BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
 Bible thoughts memorized will prove a precious heritage in after years.

MORE HTAN CONQUERS—All things work together for good to them that love God. If God be for us, who can be against us? Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword? Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us.—Romans 8:28, 31, 35, 37.

LOCAL DEMOCRACY UNITED.
 It was evident from the harmony at the county Democratic convention Saturday that the local Democracy is united.

Better still, the precinct leaders seemed agreed on the more important matters presented to them, such as the selection of a chairman of the executive committee, C. A. Isonhour was unanimously elected, his protest that he could not serve falling on deaf ears. And his change of mind when he saw the committee members were backing him so earnestly, speaks well for the party. Mr. Isonhour did not want the job but he takes it in the interest of the party.

We contend that the present officials in Cabarrus county have served the people well. They have given Cabarrus a sane, economical, administration. They have shown favor to none, they have been courteous to all and efficiency has marked their efforts. We feel certain the majority of the voters in Cabarrus county want the party to remain in power.

Republicans insist that they have more voters in the county than they have Democrats and that it's a question of getting them out. We do not agree with this contention. Cabarrus county is a Democratic county and the Democrats are in power now because they have the most voters. It is going to remain thus, despite the apparent optimism expressed by the Republicans.

A united Democracy can bring victory any time in Cabarrus county and we repeat, the Democracy is now united. The Democrats are interested and they are going to elect their officers this Fall with a majority even larger than that of two years ago.

IS CURTAILMENT A NECESSITY NOW?

Cotton mills in various parts of North and South Carolina are on short time now. Some of the mills are running only four days in the week, while others are standing only a single day.

At their meeting in Spartanburg several days ago the manufacturers agreed that curtailment might prove a rather serious situation later. That, so far as we can learn, is the reason for the curtailed program. We do not mean that business is so good with all of the mills that they can afford to run. To be sure some mills are without business at present, but just the same as a general thing business now is not so light that the mills need to curtail.

Only a few days ago we talked with a South Carolina manufacturer whose plant is standing two days a week. Business with his mill is good at present and the first three months were described as "very good." He is on short time because it is the consensus of opinion that business will get very dull later if the mills do not halt now in their operations.

And cotton prices seem to make the manufacturers very uncertain about the future. If there is another big crop, and present indications are that there will be, then cotton will be cheaper. The jobber knows this and he is unwilling to buy in the face of almost certain lower prices later.

Cabarrus county seems certain of furnishing next Superior Court Judge for the fifteenth district. Judge John M. Oglesby will enter the primary without opposition among the Democrats and it is reported that H. S. Williams of the Concord bar, has been named as the Republican nominee to oppose Judge Oglesby. That gives the county the judgeship. Mr. Williams has been the nominee for various offices, so he should know how to take his defeat good-naturedly in the Fall. While it is true that he was elected to the State Legislature, he has been offered for Congress without success, and too, he has been defeated for the legislature. So we say, he should know how to take defeat in fine fashion now. We do not believe there is any man in the district, Republican or Democrat, who can defeat Judge Oglesby.

GIRLS OUGHT TO DANCE
MRS. MEYERS ASSERTS

Nothing Wrong With Modern Dance But Way Girls Hold Themselves.
 St. Louis, April 27.—"It is not only right for girls to dance; they ought to dance," Mrs. Louis G. Meyers, girl scout commissioner of Manhattan, New York, declared at the closing session of the 12th national girl scout convention here. So thorough were the delegates in accord with Mrs. Meyers' opinion that dancing for girls was expressly approved by the council.
 "Dancing is an expression of happiness and vitality," Mrs. Meyers continued. "It is a desire that dates from the old biblical days. My only complaint against the fopper is that she doesn't hold herself well. And if our girls are required to stand and walk properly before they win the dancer's merit badge, we will over come one of the chief faults of the girl of the present generation."
 The girls who win the dancer's badge will be obliged to stand and walk correctly, to curtsy and to do the waltz and one-step as well as the simple folk dances, Mrs. Meyers said. She did not mention the Charleston and fox-trot.

