WHITFIELD S. CLARY, JR.

Our heart is bleeding over the death of Mr. Whitt Clary, Jr., who died at the hospital in Washington Monday morning at 11 o'clock. While his name did not appear at the masthead, he did much writing for us, in fact, we recognized him as our pinch hitter, and he never failed when we called on him. While he did not write regularly he was a master of English, and had a beautiful manner of expressing himself. We can say truthfully that he was a Christian gentleman, loved by all with whom he came in contact, and the many, many expressions of sympathy which we have received attest to his popularity. He loved the outdoor life, was an ardent fisherman and was never happier than when sitting in the stern of a boat guiding it up and down and across the sound.

During our sojourn in Raleigh last winter he had entire charge of this paper, and how well he managed and carried on is well known to all of our readers. We shall miss him; we were with him when the end came, still hoping and praying that his life might be spared, but on Monday morning at the stroke of eleven by the clock his soul quietly and peacefully slipped away to be with the God he loved.

World's Fair Brought $400,000,000 of New Money To Chicago

Chicago, Oct. 29.—A Century of Progress—a $400,000,000 idea.

This today was the answer of the Chicago Association of Commerce to those who ask what value an inspiration can be.

For the world's fair—whose success has matched the courage of its promoters—has brought that amount—$400,000,000—to Chicago in less than five months and has made this city one of the brightest spots on the American economic map.

The figures, released for the first time as the exposition nears its closing date, November 12, was called "conservative" by Paul Kunning, trade promotion director of the association. He said:

"The fair has brought $400,000,000 of new money to Chicago. The money has been spent here by out-of-town visitors. We base our figure on conservative estimates of business leaders of the city and on careful surveys by our own experts."

Spending of this tremendous sum has rejuvenated business and resulted in an increase in employment here. Railroads, transportation, automobile, gasoline and kindred industries far removed from Chicago have felt stimulating effects. The exposition itself has proved to be one of the biggest businesses in the city. Gross receipts from admissions and from concessions from which it derives revenue, today were given as $33,160,189.47, as of October 25, in a recapitulation prepared especially for the Associated Press. Admission receipts were $8,210,216.96; concessions, $24,949,972.96.

New Tobacco Program Will Start Real Soon

The program to reduce the crop of flue cured tobacco to about 500 million pounds in 1934 will start in North Carolina within the next few days.

Instructions received at State College from the tobacco section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration indicate that all forms, contracts and regulations have been prepared and that county farm agents may proceed early in November to begin the formation of county tobacco control associations.

Farm agents in the 57 counties growing flue cured tobacco in the State have been instructed to meet at the college on November 3 and 4 to receive instructions in procedure. E. Y. Floyd, tobacco specialist for the extension service, has been in Washington for over a week securing all information necessary to handling the campaign. Mr. Floyd will have active charge of the movement in this State under the general supervision of Dean I. O. Schaub.

Mr. Schaub says that two or more men from the tobacco section of the AAA will come to State College for the county agent meeting on November 3 and 4 to aid Floyd in preparing plans for the campaign and in giving instructions to the agents. North Carolina growers gave almost unanimous support to the tobacco program by signing up over 95 percent of the land put to tobacco during the past three seasons. There were 55,771 agreements representing 581,757 acres signed in the September campaign.

Similar action was taken by the growers of South Carolina, Virginia and Georgia.

Big Christmas Club Campaign Announced

The Courier is not playing the part of the philanthropist—neither is it a something-for-nothing scheme. It is a business proposition pure and simple. The hundreds of dollars worth of awards and cash commissions will be given in exchange for well directed effort on the part of the contestants. The awards themselves assure each and every one that their efforts will bear fruit to the fullest extent.

