Gay Scarf to Accent the Tailored Note

By Marie Belmont

The vogue or navy blue comes as a sedative after the continued popularity of high colors. Yet many women, not willing to relinquish the becomingness of the higher shades, are delighted to add a scarf of brilliant silk to a tailored costume of navy.

Light tan is the background of the scarf illustrated. Over its surface is printed a design of red, green, orange, and blue and violet. The scarf is knotted at the side of the throat and ripples gently down one side of a plain navy frock, taking care to have the rather large silk kerchief match.

JOINT PICNIC

Charlotte and Concord War Mothers Enjoy Picnic at Rocky River.

One of the most delightful events of the season, was the War Mothers picnic given by the Charlotte and Concord chapters War Mothers, Friday afternoon at Rocky River Church. A large number of mothers from both chapters were present to enjoy the outing on the beautiful grove of historic Rocky River. Through the kindness of the church authorities the mothers were permitted to go over the church, where much of historical interest was found.

At six-thirty o'clock under the beautiful oaks a long table was arranged and a most elegant lunch was spread in true picnic style, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present, in fact the occasion proved so delightful that it was unanimously decided to make the Charlotte-Concord War Mothers' Picnic an annual affair.

LEARN TO SWIM NEXT WEEK AT Y. M. C. A.

Classes will start Monday Morning—Everybody Invited.—No Charges.

Under the direction of J. W. Denney, Physical Director, the Y. M. C. A. "Learn to Swim" campaign will be started with the first of the regular classes on Monday morning. This movement is entirely a local one and much credit is due officials of the "Y" for initiating a plan through which everybody who wants to may learn the art of swimming in a very short time and under expert direction, without cost to themselves.

Schedule cards are obtainable at the Y. M. C. A. and everyone who expects to join one of the classes is requested to secure a card and fill it out for the director. In this manner the times best suited to the individual can be arranged from clearness of perception.

"We guarantee to teach anybody to swim who will attend the full course of six lessons," said Mr. Denney this morning. "At the end of that time they will be able to take care of themselves in any ordinary swimming pool or lake."

The first half hour of every class period will be devoted to instruction in the rudiments of swimming. Everybody in Concord and vicinity is invited to take the courses of instruction.

"Grown Up Party."

One of the most attractive children's parties ever given in Concord was the reception given Louise Parks Friday afternoon at her home on South Union street. Mrs. J. G. Parks gave the reception in honor of Louise's ninth birthday anniversary, and a number of friends called during the afternoon.

The home was beautifully decorated in many summer flowers, forming a bright background for the little girls in their "young lady" dresses, and picture hats. Each one wearing a miniature corsage, as young ladies usually do.

The guests were greeted at the front door by Nancy Dayvault, and Jane Ivey, who received the birthday gifts, which were later displayed in the music room.

Carolina Ivey introduced the callers to the receiving line composed of Louise Parks, the little hostess, Huldrow Hill and guest, Adeline Lindeberger, of Shelby, Elizabeth Odell, and Betty Gay Coltrane. Ellis Weddington invited the guests into the dining room, where delicious cake, ices, and candies were served by Lucy Howard, Martha Means, Eleanor Wallace, Dorothy Weddington, and Mary Dell Long.

Helen Grady Parks received at the door of the music room and invited the guests in there, where refreshing punch was served. Mariam Cannon and Esther Brown presided at the punch bowl.

Delightful music was rendered during the afternoon by Millicent Ward, at the piano, and Elizabeth Parks at the Edison. Ellis Weddington sang several solos, in her usual sweet manner.

After the receiving line was broken, the young ladies formed a grand march, so the costumes could be voted on. Elizabeth Odell, and Betty Gay Coltrane were voted as wearing the prettiest outfits.

The guests then shed their grown-up clothes, and manners and enjoyed themselves playing games on the lawn.

Miss Alexander Entertains.

Miss Nettie Sue Alexander entertained a number of young folks at her father's home, T. Neal Alexander, Saturday night, June 5th. Many games were played after which the hostess served ice cream and cake.

Paris Style Hints

By ALICE LANGELEIER,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Paris, June 12.—If coming fashions cast their shadows before, the summer silhouette is giving a pretty good idea of what will be worn when the leaves begin to fall.

The predominating sky-scraper silhouette promises to give way to a particular flare, generally in the form of a kind of peplum at the hips. It is appearing in all kinds of fabrics, very often invisibly stiffened at the lower edge. It is of course most frequent in saffeta which lends itself so readily to graceful flaring. A flaring hip on a new hite dinner-gown is trimmed with bands of pearls, the rippling movement here achieving the maximum of grace. It is equally as lovely on a blue serge daytime dress trimmed with red leather.

Another way of flaring the silhouette is by means of the introduction of narrow ruffles, pleated, circular, plain or gathered. One smart couturier uses a side drapery which also makes the flare and uses a pleated ruffle around the hem-line and up the side of the frock to meet the drape. Another makes whole skirts of the ruffles or uses them in groups of two, three, or four around the bottom of the skirts, at the hips and to decorate plain sleeves.

A movement that is making a charming silhouette is the skirt drapey concentrated in front. The bloused waist worn with the straight skirt is another variation of the straight silhouette which will be remarked in the autumn. One dressmaker adds an unusual twist putting the blousing waist with a full skirt, the skirt being touched flat to below the hip-line. To complete the line there are bell-shaped sleeves gathered into narrow cuffs.

Louis E. Timson, a young shoe manufacturer of Lynn, Mass., is in training for an attempt to swim the English Channel this summer. Last winter Timson, distinguished himself by several long-distance swimming feats in Florida waters.