DUNCAN GETS LEASE ON MAYVIEW MANOR

New York and Miami Hotel Man Will Operate Blowing Rock. Hesterly This Summer.
 Lenoir, April 27.—Henry S. Duncan, of New York and Miami, has leased Mayview Manor at Blowing Rock for this season, according to an announcement given out by J. H. Beall and T. H. Coffey, receivers. The lease was signed last night and Mr. Duncan will begin on plans for opening sometime about May 20. Mayview Manor is one of the biggest resort hotels in the south and the receivers feel that they have been fortunate in securing a hotel man of Mr. Duncan's caliber for this season. At present Mr. Duncan operates a chain of a dozen or more big hotels including the Continental, New York, The Hotelon, Miami, Royal Palm, St. Petersburg, the Bankhead, Birmingham and others.

Mark Spot Where Priests Taught God to Indians

Tallahassee, Fla., April 26.—(AP)—A bronze tablet now marks the spot where nearly three hundred years ago Franciscan priests taught the word of God among warring Indians. It is located near New Smyrna, Fla.
 There the priests taught Indian boys and girls their catechism, baptized them, received their confessions, married them and officiated at the last rites for the dead. An old Spanish document, found some time ago, revealed a communication from the Franciscans to the king of Spain, asking for certain implements. Hoes, particularly, were sought, "which," the letter read, "are the most essential for the making of the 'entradas' which have to be made, and the erection of houses and temples in the Indian villages."

"I understand that your boy Josh is interested in perpetual motion."
 "Yes," replied Farmer Hawbuck, "and I'm kinder discouraged about it. I thought for a while that the only thing Josh was interested in was perpetual rest."
 "Dadon my bringing your bill so car," apologized the youthful doctor to an elderly patient, "but you know how hard it is to get money out of one's heirs."

Knut—Do you remember Miss Smith?
 Hazel—No, I can't say I do.
 Knut—Oh, you must remember her. She was the plainest girl in the village. But I forgot—that was after you left.

"Proper Food and Exercise," by ARTHUR A. MCGOVERN
 Former physical director, Cornell Medical College

Exercise an aid in preserving beauty

SURPLUS ENERGY ESSENTIAL FOR SOCIALLY ACTIVE

If you had the wealth of a Croesus at your command, but were not feeling very "fit," how would you go about winning new strength and health? You might call in the best physicians in all the land and they would tell you that there was nothing really wrong with you. There was nothing that they could do and that you must effect the change yourself, through your own efforts. And if your lassitude is the result of unused muscles and physical laziness, that prescription holds good for you whether you are a factory worker, a typist or an heirless.

People who move in a constant round of social activities, just as do those who work all day, find that they must conserve their strength if they are to stand the strain successfully. You must have resistance to dance into the wee, small hours of the morning and feel fresh upon arising. You must have enough vitality to recover your buoyancy in short order.

The secret of vitality such as this is the possession of perfectly functioning organs, combined with well-developed muscles and a good supply of rich blood and fresh air. Each of these factors is absolutely essential to the whole. You cannot be healthy if one of them is missing.

Daily exercise of the proper sort is indispensable to keeping "fit." You quickly realize this when you have to do anything particularly strenuous. You become tired very easily, practically any effort seems to exhaust you. It takes you a very long time to regain your complete efficiency. These are signs of a lack of reserve energy.

My twenty years of experience in treating people physically below par has taught me by practical experience that a lazy intestine is the underlying reason for most sicknesses, both physical and mental.

Women in particular are sufferers from this distressing malady. No woman can be attractive or retain her beauty who is suffering from faulty elimination. It is said that twenty-five million Americans have the laxative habit, but taking laxatives as a remedy for constipation is seldom advisable. It is an emergency method which, if constantly repeated, will aggravate instead of improving the condition.

