WOMA KENED

TEWLFTH INSTALLMENT

in terms of actual experience, nothan alien, a separate individual, al- open the front door. erase that hurt look from his face. stopping beside the car. '

this. I know I've been pretty . . . today." rotten, but now . . ." she paused. Packard got in and started the distant stations.

and said, "Please, let's start over again . . . and after this . . . well don't expect me to be any whiterobed angel, but I'll try not to worry you too much."

She was unable to say more, for Packard abruptly drew her close to him and kissed her again and again, murmuring words of grateful surprise and happiness. "Frills, darling . . . I love you so, sweetheart! You . . . you really mean it. dear? I thought all my chances of happiness were gone, but now . . . I'll do everything I can to make it worth while—to help you if you really

Joyce, submitting to his caresses, reflected ruefuly that she had never been so much kissed in her life as she had been since she woke up in Mrs. Neil Packard's bed. Gently she tried to free herself. Poor Neil! He did find it hard to believe that any such miracle as this had happened. She smiled again, all her joy in the day restored, knowing that he would go off to work filled with hope for the future security of his home and

"Of course, I mean it. But you needn't take my word for it. Just room paneled in white with wide dent and when they reached the city know. But we can, with pertion guaranteed or your money re- mountains across the valley. funded," she replied lightly, slipping five this afternoon."

"You bet I won't! Gee, but . .

alarmed at the threatened loss of with her and smiled silently. her day of freedom and feeling the need of a rest after the strain of Il right! And say, if anything did you get back, Neil?" come up you'd rather do this rnoon, it's all right, you know. We can go to mothers' some other

"The date is made. If it's broken, it'll be your doing."

are you going?"

take some papers to Jake Anson, and when she did not smile her It's up beyond Elk Flat in the hills, mouth was set in curves of quiet her momentary self-confidence. She a good long way from the road, so resignation. he told me I'd better ride Barney," explained Sam.

"Well, couldn't I go with you?" demanded Joyce. She was still a lit- said you had had a bad fall." tle nervous about going out alone. when all the trails were so unfa- replied Joyce, "though I suppose I miliar to her.

"Why, sure! I'll saddle Rosita." ter a two-hour ride, during which crossing her face. she learned much about the counback riding, she was informed by Neil. "Dos spoke of it to me today.

Joyce played wth Dickie in the lot of sleep." garden for half an hour after lunch and then she retired to her room house, Joyce, seized by a sudden to rest and read until time for Neil's impulse, said to Neil, "Wait a minreturn. "I'm out to every one, Rox- ute, I'll be right out again," and ie," she gave definite instructions, turning, she went back into the

"I don't care if it's the Prince of house. Mrs. Packard who had been fully and then waited for Neil to she saw her daughter-in-law reappear. She was pleased when she appear. heard him arriving at ten minutes | Joyce ran across the room and before five, an evidence that he in- kneeling beside the chair, she said in the living room, obviously ready after all? Or has Frills . . . have to go, his anxious look turned into I been too awful?"

| Kine!" and as Joyce got up he ap- dear, my dear, nothing would make It was evident that Neil was kissing her. But she stepped aside to be a friend of my son's wife," air, than I am," she told him, blowing off steam which had accu- and made it plain that she prefer- she replied, her lips quivering, "to mulated for some time, and secretly red to avoid his greeting. To her re- have you want it!" She laid her off one morning on Rosita for an John whose ungovernable tempers Joyce's spirit rose a little. She was lief he did not press the matter. arm gently around Joyce's shouders, all-day ramble through the hills, had given them the title of "Sons glad that he was asserting himself. "How's the Duesenberg working?"

