LOCAL ADVERTISING.

J. W. Firor, in The Progressive Farmer.

This is the age of selling. At the present time particular emphasis is not being given to buying. Farmers are ahead of other classes of people in knowing how to buy. They seem to be lagging behind other folk in knowledge of selling. Selling is an art obtained from study and practice. Advertising is an important part of all selling efforts. Note the manufacturers and commercial people advertising through the papers. It must pay or they would not do it year after year. Also note that special drives are started when the manufacturers become convinced that they must keep the demand up to their production. Recent advertising drives by automobile manufacturers is an illustration. Their production was running ahead of their sales, consequently the increase in advertising. Probably in no section of the country is there as great an opportunity for increasing sales of locally grown products as in the South. The potential demand for fruits, vegetables, flowers, meats, poultry products, eggs, homemade cakes, corn meal, plants and shrubbery has never been supplied. During recent years farmers have made the most diversified income and are learning the value of getting cash returns week after week, month after month. This need has brought about an attempt to sell the products produced locally to people living in nearby towns and cities. Personal solicitation was of course the first necessary step to get a line of customers. The curb markets were organized efforts to sell farm products. Splendid progress has been made in both instances. In those counties where such efforts have been under way for several years, the products feel as though they have reached their limit—that is they are now producing all that the demand will take. My observations show that even in the most outstanding instances, not over a half of the potential demand is being filled. The thing that needs to be done where local producers feel that they are overproducing for the local markets is to advertise their commodities.

Use the local papers for a systematic campaign. If possible get together on this effort. Use posters telling about what is for sale. Use circular letters direct to those who are not patronizing the producers. Use price as an inducement to get new customers. Follow this up with quality commodities and service. All in all remember the three elements of selling—quality, price, and service.

Olive Revival.

The Willie Laurel Olive revival continues to draw large crowds. About 4,500 people were present Sunday night. It was estimated that about 700 automobiles parked about the big gospel tent at the night service. Many out-of-town visitors were present, including Mr. and Mrs. R. Reynolds, of Southern Pines, an uncle and aunt of the evangelist. Many visitors were present from Henderson, Gastonia, Charlotte and many other places. The music and singing was enjoyed by the orchestra. Four pianists were present and played. The orchestra was led by Mr. Joe Phillips and Mr. J. Stans and Mr. Saunier, violinist from Albemarle.

Many wonderful testimonies were given by visitors, as well as by the evangelist. About 75 people at the

CONCORD "WEAVERS" OPEN 1927 SEASON HERE ON THURSDAY

Initial Tilt of Year Gets Under Way at 3 P. M. at the Gibson Mill Park.—Large Crowd Expected.

Preparatory to the opening tilt of the season with Statesville Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Gibson Mill Park, members of the Concord baseball club will work out this afternoon at 4 o'clock at Webb field. Several of the Concord crew had reported to the home fold during this morning, and others arrive either late today or early Thursday.

Practically all of the men of Skipper Lewellyn's outfit are in training, having already this season played either college or amateur baseball. The rehearsal this afternoon will be devoted largely to ironing out the few defects in the new machine.

The local club has been dubbed "Weavers," judges Monday night reaching a decision in the name contest. "Weavers" is the suggestion of the Rev. C. Herman Trueblood, pastor of the First Baptist church, and to him goes the prize of five dollars offered by the baseball association for a title.

The name, "Weavers," according to the judges, describes the textile manufacturing industry that thrives in Cabarrus county. And it was upon this basis that it was accepted as a cognomen for Manly Lewellyn's team.

The initial battle tomorrow will attract a large throng from all indications, as interest in baseball has tripled lately since the announcement of Lewellyn's roster of players. The admission will be 25 and 50 cents. "We hope that Concord citizens will be with us through the thick and thin of the battle," said Manager Lewellyn today. "We will do out best to give in return a real ball club, one which the town will be proud of."

Arthur Hord arrived at the Weaver headquarters this morning, and states that he is in the proverbial pink of condition. Hord, according to the family Bible, is 21 years of age, and comes from Kings Mountain. He is an infidel, the shortstop berth being his chosen position.

Hord was with the Mount Holly club last year, and enjoyed a splendid season, rapping the horsehide apple for a batting average of more than .300 and a bright fielding average. He is of medium stature, but he is heralded as "knowing his baseball."

Andy Ferguson, another Mount Holly product, comes to town Thursday morning. Ferguson is a pitcher, and one of the hardest working moundmen in the game. He hunkles with the right hand. Ferguson is no stranger in this section of the world, already being well acquainted with Concord fans. Kannapolis fans in all probability remember him well. He has pitched for the Concord club before.