Early Start Is Best

In every man's life there is one big moment when he makes a decision that robs him of success—or leads him to fortune. The world is full of those who yearn for better things that never seem to come. The action is missing but let him see and grasp the opportunity and there will be an amazing transformation in his fortunes. The moment he decides for or against that opportunity—whether he will seize it or let it pass—he decides the whole future course of his life. The main thing in the cash offer campaign is to get an early start in the race—if means everything to those who have ambition and a desire to succeed. So the first and best thing to do is to enroll your name at once and get out among your friends and tell them that you want their subscription to The Roxboro Courier.

"Christmas Club Cash offer campaign headquarters are located in The Courier office. Call around and meet the manager of this busy organization. All information concerning the cash offer campaign cheerfully given and suggestions made relative to outlining a successful campaign. The time-worn adage about the "early bird" applies forcibly in this instance and the earlier the bird the bigger the "worm." The telephone number is 39 and you may call by phone and give the campaign manager your name and address in the event that it is more convenient and the necessary supplies will be forwarded. Clip out the nomination coupon NOW while it is fresh in your mind and bring or send it to campaign headquarters. It may mean that automobile or cash you have been wishing for. DO IT NOW.

NO ADVOCATION OF COMMUNISM

In announcing that he has opened negotiations with the Soviet government of Russia looking toward eventual "recognition" of that nation, President Roosevelt does not, as we understand it, endorse or advocate a Communistic form of government. He recognizes the fact that for sixteen years the Russian people have been developing a new form of government, that that government has survived and is apparently strong enough to continue indefinitely, and that it is the Russian people's own business as to what form their government takes.

In its early days the Soviet experiment was accompanied by loud threats of world revolution. We understand that those threats were largely due to the belief that a Capitalistic world would not tolerate a single Communistic experiment, and that in order for it to succeed it would be necessary to convert all the rest of the world. The Soviet leaders have learned differently by now; they have discovered that the rest of the world doesn't care what they do inside their own nation. Little is heard these days of the danger of the spread of Communism.

It seems to us that it is as reasonable for the United States to recognize the right of Russia to be considered a world nation as it is to regard Italy, under a dictator, or Japan, under an absolute monarch, as having equal rights with ourselves. None of them has our form of government but we would be last to try to impose our ideas upon them.

Recognition of Russia ought to open up trade channels which are now impeded, and create a much more friendly feeling among all the nations. To be sure, there are several other matters to be settled. Will the Soviet government recognize the debts owed by the old Russian government to the United States, and restore the American property which it confiscated? That and other questions need answering before recognition can be generally acceptable.—Autocaster.

Special Messages On Parables Of Jesus

Black-Draught Clears Up Sluggish Feeling

"I have used Theodor's Black-Draught for constipation for a long time," writes Mrs. Frank Chamblin, of Wynne, Ark. "If I get up in the morning feeling dull and sluggish, a dose of Black-Draught taken three times a day will cause the feeling to pass away, and in a day or two I feel like a new person. After many years of use we would not exchange Black-Draught for any medicine."

P. S.—If you have CHILDREN, give them the new, pleasant-tasting SYRUP of Theodor's Black-Draught.

"QUEEN COTTON" TO BE ENTHRONED

Queen Will Be Chosen On Stage Of Palace Theatre By Ovation

MANY LOCAL GIRLS REPRESENTING FIRMS

That ringing question, "Who will be 'Miss America'?" and "who will crown her 'Royal Majesty'?" will find its answer on the stage of the Palace Theatre next Monday and Tuesday nights, Nov. 6 and 7. The Queen will be chosen by ovation, from an ensemble of Roxboro's most gorgeous and attractive young ladies dressed in chic and lovely frocks of cotton products. The applause of the two nights will be considered by the three judges, and the favorite of the assembled multitude will be crowned with the Royal Diadem, adorned with the imperial mantle, presented with the Queen's loving cup, and installed upon the Royal Throne of Cotton Land. Her majesty will be lavishly entertained by the Royal Artists in exhibitions of skill, dances and songs. The leading business firms of Roxboro trading center will be represented by local young ladies as follows: Louise Pulliam, Elizabeth Pulliam, Hazel Price, Mrs. Frank Hall, Elizabeth Farley, Page Johnson, Lucille Long, Elizabeth Morris, Katherine Winstead, Helen Michie, Rose Woods, Nell Edwards, Sue Hester, Louise Hassan, Rose Yarborough, Helen Wagstaff, Stella Nicks, Gladys Lawson, Ethel Moore, Emily Bradsher, Louise Long, Helen Thompson, Virginia Puckett, Elizabeth Cheek, Ernestine Wilkerson, Winnie McWhorter, Margaret Jackson, Mary Riley, Nellie Flynn, Dorothy Riley, Mary Sue Whitt, Mary Woody Harris, Mrs. Harry Puckett, Nettie Walker, Erma Bradsher, Jane Carver, Virginia Whitten, Annette Cushman, Winnie Wilburn, Edna Cole, Jessie Duncan, Luna Day, Katherine Hatchett, Mrs. W. R. Minor, Etta Monk, Eleanor Spriggs.