Frills seemed to her more than ever big blue car and waited for him to she ran out of the room to Neil.

most like a first wife. She was filled "Don't you want to go in your Joyce was relieved to find that they with an overwhelming desire to roadster?" asked Neil in surprise, had no company.

over on you. I . . . I don't blame of it," retorted Joyce, and supress- sented, rather courious to hear. She you for not believing me now, but ing a smile, she continued hastily, soon discovered that Neil's idea of I swear I'm telling the truth about "anyhow, I prefer to have you drive enjoying the radio was to spend all

It was so difficult to say what she engine without further delay. They Joyce, bored finally at the superwanted to. A mixture of shyness drove down the main street of Man- latives of the unseen speaker who and fear, and the unaccustomed- zanita where they were greeted right was boosting enthusiastically for ness of putting her feelings into and left by a bewildering number the glories of California, got up and words, held her back for a moment, of people and Joyce was on pins and said goodnight, hoping that Neil again her desire to make Neil needles for fear Neil would stop to would reman downstairs. On impulse alone Joyce suddenly with rose vines and surrounded by liness toward him that day. came close to him and smiled up a garden of beautiful flowers. They | She decided this time to take no they arrive they proached her with the intention of me happier than to . . . to be able side-you're lot more dependent on side the churches; he was tender

"Oh, it's all right," replied Joyce rose and lifting her head nearer, ternoon. ing to her-of pride in his outburst. indifferently. She went up to Neil's kissed Mrs. Packard lightly. Then When they got back to the house

"Let's see what's on the radio "I'm not trying to put anything "No, I don't, I don't like the color tonight?" suggested Neil, Joyce ashis time and effort trying to get ze that she wanted to be friends talk to any of them. After half an Packard immediately shut off the h him, that in the future he hour during which she grew more radio and announced his intention white-robed menger at the tomb would not have to worry about her nervous every minute—what in the of accompanying her. By the air of of Jesus, to # women who had actions, drove her on. "Well . . . world would she say to Neil's moth- happy expectation on his face, Joyce come early on he perhaps that blow on the head er?-they stopped finally at a realized that she was about to reap Resurrection prn knocked a little . . . sense into me." charming little bungalow covered the inevitable results of her friend- to anoint heir into his face, a little tremulously, entered a friendly, low-ceilinged chance of repeating the soap inci-found thatome-

Mrs. Packard rose to meet them read for a while." out of his arms, "better run along and Neil, kissing her, said gently, to work now or you might lose your "Well, mother, here we are, come job. And don't forget our date at to make you a little call, Frills and whoopee! I . . . I wish I didn't have you both!" exclaimed his mother, ing the last words close to her el. to go down to the office. I feel like holding out her hand to Joyce "Such adorable little ears!" he say while she kept Neil in her clasp at kissing them again and again. "I It is a faith we desperately need "You go along!" exclaimed Joyce, the same time. Joyce shook hands be so happy if I were sure of you

"Do sit down, children, it's so good to see you," went on Mrs. Pack- to me and as a return for beig this stormy scene, "I can't have you ard, beaming happily as she return- what you call reasonable and se- fruit of faith, the faith St. John around all day. I'm going to be ed to her comfortable armchair in sible, won't you please let me slep calls "the victory that overcometh front of one of the windows, "when in the other room without asking the world."

"Last night, mother ,and you bet I'm glad to be back," replied Pack-

Neil's mother was a woman in her late sixties, with soft gray hair, and He paused and added hesitating, When she got out to the stable a face pleasantly fresh and clear-Joyce found Sam about to mount skinned. Only in her dark eyes the black horse. "Oh, Sam, where could one read the shadow of past sorrows, mingled with present lone-"Why, Mr. Packard asked me to liness and pain, Joyce thought,

> "Are you feeling quite well again, my dear?".asked Mrs. Packard after Neil had told about his trip, "Neil

"Oh, yes, I didn't really get hurt." might easily have been killed."

