A GOOD SUGGESTION

Ever since it became known that the State of North Carolina would have a surplus the State institutions, and especially the educational institutions, have been working their brains to see just how much it would be possible for them to secure. Last week the Budget Committee was in session and when all applications from the various state institutions were footed up it was found that they only wanted four million dollars increase in appropriations.

Governor McLean is chairman of this commission, and during the hearing he asked if it might not be better to give the rural schools more consideration, and the suggestion was made that it might be well to discontinue the practice of furnishing dormitories at the State institutions. And why not? Why should the State furnish rooms for those at the State institutions, when it does not furnish rooms for those who attend the high schools. It is a well known fact that before one can enter one of the State institutions they must go through the high school, hence it is very important that some consideration be given the high school student, but no dormitories are furnished them.

One would gather from the Governor's remarks that the public schools were to have more consideration than ever before, and we trust we have not read his remarks wrong. All will admit that the rural student is entitled to the same educational advantages as the city student, but they are not getting it, and an eight months school term is, as we see it, one of the impossibilities until the wealthy cities and counties bear their part of the burden, and help the rural districts.

We know it is unpopular, save in the rural section, but we are strongly wedded to the idea that the State should take over the educational system entirely, and instead of the counties levying a school tax, let the State levy the tax, and make it uniform. This is honest and just, and if the representatives of the smaller counties desired they could put it across, but the politicians and the wealthy towns oppose it, and there you are.

About the most the country children can hope for is an increased appropriation for the equalization fund, which is a sham and a delusion.

We are glad to see that the Old Veterans are to receive an increase in their pension, the amount for them this year will be about two hundred and fifty dollars each. This thin line is getting thinner and thinner, and ere many years pass there will be precious few of them living. Not so however, with the widows, as there is nearly six thousand of them.

Our good friend Thomas Frazier has some good advice for the readers of this paper in this issue. We wish every reader would follow his suggestion and give us the neighborhood news. The town folks see to it that their society events reach us, but very few of our country friends reach theirs. Now, we wish you would do this, for we are just as anxious to publish your society news and neighborhood items as we are the town items. Send us the news, our society editor will shape it up. If you happen to have it a little out of order.
