PLEASE GIVE ME THE NEWS.

Having assumed the local editorship of The Courier I will greatly appreciate it if you will kindly phone me any news item you may have. If you intend making a trip, or if you have friends visiting you please let me know it, for I want to make the local news worth while and can only do so with your cooperation. Do not think your goings and comings are so important that I ought to get them anyway, for it is impossible for me to keep up with the doings of this hustling town without your aid. Help me out with this department by giving me all of the news.

Very respectfully, MISS ELIZABETH NOELL, Local Editor.

WANT COLUMN.

We feel sure that if the readers of The Courier would use our "Want Column" more they would find it worth while. Doubtless many ladies on the farms have something some one would be only too glad to buy if they knew about it. If you have more jelly, jam, preserves, or perhaps some fancy work, than you want just insert a little notice in our want column and you will be surprised how quickly it will be sold. Many a farmers wife, or farmers daughter, would be surprised at how much extra money they could pick up by the sale of some of these little things, if they would only let it be known. Try it, only 1 cent a word.

DAIRY HINTS

FEED POINTS FOR DAIRYMAN

To Obtain Maximum Milk Production Cow Must Be Attended to at Proper Moment.

If you would get a maximum milk production from your cows, feed the right feed at the right time and in the right amounts, advises M. H. Keeney, dairy specialist of the New Jersey State College of Agriculture.

Mr. Keeney gives the following practical suggestions for dairymen in feeding for milk production:

- 1. Feed all the roughage a cow will clean up. Part of it should be a legume such as clover or alfalfa. 2. Feed some succulent feed such as silage or roots. 3. Feed a balanced ration. 4. Feed grain in accordance to milk production: For a Holstein or Ayrshire, approximately one pound of gain for each 4 pounds of milk; for a Guernsey or Jersey, about one pound grain for each 3 pounds of milk. A variety of grains in the mixture is desirable. 5. During short pastures supplement with silage or some green feed, together with some grain. 6. Feed and milk regularly. 7. Supply an abundance of pure fresh water at all times. 8. Give access to salt daily. 9. Purchase grain feeds on the basis of their protein and energy content and not alone on just the cost per cwt.

GROWING RATIONS FOR CALF

In Feeding Young Dairy Animals Material Supplied Must Be Fresh—Building—Salt is Needed.

"There are two things to remember in feeding dairy calves," says E. A. Hanson, dairy specialist with the agricultural extension division of the University of Minnesota. "The feed must make them grow and must supply flesh-building material so they will be in good condition.

Growing feeds, he says, consist of skim milk, clover hay, oats, bran and oil meal. The fattening feeds are corn, barley and oil meal. For calves under six months old in good condition and having a soft, mellow hide a mixture of 30 pounds ground corn, 30 pounds ground oats, 30 pounds bran and 10 pounds oil meal, fed three to five pounds daily, is recommended by Mr. Hanson. A mixture of 30 pounds ground corn, 20 pounds ground barley, 40 pounds ground oats and 10 pounds oil meal, also fed at the rate of from three to five pounds a day, is advised for calves in poor condition.

"Salt improves the calf's appetite, so keep a box with clean salt in sheltered place where the calf may eat of it freely," Mr. Hanson advises. "Provide all the clean clover or alfalfa hay the calf will eat up clean. Never let the calf eat or breathe to run with the hay."