Men Make Cities
Cities are what men make them. What men demand they shall be. Slothful, sloven, and sleeping. Progressive, beautiful, free. If the hearts of the builders are noble, In one with the day, and the need, They will build into grandeur and greatness. For so it was decreed. —From the Rotarian Magazine.

HANCOCK GETS ENCOURAGEMENT

While some of its sponsors and friends have been bitter in their replies to Congressman Frank Hancock's attack on the tobacco agreement recently signed in Washington, the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States, Hon. H. A. Wallace, is not among that number. After reading the Fifth District Representative's criticism of the tobacco agreement, Secretary Wallace wrote Mr. Hancock a letter in which he said:

"I can only say to you that I think you have been helpful in the past, and I know you will be again. We have a very realistic situation to meet, and we must do as well as we can from day to day. The tobacco agreement that has been signed will be of short duration, and during the time that it is in operation, I hope we may be able to work out something better for the future."

This is by far the most sensible reply we have seen to Mr. Hancock's vigorous statement. Others have replied, but they have not answered the points he made against the tobacco agreement. Secretary Wallace at least holds out new hope for the future, if not for the present.

In the meantime, every day that the export buyers fail to pay parity prices for tobacco, the arguments presented by Mr. Hancock gain new force. If time continues to fight on his side in future as it has been fighting every day since the tobacco market opened in the Old Belt, his ultimate vindication is assured.

There is only one way the tobacco buyers can put Mr. Hancock in a hole on this matter, and that is for the exporters to pay parity prices for the leaf the same as domestic manufacturers are paying.—Editorial appearing in Winston-Salem Journal, October 26, 1933.

What the Liquor Bar Brings To America

A bar to manliness and wealth
A door to want and broken health
A bar to honor, pride and fame
A door to sorrow, sin and shame
A bar to hope, a bar to prayer
A door to darkness and despair
A bar to honored, useful life
A door to brawling, senseless strife
A bar to all that are true and brave
A door to every drunkard's grave
A bar to joys that home imparts
A door to tears and broken hearts
A bar to heaven, a door to hell
Who ever named it, named it well
I will say, let us lift our lives above these things that we have nothing to regret when we come to die.

Mt. Zion Aid Meets
The Ladies Aid Society of Mt. Zion church held its regular monthly meeting Oct. 14, at the home of Mrs. Rosa Moore, with Mrs. J. T. Blackard, president, presiding. Several matters of business was discussed, then it was decided to change the time of meeting from the 3rd Saturday to Saturday before the 4th Sunday of each month. The following officers for the year was elected. Mrs. Reams Long, president; Mrs. J. T. Blackard, vice-president; Mrs. Coy Holeman, secretary and treasurer, and Mrs. Oscar Jones, reporter.

The meeting then adjourned and the ladies went out on the lawn to entertain the men which they were glad to have with them at the meeting. Various games and stunts were used that created much laughter and merriment. Miss Lucille Blackard read "Many Essays on Husbands." After that a picnic lunch was spread that was very much enjoyed by all. The next meeting will be held Nov. 25th with Mrs. J. T. Blackard.