"Yes, it frightens me to think When Joyce got back at noon af- of it,' 'said Mrs. Packard, a shadow

"Frills is looking well, though, try and its possibilities for horse- don't you think, mother?" asked Roxie that she had missed two sets She's been keeping sort of quiet since the accident and getting in a

When they were outside the sitting quietly gazing out of the At four-thirty she dressed care- window, looked up in surprise when tended to take no chances of miss- hastily, before her courage shouldgo back on her, "Do you . . . do When he came in and saw Joyce you suppose we could be friends, a positive beam of pleasure and To her dismay she saw Mrs. Packard's eyes fill with quick tears and 4 thus winning the Annette Gibson "Hullo, Frills, all ready to go? a flush mount to her forehead. "My give it a thirty days' trial. Satisfac- windows framing a view of dstant bedroom she turned to him said fo confidence, look at Jesus with said, "Good-night, Neil, I'm going to to eyes of faith, and say "He

"My dears, I'm deighted to see her closer into his arms whispe-questions and going through tis sort of thing every night?"

Her manner evidently made her immediately, saying, "I'm sory, of faith. dear. It's just that I love you s. "But-will you come of your own accord when you're ready?"

"Of course," pomised Joyce ha tily, suddenly extremely embrrassed by the conversation ater said good-night again and wen off to her room and shut the doc.

Henrietta Sumner, of Los Angeles, Calif., flew 45 miles in 17 minutes, 7 seconds in the second annual air race for women flyers at New York, June eash award over 23 competitors.

The next night when they were the best he had to give. going upstairs Neil said, "Look here, There is no superstition more sweet, I hate like the devil to have deadening to a writer than the idea you sleeping indoors. You ought to that he can "write down" to his be getting all this wonderful fresh readers. No man was ever big open," returned Joyce hastily, "real- to create and sustain a very con- without touching the controls. ly it's just like being out of doors." siderable influence. "Let me sleep indoors then," he Jesus was notably tolerant of alsuggested, generously, "and you most all kinds of sinners. He liked sleep out here."

"I'm lots more comfortable in- ready folk who were entirely out-

Nearly a fortnight later Jojce set a special fondness for James and

CONTINUED NEXT WEEK

Sunday School Lesson

JESUS RISES FOM THE DEAD Lesson for June 8. Mark 16:1-20 Golden Tey Mark 16:6

The words of our Golden Text, unless he can humble himself and "He is risen," ere spoken by the partake of their nature. gues of men and of angels and have not love, I am become as dead Master hen thing veryunusual had ppened. There d been a might earthquake, v huge stone bre the sepulchrwas rolled to orside, and in the mb was Rev. Ches. E. Dess an ange figure.

Natuly the women were frightened, ut the angel reassured them. Do not be terrified," he said. It is Jesus you are looking is risen! He is not here!" What ose women needed was faith. faith a living Lord. It was to that th the angel called them.

Of urse the Easter story has in ite elements of fact as well as the ven of faith. The Golden Textay be considered a statement of t as well as the pronouncemerpf a faith. But the faith is morsignificant than the fact, It Easter faith in a Christ truthant over death that constitut the foundation stone of the Chitian Church nat actually happened of the da of Resurrection we do not prees;" And we can remember our "But, Frills, sweetheart," he be- ved ones, hidden from sight, and gan, detaining her, "you've been so ay say, also with faith, "They, too, are alive!" Then we can look at wonderful today and —I love yo ourselves again in faith. and cry, so! I want you so, dear." He dry "We too shall live!"

But the Easter faith is much more than the assurance of immortality. "Listen, Neil," she said quiet, of every day. Marshal Foch once "won't you, if I ask you as a fair said that morale is more important than material. Now morale is the

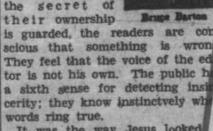

Too many of us try to live within the narrow walls of proof. We seek to explain everything. What we need to learn is to release our energies impression on him for he released in the spirit of a great adventure

Bruce Barton

TO SUCCESS WITHOUT SINCERITY

Sincerity glistened like sunshine through every sentence Jesus uttered: sincerity is the third essential. Many wealthy men have purchased newspapers with the idea of advancing their personal fortunes, or bringing about some political action in which they have a private interest. Such newspapers almost invariably fail. No matter how much money is spent on them, no matter how zealously the secret of

It was the way Jesus looked men, and the life he led an them gave his words transform power. What he was and wha said were one and the same t Nobody could stand at his sid even a minute without being suaded that here was a man loved people and considere the humblest of them wor

