

Dinner Stories

A certain rather irritable superintendent, visiting a school, was worried by the noise of the scholars in the next room. At length, unable to bear the uproar any longer, he opened the door and burst upon the class. Seeing one girl taller than the others talking a great deal, he caught her by the arm, hustled her to the next room, and pushed her in a chair, saying, "Now sit there and be quiet!" Ten minutes later a small head appeared round and door and a meek little voice said: "Please, sir, you've got our teacher!"

Harding—Why don't you tell people you are a good mechanic? Murphy—Yes, and have my neighbors forever wanting me to come over and tinker with their cars? Well, I guess not.

Pa Not at Home. Harry—If I try to kiss you, will you call your father? Carrie—Yes, but he's not at home.

Nothing Much to Eat. "Father, give me some money for an evening dress!" "Where is the one you had?" "A moth has eaten it!"

Quick, Watson, the Puff! The young wife was about to undergo an operation for appendicitis and was naturally a trifle nervous. "Tracy, dear," she said to her husband, "I want you to stand right by the doctor during the operation, and hold my vanity case." "But, darling," he protested, "that can't do any good." "Oh, it can't, eh? Suppose my appendix comes out shiny?"

Fixing It. "Come on over to dinner tonight," invited Archie. "I've asked some of the gang and there will be fifteen of us." "That's unlucky," objected Reggie. "Better invite one more." "There won't be room. You needn't come, I guess."

Cleverly Disguised. (From Philadelphia Evening Ledger) Later, he told the police he was Teddy Dorn, 42, of Newark, N. J. Police said he was a wife and two children.

YOUNG LABOR WORKER HELD UNDER BIG BOND

Charged With Inciting to Riot and Numerous Other Offenses in Passaic, N. J., April 17.—A multiplicity of charges of inciting to riot, hostility to the government and conspiracy tonight confronted Albert Weisbord, youthful strike organizer. Released in $25,000 bail from Patterson jail, pending trial on four such indictments, he was rearrested and taken to Garfield where Police Judge Richard J. Baker sent him to the Bergen county jail at Hackensack in default of $25,000 bail on a complaint of inciting to riot. He was held in his own recognizance on a charge of conspiracy and destruction of property.

The charge of inciting to riot grew out of a speech made by Weisbord at Belmont Park, Garfield, on April 9, in which the authorities accused him of saying: "No goals will be allowed to enter the mills. You must meet them on the streets or at their homes or on trolleys and buses, and handle them as you know how." Efforts of Weisbord's attorneys to have the amount of bail reduced failed. Judge Baker said that he felt that whether or not a crime had been committed the matter should be investigated by the grand jury. "We can not have continued and deliberate attempts to intimidate people and destroy property," he said. "To put an end to this I feel it necessary to hold the defendant in $25,000 bail."

Chronicler Tells Speed of Baseball Being Thrown. New York, April 17.—Speed, always factor in major league baseball, this year has been put to new tests in the training camps through introduction of a chronometer to time the flight of the thrown ball. It was found that six-tenths of a second were required by catchers to throw to second base, while the same time was consumed to shoot the sphere from first to third base. Shortstops took five-tenths of a second to throw to first base and second basemen required four-tenths to send the ball to the same bag.

The flight of a fast ball from the pitcher's slab to the catcher was three-tenths of a second. The Queen of the Belgians is one of the best dressed of the royal workmen of Europe. She chooses her clothes with great taste, and wears them in a way that is the admiration of even the great dressmakers in Paris.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTERS

All Is Out of Joint to the Eyes of Menckel.

BY CHARLES P. STEWART NEA Service Writer Washington, April 17.—"Free speech is safe; it pays," H. L. Menckel told me, in a talk I had with him, at his home in Baltimore. Indications are that he's going to have a chance to test this theory thoroughly. He's won the first round of his "Hatrack" fight but there may prove to be a good many more to come.

The post office department has barred his "American Mercury" from the mails. Now, the post office court of law, state or federal, it's pretty much a law unto itself. Menckel, personally, is just like his magazine. He's a nice chap to meet, he's extremely interesting and he's hospitable and polite, but his conversation is one unintermitted rant of the entire universe—not a single good thing in it, according to H. L.

If he ever does say a good word for anything, it invariably is preliminary to some qualification which makes it the reverse. To illustrate: In this interview he gave to me, this country, he observed, is the most wonderful place on earth for making plenty of money easily. Sounds complimentary to the country, what? Well, wait. "Mind you," he added, "I think all this prosperity will blow up presently, but it will last my time."

Anna Williams, Whose Profile is Stamped on Silver Dollars, Passes. Philadelphia, April 17.—Miss Anna W. Williams, retired public school teacher, whose profile is the "goodness of liberty" is stamped on the silver dollar, died at her home today. She was 68.

Miss Williams' hip was broken last December and she had been confined to her bed ever since. Death was due to apoplexy. She had lived with her niece, Miss Catherine C. Williams, since her retirement in 1924. Miss Williams was principal of the girls school at the house of refuge here when she was chosen in 1878 to be the model for the goddess on the silver dollar. Her profile was considered the most perfect that could be found at the time. Only upon condition that her identity should not be revealed would Miss Williams consent to have her likeness stamped upon the new silver dollar the treasury had decided to mint.

Five Room Cottage Stolen. Knoxville, Tenn., April 17.—Horse thieves have been hanged in Texas, love pirates have been slain by irate husbands, but it remained for Nashville to unearth a house thief. O. H. Kennedy, John Oman and G. L. Kennedy were made defendants in a chancery court suit, charged with having wrongfully made off with a whole five-room cottage. They were accused of having removed the house to another part of the city. An injunction was granted J. W. Draughon, complainant, preventing the alleged "cottage bandits" from disposing of the property.
