

PRETTINESS AND HANDWORK STRESSED IN UNDERMUSLINS

UNDERWEAR, like all other apparel for women, grows daintier and more varied. Incoming spring lines show both fancy and tailored lines—the former adding fine embroidery to the pin tucks, hemstitching and drawn work that embellish the latter. January finds the new styles installed in the shops along with materials and trimmings used for making them. The first two months of the year are established as the time for replenishing supplies of undermuslins and household linens. Undermuslins, by the way, are becoming more and more underslits, and household linens, except for table use, is nearly all cotton—but the old names still apply. Color plays an important part in undermuslins and certain tints that can be easily renewed when garments are laundered are in as great demand as white. In line with other modes, undermuslins are presented in simple styles, with handwork more highly considered than ever. Prettiness appears to be the first requisite for success—which accounts for the little ribbon and flower fancies that are pinned or tacked on garments that are in themselves pretty.

A lace-trimmed chemise and a matched tailored set are shown in the picture and tell their own brief but charming stories. Either silk or cotton can be used for making them, or one may choose to put handwork on sheer linen or fine voile—both very durable. In the tailored set the edges of the short chemise and pants are finished with a bias binding and the pants show a short split in the outside seam at the knees. Val lace insertion and narrow edging contribute the most staple of all finishing touches to the chemise, which indulges in a bit of sheer frivolity in the frill of finely plaited net at one side. A bow, with hanging loops, of narrow ribbon adds another pretty touch. It is planned on with the smallest of safety pins. Heart-shaped medallions outlined with fancy stitching, in the tailored suit, are centered with little ribbon flowers, which are taken off and put on at pleasure and easily renewed.

Vigorous Gobbler Will Care for Fifteen Hens

If good gobblers are scarce there is no reason why two neighbors cannot keep their turkey hens on the same farm until such time as they have been served by the gobbler. One service from the gobbler is sufficient to fertilize all the eggs that will be laid at a succeeding egg-laying period. However, when the turkey hens quit laying another service will be necessary before the subsequent eggs of the second laying period are fertile. A vigorous gobbler will only serve about fifteen hens. It would be somewhat less troublesome to transfer the turkey tom rather than the turkey hens. After one neighbor is positive that the gobbler has covered all of the hens on his farm the tom could be moved over to the other neighbor's farm.

Most Effective Ration to Increase Egg Yield

The most effective ration for feeding hens and pullets as found at the Ohio experiment station consists of mash, ground corn 6 parts, bran 3 parts, meat-scrap 6 parts, by weight. In addition a scratch ration of shelled or cracked corn is fed so that the fowls will consume twice as much of the grain as mash. This ration decreased the cost of feed per dozen eggs more than 20 per cent as compared with other rations and increased the production per pullet more than 50 per cent. The tests were made to determine the amount of meat-scrap laying rations should contain.

Inactive Liver

"I have had trouble with an inactive liver," wrote Mrs. S. Nichols, of 412 Spencer St., Houston, Texas. "When I would get constipated, I would feel a light, dizzy feeling in my head. To get up in the morning with a lightness in the head and a trembly feeling is often a sign that the stomach is out of order. For this I took Thedford's Black-Draught, and without a doubt can say I have never found its equal in any liver medicine. It not only cleans the liver, but leaves you in such a good condition. I have used it a long time, when food does not seem to set well, or the stomach is a little sour."

Have You a Cough or Bronchitis?
This Should Interest You
Charlotte, N. Car.—"Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has done wonders for members of my family, also myself. After I had the influenza I could not regain my health. I had a bronchial cough; was weak and my blood was thin and bad. I took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two bottles relieved me of all my bronchial cough. "When my youngest child was about a year old he had bronchial trouble and nothing gave him any relief until I began giving him the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and he has never been bothered with that trouble since but has grown into a very healthy boy. I am sure the 'Discovery' saved his life, for I had given up hopes of his recovery from this ailment."—Mrs. S. D. Faulk, 1405 N. Harrill Street.
