SCHOOL NOTES

Teachers are to be employed for next session. It is of the greatest importance each committee get the best teacher, or teachers possible. No committee has a moral right to place incompetent teachers in charge of the training of boys and girls unless all efforts to get a strong teacher have failed. It is a shame that some of the one teacher schools where the strongest workers are needed, have only teachers with the lowest certificate. These small schools are entitled to the very best and it is the duty of the committee not to be satisfied with less. This can be done without extra cost to the county. Let it be stated once more that it does not cost Person county tax payers one cent more to pay a teacher, $100, per month than to pay $50 to a teacher holding a certificate of the same grade. The state says the difference out of what is called the state Equalization Fund. The state is glad to do this; that strong teachers may be placed in all our schools.

We are happy over the fine body of teachers in the Summer schools, and the excellent work being done. The committee and the public generally are invited to visit the school.

CHILDRENS DAY

Beautiful Observed at Brookside Church Sunday Night.

It was our pleasure to attend the night at Brookside M. E. Church. Childrens Day exercises last Sunday was the first time we had seen inside this beautiful church building, and we were delighted with it. There are few more beautiful or convenient church edifices to be found, and certainly we have never seen a superior in the country districts anywhere. Well may the members of this live church organization feel proud of their handiwork.

The program for this occasion consisted of 19 numbers, and each number showed the care which had been expended in drilling the young people. The exercises were worth while and too much credit can not be given those responsible for the entertainment. Mesdames J. C. Whedbee, Irving Brooks, Dora Jackson and Miss Banna Garrett. While he offering was being taken the pastor, Rev. J. C. Whedbee, sang a beautiful and appropriate solo. Rarely do you find so gifted a preacher who has such a soft musical voice. In fact, Brookside may well feel proud of their Pastor, for every one with whom he comes in contact loves him. After this solo Rev. B. C. Thompson ascended the rostrum and made a short, but very interesting talk.

We hear much in some sections of this County about hard times, but if we may judge from the appearance of this congregation, there are no hard times about Brookside, for you may travel many days journey and you will not find a more handsomely dressed audience than greeted one at this church last Sunday night. They are prosperous, and best of all, they are remembering their Master with the substance of their toll.

MISS JESSIE E. WILKERSON BECOMES BRIDE OF CLARENCE BOYD

Roxboro, June 11th.—Lee's Chapel Methodist church was the scene of a lovely wedding on Tuesday evening when Miss Jessie Wilkerson became the bride of Clarence L. Boyd, Rev. B. C. Thompson performed the ceremony.

Spruce pine and field daisies made an attractive and appropriate background, while arched gates with wedding bells suspended added the beauty of the effect.

Miss Hattie L. Hester presided at the piano and Mr. Jerry Warren, Dixon accompanied with the violin.

Mr. Young sang "O Promise Me" after which "Relive Me if All Those Enduring Young Chlams" and "Sweetest Story Ever Told" were dramatically rendered by Miss Hazel Thompson.

Messrs. L. T. Wagstaff, M. C. Whinstead, J. L. Hester and Edgar Newton were ushers.

The bridesmaids, Misses Esther Hope of Rocky Mount, Blanche Hester, Lucile Newton and Inez Boyd, were lovely in white and yellow organdy with hat to match and carried field daisies and fern.

The brides were a lovely costume of white satin with silver trimmings. Her veil was caught with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of orchids and sweet peas.

She entered on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. They were met at the altar by the groom with his best man, Mr. Bruce Davis of Dinville, Va. The ring ceremony was used.

The bride is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie E. Wilkerson. She was educated at N. C. C. W., and the Southern Conservatory of Music, and for two years has been successful as a teacher.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Boyd, and is a rising young tobaccoist. He was in service two and one-half years.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd left immediately after the ceremony for the mountains of western North Carolina where they will spend their honeymoon.

6,000 MORE SIGNERS

Six thousand new members—thirty million pounds more of tobacco, added to the Tri-State Pool of the Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association during the past three months prove the irresistible progress of the movement which now includes over 72,000 tobacco farmers of the Carolinas and Virginia.

The directors of this largest Co-operative Marketing Association in America, who are tobacco farmers elected by their fellow growers of tobacco, predict that this recent increase of members and pounds will be doubled before the warehouses open.

When 175 warehouses of the organized growers open their doors, those who have failed to sign the contract must trust their crop to the auction warehouses for another year, according to the directors.

The minority of growers in three States who are waiting to see what the auction system will do with their tobacco this year becomes smaller by hundreds every day.

Since thousands of Eastern Carolina growers heard the message of Aaron Sapiro and the doors of four big warehouse towns swung open in Eastern North Carolina the campaign has taken on new life.

Several Eastern North Carolina counties have now passed an 80 per cent sign-up and intense campaigning continues by warehousemen of the association to bring the average sign-up of the Eastern Carolina counties to more than 75 per cent of their production.

Celebrating the successful sign-up of 85 per cent of Surry county tobacco, thousands of farmers from six counties staged a mammoth meeting at Elkin, N. C. last Saturday where Oliver J. Sants Executive Manager of the association assured the growers of the successful progress of each department of the marketing association. Hundreds of contracts from Virginia and South Carolina reached Raleigh headquarters last week.

MR. HUNTER GOES A FISHING.

The first of the week Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hunter, Dr. and Mrs. W. T. Long and children left for Cherry Point, in eastern Carolina for the purpose of camping and fishing. They carried all of the necessary paraphernalia for a great trip, but before reaching their destination they found they were in hard luck, for the whole face of the earth in that section was covered with water, and still raining. Just one half day of fishing was enough for Mr. Hunter, and though when he put it to a vote five of the seven voted to remain on the grounds he said the minority ruled in that instance, and the folks were told to get ready and pack, and pack they did, and Mr. Hunter and party rolled into town here Friday night.

Mr. Hunter is not telling any miraculous fish stories but he talks mostly about the rain. For instance, he says, that he went with a friend of his to feed his hogs, numbering about 100, and they had to carry the corn in a buggy as they simply could not get to the hog lot on foot. If you want to enjoy a real laugh just ask Mr. Hunter to tell you about this trip.
