Fall Out of Summer

To paraphrase the poet: When summer comes, can fall be far behind? Designer Toni Owen has fashioned this dress to be equally comfortable under September starlight or July parasol. The patio skirt is of Juilliard Featheroy (three ounces lighter than corduroy), with side zipper and buttoned waist band. Shepherd Knitwear makes the matching T shirt. The ensemble, chosen by Cosmopolitan magazine's Male-Tested Fashion Jury (Kirk Douglas, Robert Sterling and Louis Jourdan) comes in red caviar, taupe and gold. Its price—about $15 for skirt, $2.25 for shirt—leaves budget room for July juleps or autumn apple cider.

Smart Ashe County Horse To Be In Sparta Show

By Staff Writer
Now, about this trick horse named "Red," who is champing at his bits for a chance to show the Sparta horse show audience this Friday and Saturday, just how smart he is.

This intelligent, trim-looking teed is owned by Clayton Little and Millard Graybeal, of Jefferson. Red appears so smart and alert that when he peers at his trainer, Clayton, he seems to try to ask what the master wants him to do next.

When Clayton tells him to, Red is always willing to shake hands, roll over and play dead, play on a saw, or fly papers on a barrel—the things you use in the circus.

Red doesn't claim to be letter-perfect in all his tricks, nor is his bag of tricks unlimited. Clayton says that the reason for this is because Red has more brains and ambition than his master has time for training him. But the lack of time for training is not Red's fault and Clayton figures the horse deserves a chance to show off once a year.

Millard and Clayton bought the "smartest horse in Ashe county" from a farm near Max Meadows, Va., and they say that he was already well past the kindergarten stage when they made the purchase.

When in a lazy mood he likes to use his "pool hall stance," standing with one front leg dropped around the other in a nonchalant fashion. But Red is willing to snap to a more useful position if his master walks up and says, "Scratch my back, Red."

Mrs. Millard Graybeal has promised to give the horse an extra treat here on Saturday afternoon by riding him in one of the gaited classes. He is also scheduled to show off some of his tricks on
