On Wednesday afternoon from 3:20 to 5:30 Mrs. E. R. Monroe entertained at a lovely party at the Woman's Club Room. The room was very attractive with flowers arranged in an artistic manner. After playing Bridge and Rook for more than an hour the hostess assisted by Mrs. L. C. Clark and Miss Evie Long served a delicious salad course with ice tea. Miss Monroe of Halifax was the guest of honor.

Mrs. L. C. Bradsher entertained the first meeting of the Friday Afternoon Pleasure Club at her country home on Friday afternoon. The living room was lovely with bright fall flowers. Four tables were placed for the game of Rook and many progressions enjoyed. The hostess assisted by her sisters, Mrs. J. L. Atkins of Durham and Miss Dorothy Younger served a most appetizing salad course with coffee. Dainty baskets filled with salted almonds were given as favors.

A most interesting meeting of the Research Club occurred Wednesday afternoon of last week with Mrs. J. J. Winstead. A very important business session was first held, and final plans for entertaining the District meeting were made. The program of the afternoon consisted of three exceptionally interesting papers in the "Novel of Realism." "Realism Its Meaning and Purpose" was the subject of Mrs. S. G. Winstead's paper. She also read extracts from Howe's Story of a Country Town. The second paper, "Realism in Virginia" was ably discussed by Mrs. W. F. West. A delightful social hour followed the program. Mrs. Winstead invited the members into the dining room where cream, cake and mints were served from tables decorated with lovely fall flowers. The next meeting will be with Mrs. R. L. Wilburn.

On Thursday afternoon October 7th, Mrs. Otis Wilkerson was hostess to the Review Club. Roll call was responded to with historical facts on Mexico and Canada, these being the countries for the afternoon study. Mrs. F. M. Shamburger had the first paper, Mexico, and Mrs. A. R. Warren had the second, Canada. Both papers showed careful preparation and a most instructive and helpful program followed. Beautiful fall bouquets were used as decorations. A most tempting and appetizing salad course with tea and toasted sandwiches and nuts was served.

On Saturday afternoon at the home of her parents on North Main street, Miss Polly Walker was hostess to several of her friends at a linen shower, as an honor to Mrs. Edwin Tucker, of South Hill, Va., who prior to her marriage was Miss Rebecca Duncan, of this city. The rooms were attractive with vases and bowls of fall flowers, and here the guests after a cordial greeting by the hostess, enjoyed several progressions of bridge. The tables with their dainty appointments, made the hour of playing very enjoyable, tea punch, chicken salad, sandwiches, pickles and candy. The afternoon ended with the presentation of a pretty array of gifts arranged on a silver waiter which were given to the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Dodson Entertain Dodson Crewell Party

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. James C. Dodson entertained the Dodson-Crewell wedding atendants and the out of town guests at a delightful dinner party. Immediately following this the rehearsal of the wedding took place at West End Methodist church.

After the rehearsal the entire wedding party was entertained informally and very charmingly at the home of Miss Dodson. In the center of the table was the beautiful large wedding cake and on either end of the table was a mound of pink dahlias and lilies. Pink tapers in silver candle sticks lighted the pretty scene.

Miss Dodson cut the cake and later lovely and delicious molded ices in the shape of wedding slippers and lilies were served followed by nuts and mints.—Winston-Salem Journal.

Mrs. J. D. K. Richmond, who has been sick for several weeks, was carried to the hospital in Danville one day last week. Her condition, while not serious, is such as to give her friends worry.

F. V. Boatwright and daughter, Martha, are spending some time in Martinville, Va., visiting Mrs. Boatwright's mother.

DISTRICT CLUB HOLDS VERY INTERESTING MEETING HERE

Mrs. A. M. Jordan, of Chapel Hill, make such a survey.

"Third, That we endorse the program of the State Department of Public Instruction in its work for securing an eight months' school term and equalizing fund sufficient to give every child in North Carolina an equal educational opportunity.

"Fourth, That we again endorse the legislative program adopted by the Legislative Council of North Carolina Women."

The convention was welcomed to Roxboro by Mrs. A. M. Burns, president of the Roxboro Women's Club, the hostess club, and the response to the welcome was made by Mrs. Clarence Chambliss, of Zebulon. There was a solo by Mrs. J. A. Long, accompanied by Mrs. Bradsher, of Roxboro.

The Why of the Survey

Dr. Dixon-Carroll, speaking on the subject of the survey of women in industry, wanted to know why the people didn't want it, why it had created such a flurry, what there is for the State to hide?

"The survey was not to be an investigation of anybody or anything," said Dr. Carroll, but simply what other states have done quietly for statistical purposes. When the women came in all innocence asking for it they met with opposition here and there, that the State didn't need it and didn't want it."

"When we appeared before the governor and gave incidents of the need of a survey he said that they were exceptional. How do you know that they are exceptional. What we want to know is if they are the rule or the exception.

"Why is it that we are not given the survey? We are getting a little suspicious and want to find out what is going on behind the scenes that they don't want found out."

In connection with her talk Dr. Carroll presented a folder setting forth the facts of the survey and why it was called off, entitled the "Why of the Survey."

Legislative Program

Mrs. Palmer Jerman speaking on the subject of the Legislative program of women, which met defeat in the legislature two years ago, said that the fact that the program's worthiness has been evidenced by it being re-affirmed this year by every organization sponsoring it before. The program, outlined by some of the best minds of the State is designated to meet a definite need in North Carolina.

Club Program of Year

The things that club women should put first in their program of winter work, Mrs. McKee, president of the Federation outlined as follows:

Vote and see that all in your community do; work for the legislative program; stand behind the program of the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare, on whose success depends the sort of State that one would like to live in; use influence to secure an eight months school term, the most vital problem in the State; keep alive an interest in the Sallie Southall Cotton educational loan fund; add a new division of law servance and interest in junior clubs.

Longhurst's Has Good Showing

It was the privilege of the writer to meet with forty or fifty members of Longhurst Sunday school, including officers and teachers on Wednesday evening for their annual check-up. Rev. M. C. Ellerbe, the pastor, and O. J. Blue, the superintendent, had their facts well in hand, and the school made the best showing of any "C" type school checked thus far this year. When this school gets additional equipment and takes care of two or three other details it will easily rank as a standard "C" type school—L. L. Gobbel in the North Carolina Christian Advocate.

Jewish Relief Fund

The Jewish brethren of this town are pushing a drive to raise funds for the Jewish Relief Fund, and we sincerely hope every Gentile will come to their aid. It is a noteworthy fact that none are more liberal in their contributions to the needy of this community than the Jews, and now that they are attempting to raise funds for their own people back home in the far East, let us all give them our very best and most liberal support.