A brother of Herman Watts, who will watch for the Weavers, has been signed by Manager Lewellyn. He hunkles with the left hand. He hunkles with the right hand. Ferguson is no stranger in this section of the world, already being well acquainted with Concord fans. Kannapolis fans in all probability remember him well. He has pitched for the Concord club before.

Walter W. Rowland, who is directing the singing at the services, is obtaining wonderful results from the choir. Mr. Rowland's song leadership is based on real musical intelligence, and the best training but also springs from splendid ability native to himself. His control of evangelistic tempo, now recognized and exemplified by Bitti Kofer, the great choir director of Chicago, Ill., with whom Mr. Rowland studied, is practically perfect.

The leader's pleasing personality and enthusiastic directing brings his choir to their full pitch of ability. The event Tuesday was one in which a superb choir was splendidly led, and all the anthems were thrilling, especially where the soprano obligato parts added their color and commanding tone.

REV. G. H. HENDRY HAS MANY AT THE KANNAPOLIS MEET

Minister Speaks on "The Woman Who Missed the Mark" Last Evening.—Music Led by N. J. Miles.

The best service thus far held was witnessed at the tent of the Hendry and Miles evangelistic party last evening in Kannapolis, with the tent nearly filled to capacity and a spirit of earnestness manifest, as evidenced by the large number who either took a definite stand for the Master, or signified their desire to walk in the good way.

Many have already rededicated their lives to a more definite and zealous service in God's kingdom and the power of their new resolve is already being felt in the community and in the services.

The cottage prayer meetings are a source of spiritual enrichment as evidenced by the reports coming in to the services at the tent. Approximately seventy-five people were in the cottage prayer meetings last evening.

Rev. G. H. Hendry used as his subject last evening, "The woman who missed the mark" and while the message was not one for women only, it was one of great power, pointing out many of the dangers and pitfalls that are continually spread to catch the unwary, and an open challenge to the Godly women to swing the world for Christ.

The work of the fine chorus choir, directed by N. J. Miles, is a feature of the service worthy of considerable mention. They are rendering a program of gospel music that in a great way prepares the hearts of both preacher and people for the gospel message. A rare treat was enjoyed last evening in hearing Mrs. D. A. McLaurin and Mrs. G. H. Hendry render as a special number "The Old Rugged Cross" with variations.

Cottage prayer meetings will be held this evening in the following homes at 7:15:

Mrs. Ida Hamilton, 843 North Poplar St. C. B. McCommas, leader.

Mrs. Birgman, 447 North Main St. C. E. Davis, leader.

Young people prayer meeting at the tent at 7:15. All who are not convenient to one of the group meetings are invited to meet with the young people at the tent for twenty minutes of prayer and consecration.

SLOT MACHINES AND PUNCH BOARDS MUST GO, AVERS SHERIFF

Sheriff Caldwell Warring Against the Operation of These Gambling and Lottery Machines—Gives Law

Several slot machines were ordered closed, and punchboards consigned to the trash heap by Sheriff R. V. Caldwell, Jr., Monday in Concord, Kannapolis and other parts of Cabarrus county. This was the inaugural step of the current movement to abolish such lottery or gaming devices in the county, held as a violation of the state laws.

"No more punchboards or slot machines," says the sheriff. "It is in violation of the state laws and this office will do its utmost to enforce the law. Fair warning is given. No cases were preferred against the proprietors where slot machines were closed or punchboards put out of commission Monday. But a second offense will write a different story."

The sheriff closed a player piano with its slot-machine attachment at the Carina Filling Station at Kannapolis, and also the "out of order" sign on chewing gum slot machines at Bell's Filling Station, Mt. Pleasant road, and at the store of Walter Barnhardt, on Church street. Punchboards were ordered abolished at several places of business.

A punishment by fine or imprisonment, in the discretion of the court, is imposed upon conviction of the violation of the Lottery and Gaming laws, as follows:

"Lotteries and gaming, general police regulations—Operation or possession of slot machine. Separate offenses. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to operate, keep in his possession or in the possession of any other person, firm or corporation, for the purpose of being operated, any slot machine that shall not produce for or give to the person who places coin or money, or the representative of either, the same return in market value each and every time such machine is operated by placing money or coin or the representative of either therein. Each time said machine is operated as aforesaid shall constitute a separate offense."

"Punchboards, vending machines, and other gambling devices. Separate offenses. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to operate or keep in his possession, or the possession of any other person, firm or corporation, for the purpose of being operated, any punch-board, machine for vending merchandise, or other gambling device, by whatsoever name known or called, that shall not produce for or give to the person operating, paying money or other things of value for the privilege of operating, playing or patronizing same, whether through himself or other, the same return in market value each and every time such punch-board, machine for vending merchandise, or other gambling device, by whatsoever name known or called, is operated, played, or patronized by the paying of money or other things of value therefor, shall constitute a separate violation of this section as to operation thereunder."

