MOTORISTS MUST SECURE LICENSE PLATES AT ONCE

Chief L. A. Talbirt Says Motorists Who Do Not Have City License Plates Monday Will Be Arrested. Motorists of Concord must secure their city license plates at once and have them on their cars by Monday, June 6th, or they will be summoned into court, L. A. Talbirt, chief of police, said today. "Tomorrow will be the first of June and the motorists of Concord have had one month in which to get their city license plates. We will give them until Monday to get the plates and put them on their machines or they will be summoned to court," Chief Talbirt said. The police officers will be instructed to summon all those who do not have the new plates on their cars, Chief Talbirt said. The plates may be secured from Charles N. Fields, city tax collector. Mr. Fields said today that a large number have secured their tags to date but that there are still many who had not done so. The price of the tag is $1 and the tags have been on sale since May 1st. "Nine hundred and fourteen city license plates have been sold up to noon today," Mr. Fields said. "There were approximately 1,000 plates issued during last year and those who had last year's plate must secure a new one and those who have not had a plate must get one at once."

C. J. MAUNEY DIES AT ALBEMARLE OF ACUTE INDIGESTION

Was Leading Druggist There and Formerly Had Made His Home in Cabarrus County. A message received here Monday by Mrs. J. L. Crowell announced the sudden death at Albemarle of C. Junius Mauney. Mr. Mauney was a leading druggist there, and about 30 years ago held a position here with the Marsh Drug Co. His death was caused by acute indigestion. He complained some during the afternoon of feeling unwell and went to his home for supper, and was taken very ill and died in a few minutes. He had been in extremely good health. He was a native of Stanly county, a graduate of Trinity College, and had been in the drug business in Albemarle for over 25 years. He was about 55 years old and leaves his wife, who before her marriage was Miss Margie Atkins. They have no children. Funeral arrangements have not yet been announced. A strange coincidence is that only a few months ago D. C. Klutz, who had been connected with the same drug store for about 20 years, died suddenly.

D. C. OFFICERS HOLD NEGRO WANTED HERE ON MURDER CHARGE

Chief L. A. Talbirt Will Probably Go to Washington Tomorrow For Negro Wanted on Old Charge. Chief of Police L. A. Talbirt has received a telegram from Washington, D. C., stating that police of the Capitol City are holding a negro said to be James Bye, or Byers, alias Fred Pinkney, wanted here on a charge of murder. Chief Talbirt wired Chief of Detectives Pratt that he would come to Washington Wednesday for the negro if Byers could be turned over to him as soon as he arrives. The Washington police are to wire an answer and Chief Talbirt will leave for Washington as soon as he learns whether the negro will agree to return without requisition proceedings. Byers, according to Chief Talbirt, is charged with the murder of Cephus Stafford, another negro, of Concord. It is charged that he shot Stafford on November 9, 1925, after the two negroes had quarrelled at Franklin Mill. Byers is said to have gone to his home after the quarrel, secured his gun and returned to the mill, where the tragedy occurred.

LARGE AUDIENCE ENJOYS PLAY AT CHAUTAUQUA HERE

"The Patsy" Scores a Great Success Monday Night—Miss Newton as Patricia Won the Audience. TUESDAY PROGRAM 3:30 p. m.—Grand concert by Casford Concert Company. 8:00 p. m.—Concert by Casford Concert Company; lecture-entertainment—"Uncle Sam's Samoan Islanders" by Werahiko Rawel.

Several hundred Concord people Monday night enjoyed one of the feature programs of the Redpath Chautauqua, "The Patsy." A witty, sparkling Broadway comedy by Barry Connors, the three hilarious acts of the play kept the large audience in a continuous uproar of laughter. "The Patsy" not only embraced comedy but pathos, and romance. Possessing great charm, and in the words of the modern fapper, "a cute girl," Miss Evelyn Newton as Patricia Harrington won the sympathy of her audience in her difficult life in the Harrington home and her battle to win the man she loved—Tony Anderson. The latter role was played by Nat H. Wade. The efforts of the entire company were splendid. Other members of the cast included: Miss Violet Whitworth as Mrs. Harrington; A. T. Stork as Mr. Harrington, the grocery salesman; R. Forrest Lewis as Billy Caldwell; Miss Frances Shepherd as Grace Harrington.

The play, in brief, centered about the Harrington household, always in the channels of domestic tribulations, and poor Patricia was given the most of the blame, and the rest was laid at the feet of Mr. Harrington. Grace Harrington wanted everything that Patricia owned, and desired. She even tried to win back her old sweetheart who had fallen in love with Patricia. But she lost. Patricia was too smart to lose the man she had sought to win for five years.

Hair Indicates Race and Sex

Hair betrays race, nationality, sex and age, declared Morris Bernstein, a student in the University of Chicago, in an address before the American Anthropological Association of Central United States. Bernstein has just completed a detailed study of human hair. The hair of the Italian differs in weight from that of the Irishman; and the hair of a young Irishman differs in weight from that of an old Irishman. The value of the information was considerable, asserted the speaker, because in the future hair as well as skulls can be taken into consideration when determining questions of anthropology. "Differences in hair weight are due to three causes," said Bernstein. "First, differences in quality of pigment; second, presence or absence of air bubbles; and third, differences of area of cross section, that is coarseness of hair. Sexual differences seem to be due to the difference in area of cross section."

Rally Day at Kerr Baptist Church

Rally day at Kerr Street Baptist church Sunday was a great success from every standpoint, despite the rain. The sum of $80 was contributed at the service by the congregation. A. C. Phifer preached a wonderful sermon on the subject, "Being Clothed With the Righteousness of God." Although a layman, Mr. Phifer is a splendid preacher, and very often is called upon to deliver messages at revival meetings. Sunday afternoon the B. Y. P. U. gave a special program which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. The Rev. P. W. Fry, of Oakboro, preached the sermon at the evening hour.

Manholes Do Stunts

In New York the other day two monkeys blew up. Mrs. Mildred Connelly was standing on one manhole cover; she was tossed 10 feet in the air and severely bruised as she landed unceremoniously on the pavement. Robert Craig was near another one when the blast ripped off the right side of his trousers, turned the pocket inside out and made away with a roll of $50 in bills. Craig made a bee-line for the tailor.

The schedule of the clinics will be announced at an early date. Uncharitability of Merchants. A Scotchman who was staying at a hotel in a small English town was out for a walk one day and the bracing air made him feel like smoking his daily pipe. As he didn't have a match with him he dropped into a cigar store and asked for a light. The clerk handed him a box of safety matches and said, "A half penny, please." "But I don't want a whole box of matches," said the Scotchman. "I just want a light." The clerk reached out a light for the Scotchman and said, "A half penny, please." "But I'll not pay for a light," said the indignant Scotchman, turning on his heel and walking out of the store. He went into another store and there he received the same kind of treatment. He couldn't get a light unless he paid for it. Again and again he tried to get a light for his cigar but nowhere could he get it for nothing. Finally he decided to give it up. "And do you know," the Scotchman told friends later, "I had to walk five miles back to my hotel before I could get a light."
