YOUR Y. M. C. A.
That the Concord Young Men's Christian Association belongs to every one in Concord to a greater extent than any other association in the South belongs to any other citizenry is a fact we believe.

The Concord association is unique in that every one can enjoy its privileges. In most cities the facilities of a Y are open only to the members.

More than 300,000 persons, we are told, visited the Y. M. C. A. here during the past year. We do not mean, of course, that 300,000 different persons used the association's equipment, but it means that more than 300,000 visits were made to the Y by Concord people.

Every form of wholesome amusement is offered at the Y, and at the same time there is a Christian atmosphere that cannot be denied. During the past year the association secretaries organized "Our Sunday Gang," designed to create among the younger boys of Concord a keener interest in Church attendance.

That the Y is a community center is a fact that cannot be discounted. There is no other central meeting place; there is no other agency within the city that is used by such a variety of interests. The dining room of the Y is constantly in use; its kitchen equipment, its tables and chairs and other equipment are borrowed by every other organization in the city.

PROHIBITION AS A MONEY SAVER

Prof. Irving Fisher, of Yale, one of the great economists in the country, figures that prohibition has saved the country six billion dollars annually since the adoption of the eighteenth amendment. The national income in 1919, he says, was 66 billion dollars. At least two-thirds of the nation's wages and profits were produced in the wet areas, or more than 33 billions.

"This double gain, that through the transfer of energy and that through the increase of energy are together, therefore, over six billions—without counting any savings in the cost of jails, almshouses, asylums, etc., or any economic savings from reducing the death rate."

As proof of this increase, Prof. Fisher turns to the facts of our earnings. He finds that the "real" wages of labor per hour, after making all due allowances for changes in the purchasing power of the dollar, increased over 36 per cent. between 1919 and 1925; "also that most of this sudden improvement came immediately after prohibition."

"Personally," said Prof. Fisher, "I am inclined to believe that prohibition has saved and added much more than the six billions which I have estimated as a safe minimum." He therefore comes to the conclusion that "if prohibition enforcement cost us a billion a year, it would be well worthwhile purely as an economic investment."

OUR Y. M. C. A. SECTION TODAY

The Tribune today prints a six-page section showing the activities of Concord's Young Men's Christian Association, one of the very best and most active Associations in the whole country. The many activities of Mr. Blanks and his live secretaries, Messrs. Denay and Johnston, make the "Y" indeed a "map of busy life," and a thoroughly wholesome life at that.

"Did you enjoy the bachelor dinner last night, dear?"
"Oh, yes; rather slow affair, though."
"And who were the bachelors named Mazie and Beatrice who wrote their names on your shirt bosom?"

"Strayed—One Jersey heifer. To the one who returns her, I will give a drink of Four Rose whiskey, ten years old."

The next morning there were nine men with Jersey heifers standing in the yard.

CONFERENCE OVER THE HAUGEN FARM BILL

Pou and Bulwinkle Lead Opposition; Overman, Kerr and Abernethy For It. Jonathan Danie's in Raleigh News & Observer. Washington, May 8.—No Democrat can consistently vote for a bill which is based on high tariff legislation, Representatives E. W. Pou and A. L. Bulwinkle told members of the North Carolina delegation last night at an executive conference on the Haugen farm relief bill.

Representative Pou and Representative Bulwinkle pointed out that one of the main purposes of the bill is "to protect domestic markets against world prices and assure the maximum benefits of the tariff upon agricultural commodities."

The meeting last night was marked by vigorous opposition and support of the measure which has been unanimously endorsed by a flood of telegrams from back home. With Pou and Bulwinkle leading the fight against the measure, Representatives John H. Kerr and C. L. Abernethy and Senator Lee S. Overman led the talk in support of it. Pou and Bulwinkle called attention to a provision of the bill which gives the President the extraordinary power, once a surplus in a basis agricultural commodity has been declared, to issue a proclamation making it "unlawful to import into the United States any such commodity, derivative or substitute, except under such regulations and subject to such limitations as the President may prescribe."

These two features and the equalization fee provision were the three points around which discussion chiefly centered. Advocates of the bill insisted that the equalization fee might never have to be collected, as price stabilization would be secured during the two years before it goes into effect. Opponents of the measure predicted revolution among the farmers of North Carolina when they are required to pay a fee of from $5 to $30 a bale on every bale sold.

Even the advocates of the bill today were considering amendments to eliminate or postpone the collection of the equalization fee. One plan is to add an amendment making it three years instead of two before the fee plan is put into effect. Another plan is to eliminate it altogether and provide funds completely from the Federal treasury.

Today following the meeting the delegation was widely split on the measure. Only Pou and Bulwinkle were definitely counted in opposition to the bill. Overman, Abernethy, Kerr, Hammer, Lyon and Weaver were definitely counted for it. Warren stated that the disliked several provisions of the bill and was still studying it. Doughton declared he was "agonizing" over it. Senator Simmons was believed to be opposed to certain provision of the bill. Maj. Steidman was not committed to either camp.

"Vest Pocket" Motors May Set New Speedway Record. Indianapolis, May 10.—(AP)—Great as was the speed of the eight-cylinder motor cars which competed last year in the 500-mile automobile race here, the velocity of the pistons and superchargers of the new "vest-pocket" engines which will be used in the Memorial Day race will be greater.

Motors in cars which compete May 31 must have a piston displacement not greater than 91-1.2 cubic inches. The first race in 1911 was for motors of 631 cubic inches or under. Engines built for the approaching race will be only about two-thirds as large as the smallest engine in use in America in commercial or passenger automobiles.

Engineers of these machines say the crank shafts will revolve at a maximum of 7,000 times a minute, as against 5,500 revolutions for the engines used last year. The superchargers are expected to attain 20,000 revolutions while the crank

He will say: "You don't need a divorce. You are not my wife." That statement is quoted from the reply filed by Meyer after Muriel's petition had been placed before the court.

The contentions on both sides of the case, which is being followed with the deepest interest by all New York, are these: "I am the common-law wife of David L. Meyer. I met him in New York in 1924 and went to live with him. While in Paris he said to me: 'You are my darling wife.' That new wish to break the common-law bonds which connect me with Mr. Meyer and hence open the suit for divorce. I ask for $2,000 a month temporary alimony, $5,000 costs and $2,500 expenses."

Meyer's reply to the suit flatly denies the statement made in Muriel's petition. It says: "The plaintiff is not the common-law wife of Mr. Meyer and cannot receive a divorce from a man to whom she never has been married. Mr. Meyer admits he is acquainted with the plaintiff."
