

SOCIETY

Baptist Seniors Entertain.
The Senior Department of the First Baptist Sunday school held a reception Friday night at the church. The members of this department, with a large number of invited friends, were charmingly entertained on this occasion.

The social rooms of the church were beautifully decorated, and those attending were cordially welcomed upon entering the rooms.

Miss Louise Austin had charge of the program, and she arranged a series of novel and unique games, puzzles, tests and "stunts" that kept everybody guessing as to what would be next.

A very comical feature was an impromptu debate, the query being: "Resolved that a Smoking Chimney is a Greater Nuisance than a Fussy Wife." Those participating in the debate were Messrs. Luther Barnhardt, S. D. Perry, Homer Bollinger and Mr. Trueblood.

A very pleasing number on the program was the rendition of two vocal solos by Miss Mary Smith, accompanied by Miss Helen Smith, teachers in Scotia College.

Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the program of entertainment.

Those present were: Misses Virginia Isehour, Bernice Talbert, Lillie Talbert, Cornelia Bruton, Ophelia Bruton, Mary Medlin, Maggie Snyder, Frances Tarleton, Jamie Collett, Letha Martin, Lola Bruton, Mildred Bailey, Virginia Bailey, Zana Stroupe, Mattie Lee, Cooley, Nora Ferris, Elizabeth Ballard, Vera Moore, Ruth Honeycutt, Edna Varner, Louise Austin, Mary Smith, Helen Smith, Letha Snyder, Elizabeth Walker, Dot Norman, Gladys Swink, Marie Barnhardt, Ollie Moore, Laura Thurman, Maud Goodman, Halley Bailey, Mrs. Homer Bollinger, and Mrs. Trueblood; and Messrs. Wesley Walker, Jack Ballard, Hiram Caton, Melvin Sumrow, Willard Blackweider, B. W. Hupp, Luther Barnhardt, Fred Agee, Olin Shinn, Boyd Cox, E. S. Snead, David Blackweider, Len Brafford, H. L. McCain, Grady Brafford, Charles Sapp, Sidney A. Perry, H. B. Bollinger and Mr. Trueblood.

Friday Afternoon Book Club Meets.
The Friday Afternoon Book Club had a delightful meeting with Mrs. J. F. Dayvault Friday afternoon. The house was attractively decorated with spring flowers.

Mrs. F. C. Niblock was in charge of the program, but having developed a case of spring fever, she waived the regular program and turned the meeting into a symposium on "Flowers." Each member at roll call gave an item of interest about flowers. They many beautiful poems and prose selections in appreciation of flowers were read by various members. At the last Mrs. J. G. Parks gave a vivid description of Magnolia Gardens which she visited recently. She expressed the wish that these beautiful gardens might be made the background for a moving picture romance, so that millions might enjoy the reproduction of their loveliness.

After the program the hostess's attractive daughter, Elizabeth, served a delicious salad course with coffee and sweets.

Legion Auxiliary Meeting.
Members of the American Legion Auxiliary will meet Monday night at 8 o'clock with Mrs. W. M. Sherrill at her home on North Spring street.

Miss Creighton Here.
Miss Martha Creighton, district home demonstration agent, is the guest here today of Miss Cooley, county home demonstration agent.

Miss Creighton came to Concord today to attend a meeting of members of the girls' clubs of the county, at which meeting certificates will be awarded to members of the clubs who have completed their prescribed courses.

The certificates are to be presented at a meeting held at the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon.

The Duke Flowers.
From the O. M. Page of the Charlotte Observer.

One doesn't have to go to Charleston to see beautiful flowers," said a man of Myers Park. "All you want to do is to walk, or ride out to the Duke estate and see the most beautiful sight you can imagine."

"Against a background of as beautiful grass as you can imagine, is a wilderness of color in tulips, jonquils, lilies, blue bells, and other flowers that bloom and all vying with each other in beauty and glory of color. It is worth coming from afar to see the beautiful place and its wealth and glory of flowers."

WHAT'S SMART IN MEN'S WEAR

The few "exclusives" hard put to it to keep ahead of "the many"

A NOTED stylist the other day gave a definition of style as "the effort of the few to wear something different from the many, and the effort of the many to catch up with the few."

The job of the few who would be exclusive is becoming more and more difficult all the time. A few years back when new styles originated, usually among the young men of the dressy English "army set," they would be copied later by the London tailors who supply wealthy civilians. Then American tailors would get hold of them a season later, and a few of the new styles would be seen along Fifth Avenue. From there they would gradually spread over the country.

But now, things are different. Large American clothing manufacturers like Hart Schaffner & Marx have style observers on the ground, and have arrangements whereby patterns of new styles which appear in London or at the famous watering places on the Continent are immediately brought to America.

Those which appear suitable are immediately made available to alert men, in all parts of the country who are interested in style, so that the many, if they wish, may be right on the heels of the few all the time.