A real cure is a combination of correct diet, regularity, normal habits and exercise.

My chart of twelve exercises is too lengthy to be put in a short article, but I will send it free to any of my readers who will send me a self-addressed stamped envelope.

A "Keep Well" Diet

BREAKFAST: Fruit such as oranges, cherries, currants, grapefruit, prunes, apricots, etc. Cooked cereal served plain or with cream. Toasted whole wheat or graham bread, corn or bran muffins with butter. Cup of cocoa or chocolate or coffee substitute. Two glasses of water between breakfast and lunch.

LUNCHEON: Glass of buttermilk, fernillac or sweet milk. Any fruit, vegetable or mixed salad. Bran, whole wheat or brown bread with butter. Rice, tapioca or farina pudding. Take two glasses of water between lunch and dinner.

DINNER: Small portion of soup such as bean, tomato or vegetable. Broiled meat, chicken or fish. Two green vegetables—cabbage, peas, onions, carrots, beet tops, lima beans, cauliflower, and one starchy food such as rice macaroni, noodles, potatoes, hominy. A lettuce or vegetable salad, French dressing. For dessert stewed fruit, berries or fruit pudding. Weak tea or a coffee substitute.

200 WILMINGTON NEGROES FLEECED BY "LABOR AGENT"

Negroes Rush to Buy Tickets to Cleveland, O., at $3 Each—Were Put Off Train.
 Wilmington, April 25.—More than 200 negroes who bought through passing railroad tickets from Wilmington to Cleveland, O., for $3.00 each, were put off a Seaboard passenger train at Navassa this afternoon and returned to the city. The police are tonight looking for the visiting ticket agent.

The agent worked the black belt of the city quietly but very effectively. In fact one negro said he fought to get to the spot occupied by the agent, fearing that the supply of tickets would be exhausted before he could secure one.

The visitor told the men they would be employed as iron workers in Cleveland at wages of a $1.00 an hour; that work was plentiful and that his interests had 500 vacant houses waiting for occupants. He was to provide them with meals on the trip, this money to come out of their first wages.

The gullibility of the "suckers" was vividly shown when they followed his instructions to the letter in leaving town. Knowing they would not get through the station gates with the bogus tickets the agent requested that they all buy tickets to Navassa in order to prevent his being arrested as a labor agent.

Why Girls Go Back Home
 CATHARINE BRODY

"Why Girls Go Back Home" with Patsy Ruth Miller is a Warner production from this novel.

SYNOPSIS
 Marie Downey, a country girl as innocent as pretty, misinterprets Clifford Dudley's kiss as a proposal, and in defending his reputation informs her chorus mates she is his fiancee. This leads to the papers and Clifford, who is a man-ner idol, ruthlessly "frames" Marie. The story gets to her home town, causing great scandal. John, her former sweetheart, unwilling to believe what he reads, announces he is going to New York. His enraged father says, "If you go, don't come back!"

Mr. Ross strode out of the room. His wife sat, regarding her only son with eyes which overflowed. Her brain was busy working, working. To do her justice, it was not so much upon Marie at the moment as upon her son, to keep her with him.

"You understand, mother," John turned to her in anguish, mistaking her silence for sympathy. "You don't believe these things about her. It's not fair without giving her a chance to explain. Mayn't it be some mistake?"

"I don't know," said Mrs. Ross slowly and considerably. "Will you—are you going to marry her?"

"Yes!"

"Do you think," went on Mrs. Ross softly, "that she'll have you?"

At his start of misery and wounded vanity his mother could have bitten her tongue out. But she was glad she had said it just the same. She looked at him firmly and continued:

"I only want you to realize, John, that even if she's innocent now, she would undoubtedly mean less than nothing to her. But the concluding lines were devoid of hurt, vanity and uneasiness.

