our prayers. If we can send a message from Washington to Paris by wireless in one-seven hundredth of a minute God can hear our prayers. Psalm 66:18, If I regard iniquity in my heart, the Lord will not hear me."
"Malice will also prevent our prayers from being answered. If we have covetousness in our hearts, our prayers will not be answered. Some of us do not have our prayers answered because we do not pray in the name of Jesus, or in earnestness. They are not answered if we lack the community. The entire situation was of the people signified their willingness to make prayer lists in connection with the campaign.

One of the attractive features of the meetings is the inspiring music which is being led by Mr. Thomas.
Miss Killian met with the young people on Sunday evening and is already winning her way into their hearts.
On Sunday night the Presbyterian Church called in their service and the pastor and a number of the people attended the service. There were also representatives there from a number of the other churches of the town and surrounding country.
Monday was rest day for the party but there is a special service today after school for the young people.
Mr. Johnson will speak tonight at 7:30. The public is invited to all services.

McGill Street Revival.

In some respects this is the greatest revival the McGill Street Baptist Church has experienced in several years, not perhaps in the number of additions to the membership to date, yet there have been many additions.
The meetings have been largely attended by interested people of all classes. But the large number of young people who have attended all the services give promise of great results in the way of consecration and valuable religious service for the future.
There were seven additions to the church membership Sunday and five Monday night. The meeting continued for several nights yet and baptism will be administered next Sunday night.

Dr. Whitley is a great gospel preacher and he brings out the deep things of the Bible in a simple and charming manner. He cannot remain many days longer and we are anxious for all the people to get the benefit of his messages while he is with us. Please do not let the showers keep you away. The male quarter is expected to sing again tonight and there will also be a solo by Miss Edna Crouch. PASTOR.

Wild Stories.

It is a pity that wild and harmful stories get about through the press without the least investigation as to their truth. It is damaging to a community to bear the odium these stories convey though it is entirely innocent of any wrong. Recently the town of Shelby has suffered unjustly in this way. An Italian ice cream vendor named Tony Porcelli, was accused of burning a Bible given to his little daughter in her Sunday school and also with maltreating the child, causing her to limp in her tender years. Severe criticism was visited on Shelby because a delegation who visited Tony ordered him to leave town. Tony is a Catholic, and when he asked his tormentors what he must do to be permitted to live in town, was answered, "Join a Christian church." The impression was made that the Italian gathered up his belongings and left the community. The Shelby Star explains the whole business and shows that a mountain was made of a molehill.
Three or four citizens went to Tony as individuals and reminded him of the reported burning of the Bible and the mistreatment of his child. One man is said to have advised Tony to "Join a Christian church," and from this remark criticism was made of the intolerance and bigotry will live here in the community. The entire situation was an exaggeration of the grossest kind, probably inspired by some careless and irresponsible writer who was more eager to make a sensation than to tell the truth. Of course the visit to the Italian by the individuals was saddled on the Ku Klux Klan, which members of that order flatly repudiate. The thoughtful element of Shelby was not even interested in the incident and had no part nor lot in it. But truth travels slowly while falsehood goes on the wings of the wind, and thousands of people will probably never hear the correct statement of the case and Shelby will suffer for the folly of a few imprudent citizens. The Star winds up the story by saying: "As for the incident, it is closed, and Tony will live here in peace, serving many happy and hungry children with his ice cream." of a real estate boom. A thousand such booms are on either side of the track, from New York all the way to Seattle, have prosperity. We have tens of thousands of acres, terraced to prevent erosion ready for the cotton that will clothe the world, and stretched out mile after mile across the country you see metal spider webs, mounted on steel stilts, power lines that carry energy to mills, innumerable enormous, completely modern, that mean work and prosperity for every town and city. The south no longer manufactures cotton to provide labor and profit for mills in the north. It grows the cotton, makes the ottoncloths, ships the finished product and keeps the money here.

Northerners know their own cold corner of the earth. And perhaps little about California and Florida, thanks to advertising. They do not know that all this southern country is most beautiful, climate mild, soil fertile, people hospitable, homes and opportunity is here for 115,000,000 more Americans. Here is no monotony, valleys, hills, forests, by past and everything in the distance, you see the mountains, waiting for perfect flying machines to bring population to their summits.

Post and Flagg's Cotton Letter.

New York, April 12.—The fact that the market has so few friends is gradually gaining friends for it and that is rendered easier by the general character of crop and weather news which is being received as well by the failure of the long predicted spot pressure to materialize.
Support, however, is neither sufficiently general or vigorous to carry prices up an any extent but there is enough demand to maintain a generally steady tone.
In some quarters signs are appearing of a revival of activity in the goods market. If that occurs mills will be forced into the spot market again to renew their supplies. The controlling influence, however, promises to be the progress of the new crops. If that is to be satisfactory a change to clear warm weather is essential at once.