Young men in America look to college men for style leadership. College men this spring are going in strongly for the new Blairgowrie tweeds and Eton flannels, in silver gray, cedarwood and tan—the fabrics and colors which are in greatest vogue this season in London.

College men's preferences are made available in the same way, so that college styles, of which the accompanying illustration is typical, are being generally worn by young men everywhere.

Problem in Punctuation.
The following verse headed "Sounds Foolish, But Is It?" was clipped from the Hoosier Motorist. But it isn't as foolish as it reads because, when properly punctuated, it ceases to be a masterpiece of nonsense and reads sensibly.

A funny little man told this to me I fell in a snowdrift in June said he I went to a ball game out in the sea I saw a jelly fish float up a tree I stirred my milk with a cup of tea I stirred my milk with a big brass key

I opened my door and my bearded knee I beg your pardon for this said he

A funny little man told this to me: "I fell in a snowdrift. In June," he said he, "I went to a ball game. Out in the sea I saw a jelly fish float. Up in a tree I found some gum. In a cup of tea I stirred my milk. With a big brass key I opened my door. On my bearded knee I beg your pardon for this," said he.

Johnny played hooky from school one day and on the following morning was quite worried as to how to square himself with his teacher when he decided to write a note of excuse, signing his mother's name, which was as follows:

"Dear teacher please excuse Johnny for bean absent. I tor my pants. Yours truly,

Mrs. Jones.

YOUTH WANDERS IN BED CLOTHES

David Philemon, Mind Dazed, Roams Country in Pajamas.

Shelby, April 16.—David Philemon, ministerial student of Boiling Springs, high school and author of several pamphlets of poems, roamed in a dazed condition from the school early Wednesday morning and was found about day-light near Beam Mill in his night clothes. Squire Sylvanus Gardner and a Mr. Ledford discovered him along the road and noticing his mental condition, brought him to Shelby, where he was placed in the care of Sheriff Logan. Philemon is said to be a junior at the high school and a native of Union county.

About 1 o'clock Wednesday morning he left his room in his night clothes and went to the home of the Boiling Springs pastor, Rev. John Green. After calling Mr. Green to the door he told him that he had received a call as a missionary to the foreign fields and must be on his way. Mr. Green asked him to return to his room and dress, promising to meet him there as soon as he (Green) could dress. When Mr. Green reported at the room he found that the young student had not returned but had left the community walking.

Neighbors were summoned and hunting parties formed to make a search in every direction. Early in the morning Gus Jolly and Mr. Hamrick reported that they had tracked his bare feet in this direction. Soon after their arrival in town they learned that the dazed student had been located near Beams Mill and brought to Shelby. Officers say he had regained his mental faculties to some extent and that he will be dismissed in a day or so.

Johnson Meetings at Kannapolis.
The "Bob" Johnson Evangelistic Campaign at St. John's Reformed Church, Kannapolis, is attracting larger crowds and considerable interest is being manifested in the services.

Mr. Johnson bases his messages upon the Bible and they are most spiritual and practical. He appeals to the hearts of his hearers and urges them to act upon their best judgment after they have thought matters through. His campaign is well organized and the results of his ministry for 25 years have been of a permanent nature.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse B. Thomas have already sung themselves into the hearts of the people. They are especially attracting large numbers of children. More than 150 children have already joined their "Children's Booster Choir."

Miss Killian is a most consecrated and faithful worker. Her messages on "How to Do Personal Work" are attracting considerable interest and the people enjoy them very much. She is proving a blessing to the young people of the community.

On Saturday afternoon there will be a special young peoples' service. The public is invited to attend it Saturday at 7:30 p. m. the Children's Booster Chorus will sing for the older people. The people cannot afford to miss this service.

Mr. Johnson will speak at 11 a. m. Sunday in St. John's Reformed Church. At 3 p. m. he will speak in the Y. M. C. A. to me only (boys under 14 not admitted) on the subject "Sowing and Reaping." Miss Killian will speak in St. John's Reformed Church at the same hour to the women and girls on "Mary of Bethany." The general public should hear these messages. Let the men go to the "Y" and the women to the church.

A great service will be held in the church at 7:30 p. m. Sunday. Two special services have been arranged for Monday evening at 7:30. Mr. Johnson will speak to the women and girls in the church auditorium. Miss Killian will speak to the men in the Sunday School room of the church. The Kannapolis band (one of the best in the state) has consented to meet in front of the Mary Ella Hall, and after playing several selections, lead the march up to the church. Come, get in the crowd and the women will be in the church auditorium and the men in the Sunday school room.

On Friday night, April 16th, we had a large service. In addition to a great crowd of regular worshippers, the Patriotic Order Sons of America attended in a body and there were nearly a hundred of them in line.

The people of this entire community should take advantage of the opportunity to hear this great evangelist.

An elephant does not reach maturity until it is forty years of age, and it may live for over a century. Darwin calculated that after a period of 750 years, if breeding were not interfered with, there would be nineteen million elephants alive descended from a single pair.