LINCOLN CHOR PRESENTS CONCERT AT LOCAL CHURCH

Combined Church Choirs of Lincolnton Sang Special Evangelistic Anthems at McKinon Church.

The visitors from Lincolnton, Albemarle, Kannapolis and Statesville, besides the people of Concord who attended the Long-Rowland meeting Tuesday evening, held at the McKinon Presbyterian Church, to hear the Lincolnton choir sing some special evangelistic anthems were more than highly pleased.

The Lincolnton choir is composed of members from the First Methodist, Presbyterian and Reformed churches, and is a musical organization of which Lincolnton and this section of the state should indeed be proud. The members are all highly talented musicians and their voices and interpretations blend and harmonize in such a remarkable way that it seems almost as if the choir was composed of one individual with a multiplicity of vocal organs.

The church was filled to overflowing, and those of Concord who failed to hear this rare musical treat missed something really worth while. The soprano obligato parts were sung by Miss Carita Edwards and Miss Ruby Padgett. A lovely solo was also rendered by Miss Padgett. The splendid piano accompaniment by Miss Jennie Staine and Mrs. Sifford added much to the success of the service. At the conclusion of the song service Rev. R. A. Swearingen, of Albemarle, invited the choir to come over and sing at Albemarle during the Long-Rowland meeting that is to be held there in September in a tabernacle to seat 4,000 and with a choir section to seat 500. He also invited all the people of Concord.

The choir is not merely a musical organization with the one thought of musical advancement but as they sing the songs of the Cross and of Christ, they sing from their hearts right into the hearts of their hearers, making their spiritual work even of more value than their musical ability. It is the wish of many of their friends that they continue their great work of singing the gospel so gloriously, and that their efforts will be crowned with success and blessing wherever they go.

CROWDS ATTEND LONG-ROWLAND SERVICES HERE

Statesville Minister Is Delivering Strong Messages.—W. W. Rowland Choir Director For Services.

A large congregation went to McKinon Church Tuesday to hear the sermon by Rev. Mr. Long, of Statesville, at the service of the visiting choir, from Lincolnton. Many people were turned away from the service, for lack of room. Among the visitors present were friends from Statesville, Lincolnton, Kannapolis, Albemarle and Mt. Pleasant.

The evangelist brought a soul searching message from the 10th chapter of Hebrews, which made a deep impression upon his hearers.

The revival is taking a strong hold upon the community and gives promise of a great blessing.

Children are attending the Daily Vacation Bible School in increasing numbers; about 125 were present today. It has been decided to discontinue the morning service, and evening services will begin in the future at 7:45 o'clock.

Walter W. Rowland, who is directing the singing at the services, is obtaining wonderful results from the choir. Mr. Rowland's song leadership is based on real musical intelligence, and the best training but also springs from splendid ability native to himself. ONE HOUR PARKING LIMIT STRAYS IN CITY FRIDAY A. M.

Signs Will Be Placed in the Zone Where One Hour Limit Is in Effect Beginning June 10th.

A one hour parking limit in the business district will go into effect Friday morning, June 10th. L. A. Talbirt, Chief of Police, announced this morning.

The one hour limit will be restricted to one section of the city. The district in which the parking limit will be enforced is between the intersection of Union Street and Depot Street, known as the Square, to the intersection of Union Street and Corbin Street.

"Signs will be put on the post on each side of the street to warn the motorist that the parking limit is for one hour only," Chief Talbirt said. "The district will thus be marked so motorists can see how long they may park," he added.

The one hour parking limit is to be enforced, Chief Talbirt said, in an effort to reduce the congestion of traffic, on that section of Union Street. It will also give the motorist, who desires to park his car to go shopping, an opportunity to find a parking place for the time necessary to make his purchases.

SALVAGE WORK AT LUTHERAN CHURCH PROGRESSING FAST

Already Roof and Much of Interior of Manse Have Been Torn Away.—Bell Taken From Tower.

Beginning last Monday morning the demolition of the old church and parsonage of the Saint James Lutheran, workmen have made great progress. Continued rapidity of salvaging the old buildings will find the site for the new church ready within the next three weeks.

Already the roof and much of the interior of the manse have been torn away. The stained glass windows and frames have been removed from the church as well as all of the decorative effects. The bell has been taken from the tower, and will be one of the many things which will be preserved in memory of the old church.

The church furniture, including the organ, has been removed to a warehouse for storage until completion of the new building. It will then be used to furnish certain parts of the large Sunday school quarters.