"I do not believe or care what anyone says about you, so long as you want her to come to you, and so long as you care for me even a little. If you do, write to me at once, please, dear, dear Marie, and I will come and get you wherever you are, and we will be married."

"JOHN."

ran away with an actor and left you without a word. I only want you to remember that."

It was true, thought John, as he walked up to his room, beaten and miserable. He knew everything about her but that. What had made her do that? It was unexplained. Did she love Clifford Dudley? But she had said she loved him, too, only the very day before she ran away; she had said that. If that could not be explained, then perhaps they were all right; perhaps something worse and thoughtless and conscienceless had been in her all the time. His vanity, too, rose to his defense, and caution warned him. Suppose he went to New York, gave up his father, mother, everything, and she was really the heartless hussy she seemed to be, and suppose she would not see him and could not listen to him.

"All the same," he said again inwardly, "I'll go to New York." But this time, he added, "If—If she wants me."

Therefore, on this day, from Winesville, two letters went to Miss Marie Downey in New York.

One read:

"Dear Marie:
 "The scandal has broken me all up. Even if you're innocent it would be a great mistake to come home, for you are disgraced here, and no one would have anything to do with you."
 "YOUR UNEASY FATHER."

The second covered five pages of the letterhead of the Ross Department Store. It was scrawled and criss-crossed. It said that she was heartless and remembered nothing in one paragraph and begged her to remember and have a heart in the next. It told her, in wounding detail, if not with literary skill, how she had hurt someone who loved her so dearly and for so long, who would always love her and wanted only to be of use to her, even if he had to give up everything for her sake. And the next paragraph, beginning with "A lot you care!" informed her that this

DECLINE TO INDORSE "OVERMAN CANDIDACY"

Durham Democrats V to Censure E. J. Bly's Resolution For Sake of Party Harmony.
 Durham, April 24.—Senator Overman failed to get endorsement of the Durham county Democrats for a return to the United States Senate at the County convention, not that the majority did not seem to favor just that, but refusal was on the ground of party harmony, since there are two Democrats in the field. S. C.

Browley, candidate for representation, opposed E. J. Bly's resolution on that ground and the resolution was lost.

A resolution endorsing the administration of Governor McLean and other state officers was adopted, the opposition being harmonious and enthusiastic.

Glands need gland help. Try these effects

Modern medicine, more and more, is using gland secretion. One of the latest is ox-gall, which comes from the liver and which stimulates the liver.

For generations we have thought that drugs could do that, so we took cathartics. Now we know that drugs do not. We know that ox-gall does.

That discovery has changed the treatment for torpid livers. Physicians the world over now prescribe ox-gall. And we are getting results we never knew before.

A torpid liver causes countless troubles—perhaps most of the troubles we suffer. It means scant bile. That means that toxins form in the intestines, and they enter the blood. Those poisons cause troubles like these:

Indigestion Heart and Kidney Troubles
 Constipation Irritable Bowels
 High Blood Pressure Bad Sleep Habits
 Lack of Youth

Now ox-gall is used to remedy those troubles. It does what drugs can't do. Results start in 24 hours. To countless people this new discovery is bringing priceless help.

Now ox-gall in its finest form is embodied in a tablet. The name is Dioxol. All druggists supply it. Each tablet contains 10 drops of purified ox-gall.

We ask you to learn what it does. Your trouble may be simple, it may be complex. Let us show you what an active liver does.

"Clip this advertisement, take it to our special agent, Pearl Drug Co., and they will give you a liberal sample of Dioxol free."

NOSE CLOGGED FROM A COLD OR CATARRH

Apply Cream in Nostrils To Open Up Air Passages.

Ah! What relief! Your clogged nostrils open right up, the air passages of your head are clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, sniffling, mucous discharge, headache, dryness—no struggling for breath, at night, your stuff is gone.

Don't stay cuffed up! Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Ely's Cream Balm is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer has been seeking. It's just splendid!
