25,000 FARMERS ATTEND MEETING

Kinston, Rock Mount, Farmville, and Vaseboro, among the last to bar their doors against co-operative marketing signed up warehouses with the Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association in last weeks campaign which was the most remarkable series of meetings ever attended by tobacco farmers in Eastern N. Carolina.
The enthusiasm of 25,000 farmers who attended over 30 crowded meetings in a dozen Eastern counties of the State, turned the campaign into a crusade. The crusade is rapidly developing into a landslide on which thousands of new growers and a number of warehouses have already come into the Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association.
"You will be able to raise more on your advance payment and to assignment of your tobacco than you have ever dreamed you could get out of tobacco," Aaron Sapiro told the thousands of farmers in Eastern Carolina who hailed him as the prophet of cooperative marketing in the five mammoth mass meetings which broke all records for attendance and filled theaters, warehouses and court houses to overflowing in Washington, New Bern, Farmville, Kinston and Goldsboro last week.
The California leader of Cooperative Marketing Associations who represents 500,000 organized farmers and 60 associations with annual business of four hundred million dollars, made the prophecy that tobacco farmers of North Carolina would be able to raise more from their advance payment and the main value of their participation recent than they got on their entire crop last year.
"Neither the outsider nor the insider would have gotten any decent prices for burley tobacco in Kentucky if the Association had not been organized this last year," said Sapiro. "I want to tell you that the growers in Kentucky the year preceding got an average of 8 to 11 cents a pound for burley tobacco. The growers in the association (in Kentucky) this year will average 25 cents a pound net" declared the little Californian who called those speculators who circulated signed and unsigned pamphlets against co-operative marketing but feared to meet him face with arguments against this movement of the farmers.
Speculators and warehousemen who were hostile to cooperative marketing, sat silent in meeting after meeting while Sapiro told the growers that no system could be worse than the auction sale of tobacco under which tobacco farmers have averaged only 83.40 a year income as compared to the income of $1,500 a year which our government states as necessary to maintain a decent standard of living for the average American family.
More than ten thousand farmers heard Sapiro during his five days tour of Eastern North Carolina. At least 10,000 other tobacco growers were present at meetings held in 28 other towns of the Eastern belt last week where five Kentucky leaders of the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative convinced the farmers beyond a doubt of the success of the Kentucky Burley Pool.
"The minute of the first payment of eight cents a pound was made to our Kentucky growers upon delivery of their tobacco the bankers came and begged to hold the participation receipts and paid eight cents more on them," said C. G. Marvin prominent stock raiser and tobacco grower of Lexington. Mr. Marvin told the North Carolina growers that the Kentucky members of the marketing association really got an average of 17 cents a pound immediately after their first deliveries because the banks were eager to advance them money on the security of their warehouse receipts which the Kentuckians call participation certificates. W. H. Shanks President of the Lincoln County National Bank told N. C. farmers in five counties that the participation receipts are considered the best security in Kentucky.

"Why one galled fellow to whom we wouldn't lend a nickel before, can come into our bank now and borrow hundreds of dollars on their participation receipts," said Mr. Shanks. Virgil Chapman attorney for the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association, Jno. O. Craddock a prominent warehouseman and John W. Blanks of Kentucky roused other thousands of Eastern Carolina growers to the need of increasing the present sign-up in the old North State from 60 to 90 per cent of all tobacco farmers and tobacco.
An intensive campaign is now being conducted in which growers, merchants and warehousemen are urged to aid in gaining new members for the Association.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. W. R. BLAYLOCK

On Saturday evening Dec. 17 1921, as the twilight shadows were gathered around in the home of Mr. W. R. Blaylock there were loved ones silently waiting around the bedside of his wife. They realized the hour was approaching when the Lord would call her home. The summons came at eight o'clock all mortal cares laid aside and ascended to her eternal home. For the past few years she had gradually grown weaker, only about four weeks previous to her death she had been confined to her bed. She was treated by very eminent physician and given the best attention by relatives and friends but nothing restored her health. Her afflictions were endured with unusual patience.
On entering her room you could not help observe her brilliant countenance. It was a great pleasure to her for her friends to call. Mrs. Blaylock had a sweet genial disposition and was much admired by her friends. She will be greatly missed by her friends. She was ever conscious of her condition and expressed her willingness to die after. She had no fear of death and prayed to die to be relieved. She conversed on this subject as if preparing to take a trip. What a sweet assurance to her over her departing, much sympathy is extended to them and may they strive to meet her in that beautiful home above. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. J. Hall and she was buried in the home burying ground.
We shall sleep but not forever. There shall be a glorious dawn. We shall meet to part no more. On that resurrection morn.
— A friend.

DEATH OF MR. AMOS ADCOCK

Died at the home of my father Feb. 23, 1922, and buried at Surf, the 23rd, funeral preached by Elder J. J. Hall. He is greatly missed by his people and friends, for he was the only uncle we had. But God saw fit to take him from us. He was 82 years old and served in the Civil war about 4 years. He joined the Primitive Baptist church at Surf 7 years ago and was a member at his death. He suffered for some time before his death, but he bore his sufferings patiently. He leaves to mourn his death 4 children and many relatives and friends.—E. H. Oakley.

IN MEMORY OF ONE WE LOVED

The death Angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson the 30 of May and took their dear little son, John Robert, who was in his seventh year. He budged on earth to bloom in Heaven. He was sick but a few days. We extend our deepest sympathy to the bereaved family and pray that they may realize the Eternal God is their refuge and underneath are His everlasting arms.

We had a little treasure once. He was our joy and pride. We loved him perhaps too well. For soon he slept and died. All is dark within our dwelling. Lonely are our hearts today. For this one we loved so dearly. Has forever passed away. His aunt—

TRAINING TO STAKES

Growing Vegetables and Flowers Upright Saves Space.

Better Results Are Obtained From Most Plants by Keeping Them Off the Ground.

A good supply of large and small stakes is not a bad guess for the cottage garden. There are some vegetables that will give better results by being trained to stakes than if allowed to spread out on the ground. Often this is not only better for the vegetables, but it saves the space for planting some other crop. The same is true of some flowering plants that otherwise might spread over several feet of space. Most plants look better when properly staked and kept pruned. Sun and plenty of air are necessary to almost any vegetable or flowering plant. Stakes can be used for several seasons if cared for after the growing season is over.

KEEP THE WEEDS OUT

Get After the Pests Before They Take Your Garden.

General Weeding Every Few Days Will Assure Grower's Garden to Be Proud Of.

"Keep the weeds out!" To have a garden, either vegetable or flower garden, it is necessary to not only keep the weeds out, but to kill them. Weeds absorb the life of the soil. They grow fast, and if allowed to get a start are hard to fight with any degree of success. Every cottage owner or occupant takes pride in his garden until he sees that it has been taken by the weeds. Then he loses interest and feels that it is not worth while. The best time to get the weeds and to keep them out of the garden is to
