THE CHILDHOOD AND EDUCATION OF MOSES

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 2:1-10; Acts 7:22.
GOLDEN TEXT—Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it.—Prov. 22:6.
PRIMARY TOPIC—The Baby Moses.
JUNIOR TOPIC—A Father and His Son.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Training for Life's Work.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Blessing of a Religious Home.

I. Moses' Parentage (v. 1).
Both father and mother were of Levitical stock. Being from the same tribe, they had a common bond of interest and sympathy. Amram had the good judgment to choose for a wife a woman who possessed sympathies and ambitions in harmony with his own.

II. Moses' Birth (v. 2).
Two children were born to Amram and Jochebed before Moses—Aaron and Miriam. However, Moses was the first one that his mother was assured was to be the deliverer of the chosen people. There was something striking about this child which caused her to believe that it was sent of God. She saw that he was a "goodly child." In Stephen's speech (Acts 7:20) he asserts that the child was "exceeding fair," or fair to God. No doubt his mother believed him to be the beloved of his people and insisted that truth in his mind from childhood. Because of this belief, she had confidence that somehow God would save him from the cruel hand of the king.

III. Moses' Preservation (vv. 3-8).
Though Pharaoh's edict was in force, his mother's faith was such as to cause her to ignore it and hide Moses for three months. The hiding of the child was not because of fear, but because of faith (Heb. 11:23). It was her faith which made her brave to ignore the king's edict. Though Moses' mother had faith, she did not ignore the proper use of means. Pharaoh's plan was that every male child should be destroyed, but God had planned otherwise for this child. Perhaps the story of how Noah and his family were saved in the ark suggested to his mother the expediency used, namely, the ark of bulrushes. Doubtless she was familiar with the place where Pharaoh's daughter came to bathe, and believed that somehow through her the child would be saved. She placed the ark at the most favorable place where it would attract attention. It is interesting to note the steps as pointed out by another, by which God's plan was carried out.

1. The mother's faith (v. 3).
She hid the baby in the proper place and at the opportune time. 2:3-4. Miriam was no doubt sustained as a watch to all in the ark. (v. 4.)

2. A woman's care (v. 7).
Her mother was a faithful, an unselfish, and a devoted mother. Her child was not only protected and educated at the proper time. This should be a worthy example for every mother, causing her to exercise watch and care over her children.

3. A woman's courage (v. 9).
This young child, among the Egyptians, was the darling of Pharaoh's daughter, but she dropped her hands to bring it to her.

4. A woman's compassion (v. 10).
When the ark was brought and opened, the baby was there. The woman who had been hiding the child was not only a mother, but a woman of great compassion.

5. A woman's wisdom (v. 11).
The child was hidden in the ark of bulrushes, and was not only protected, but was also educated. The child was not only protected, but was also educated. The child was not only protected, but was also educated.

6. At the baptism (v. 11).
It was here that he became acquainted with all the wisdom of the Egyptians (Acts 7:22). This was of great importance. It particularly qualified him to be the lawgiver and historian of his people.

Our Present Lot
Of nothing may we be more sure than this: If we cannot sanctify our present lot, we could sanctify no other. Our heaven and our Almighty Father are there or nowhere.—D. Merrill

Purity
If a man is so pure-minded that he will not have anything to do with people who are not pure-minded, he will never find himself in the company of his kind.—Henry Wood

POULTRY FACTS FOR MIDSUMMER DAYS

Raleigh, N. C., June 28.—Young chicks are rapidly developing into mature pullets and cockerels during mid-summer and these birds should be watched carefully so that the best individuals may be selected for breeding.

"There is much difference in the rapidity of development of young birds," says Dr. B. F. Knapp, head of the poultry department at State College. "Some of the chickens develop rapidly, some moderately and others slowly. Those that develop rapidly should be selected for breeding purposes. The pullet that grows fast, with well developed head and neck, a blocky body, and strong legs, is the one that will begin to lay early and will lay late into the fall of next year. She will be the high producer."

Dr. Knapp states that he recently visited a farm in North Carolina where the owners were interested in developing a good flock of white leghorns. All the fine, strong, active birds were being put on the table because they were troublesome and the less active were saved for breeding. This will result in a weak flock.

Another observation was that out of 15 farmers keeping poultry, thirteen did not have comfortable poultry houses nor did they feed a laying mash.

"If the farm flocks of North Carolina are ever to be put on a paying basis, the proper birds must be selected and the poor, unprofitable ones sold for table use," says Dr. Knapp. "The birds must have a modern house and be kept free from parasites such as scaly legs, lice, mites and intestinal worms. They must also have something to eat besides just corn. A mixed grain ration and trash feed is needed."

That these suggestions may be obtained by poultry growers in a condensed and accurate form, the poultry department has prepared a series of bulletins on the subject. These publications may be had free of charge by writing to the college for them.

Reading paper:—"Goodness! Two thugs murdered a man down the street last night."
"Isn't that terrible?"
"But the paper says he didn't have any money on him at the time."
"Wasn't that lucky?"

Where the stand of cotton is so poor as to be unprofitable, it might be wise to plant soybeans, advise agronomists at State College.

About 500 club boys and girls will attend the annual short course for club members to be held at State College during the week of July 5th.

A Coincidence That Made Brown

"You Want a Man Like That"

Brown was an every day young man around town. Well known, well liked. From his small salary he saved a set amount each week. Every Monday morning he made his deposit, watching small amounts grow into large figures. It was this saving habit that won for him a good position at real money.

Brown's regular appearances at the bank were well known and one day when a prominent manufacturer needed that type man, Brown was pointed out.

Regular saving builds confidence in you. A thrifty citizen is a worthwhile dependable citizen—in whom others feel safe in placing trust—friendship, and whom they are ever willing to employ and to help.