THESE ARE

air. Let me move your bed out to enough to build an enduring suc- tern, breaks the world's record for they were not designed for. the other end of the porch. I won't cess on the basis of insincerity; but air travel between New York and Now we have developed commermany comparatively small men, like Moscow. The President's wife flies cial, passenger-carrying planes "Oh, there's plenty of fresh air in Peter the Hermit or Billy Sunday, across the continent. Frank Hawks which are far safer than motormy room with all those windows fired with conviction, have been able flies from Los Angeles to New York cars, if the proportion of accidents the companionship of the rough and toward unfortunate women; he had mileage on the great airplane instructions, and, lately, even being "I'm coming again soon, alone, She carried her lunch and a book of Thunder"; he forgave the weakto the conclusion that traveling by ment, the "robot" pilot which she had an odd little feeling—odd he inquired as they went out toshe had an odd little feeling—odd he inquired as they went out toand then, we'll . . . we'll get acwith her and told Roxie n't to exness of Peter who denied him; and air has at last become as popular guides the plane according to the his near relatives and his native in Europe.

But for one sin he had no mercy. He denounced the insincerity of the Pharisees in phrases which sting start in America. We had lagged which will give the impetus to our like the lash of a whip. They thought they had a first mortgage both of military planes and of com- automobile did for the last one. At told them scornfully that only the one great advance in human of all motor-car companies has those who become like little chilprogress which all the world con- bought control of the biggest of the dren have any chance of entering cedes to be of American origin. The air-lines.-Autocaster. war forced military aviation on us, Little children know no pretense. but there is a vast difference be-They are startlingly frank They look tween military planes and commerat the world through clear eyes and cial flying. Military planes have to world's smallest antelope; it stands say only what they think. No writer, be swift and maneuverable; safety only a little over 12 inches high at no orator, no salesman exercises any large dominion in the world is a minor consideration. Commer- the shoulders.

cial planes have to be safe, first, FLYING TIMES dents of early commercial aviation in this county were due to the effort An American aviator, James Mat- to make military planes do work to mileage is considered. They are Flying seems to be looking up, equipped with instruments which Of course, some of the revival of in- enable them to fly as safely by terest in aviation is puresly season- night or in fog as in broad dayal; we're having better flyng wea- light. By radio they are in touch ther than in mid-winter. But look- with the ground at all times, reing over the figures of passenger ceiving weather reports and flying routes whose planes make their able to carry on conversation with schedules day in, day out, at all distant points and other planes in America as it has been for years compass, removes the danger of the pilot going to sleep.

It is only six years since Lindy Planes are getting faster, safer flew the Atlantic. That really gave and cheaper. Perhaps the airplane commercial aviation its first great may prove the great new industry behind Europe in the development next wave of prosperity, as the mercial flying, although aviation is any rate, we note that the biggest

West Africa is the home of the

Want A Nice Building Lot

We have several good building lots which can be bought reasonably and on easy terms. If you are interested—either in a lot or a home see

ROXBORO BUILDING & LOAN ASSOCIATION

J. S. Walker, Sec.

"Though I speak with the ton-sounding brass or a tinkling cym-and many cymbals tinkled in the name of advertising; but the advertisements which persuade people to act are written by men who have an abiding respect for the intelligence of their readers, and a deep sincerity regarding the merits;

Washing cretonne slip covers in bran water helps them retain their

More than 63,430 motor buses are in use for transporting school children in the United States.

of the goods they have to sell.

Much brass has been sounded

bal," wrote Saint Paul.

That cherished phrase, "Business is Better" is again being heard throughout the land. It emanates from many branches of business and industry and marks an actual turn into better days. . . . Public confidence is being restored and the people as a whole are in the mood to go ahead.... As an individual, are you making plans to create a place for yourself in the new order of business? ... If so we feel that we can serve you in a highly efficient manner. We solicit your patronage.

The Courier

Quality Job Printing and Advertising Phone 39

1881

1933