Notice-Sale of Valuable Town Property

By virtue of the powers conferred on me by the last will and testament of Mrs. Lucy Barnett, deceased, which is of record in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Person County in Record of Wills No. 21, page 215, I will offer for sale to the highest bidder for cash at public auction on the premises on SATURDAY, DECEMBER 16th, 1933, at 10 o'clock A. M., that certain block of real estate within the corporate limits of the Town of Roxboro, Person County, North Carolina, described as follows:

Lying and being on the North side of Barnett Avenue, beginning at an iron stake, corner of lot now owned by The Peoples Bank and known as the "Vickers" lot; thence in an easterly direction on the North side of Barnett Avenue to the right of way of the Norfolk & Western Railway Co.; thence North on the line of said Railway Co. right of way to corner of Pass & Woody in said right of way; thence in a westerly direction on the line of said Pass & Woody to the line of R. A. Walker; thence on the line of said Walker, W. C. Barnett, Mrs. John Loy, estate of G. T. Thaxton, estate of James Terry and line of lot of The Peoples Bank, in a southerly direction, to the beginning, containing as a whole 6 1/4 acres, more or less. This block of property is now being subdivided into residential lots, and plat of same may be seen by calling on the undersigned, or at the office of Wm. D. Merritt, Atty., and it will be shown on the day of sale. There is a two-story frame dwelling on that portion of said lot facing on Barnett Avenue, but the balance of said property is vacant. This property is well located and this sale will offer an opportunity to any one who may desire to purchase a good building lot.

The sale will remain open ten days for an increase bid on each and every lot sold, and each purchaser will be required on the day of sale to deposit 10% of the purchase price. The right to reject any and all bids is hereby reserved. This Nov. 14th, 1933. Mrs. Annie Laurie Woody, Exrx. of Mrs. Lucy Barnett.

WILL ROGERS IS "DOCTOR BULL" IN LATEST FILM

Humorist Brings Genial Physician Of Famous Novel Living To The Screen

Will Rogers comes to the Palace Theatre Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 4 and 5th in his latest picture for Fox Film, "Doctor Bull." It is the screen presentation of the famous novel by James Gould Cozzens, "The Last Adam," best-seller and recent Book-of-the-Month selection. It is reported as the most powerful vehicle the popular philosopher-comedian has had on the talking screen.

The story concerns a physician in a small town who, in addition to ministering to the health of the community, acts as its unofficial father confessor. None of the town's secrets escapes him. He knows the inner life of every one of its inhabitants. But it is not as a gossip that he finds himself interested in the private lives of the village. He is a mellow gentleman to whom everyone's reactions are an interesting bit of human document.

The film does not present the story of one character. Like "State Fair," the last of the Rogers screen plays, it deals with many characters, each typical of its kind. It is more than the story of one town. For it is the story of thousands of similar towns all over the country. Vera Allen, star of the New York stage, has the leading feminine role opposite Rogers. She was specially engaged for this role, and advance reports of her performance have been so favorable that she is considered destined for a brilliant career in pictures. Others in the cast are Marian Nixon, Howard Lally, Berton Churchill, Louise Dresser, Andy Devine, Rochelle Hudson, Tempe Pigott, Elizabeth Patterson, Nora Cecil, Ralph Morgan, Patsy O'Byrne, Veda Buckland, Effie Ell-

Laughton's Slow Start In Theatrical Career Now Gathers Impetus

The tortoise and the hare fable closely parallels the career of Charles Laughton, eminent English actor, featured in "White Woman," Paramount's romance of the Malay jungles with Carole Lombard, Charles Bickford and Kent Taylor. The picture is coming on Thursday, November 30th, to the Palace. Early in life, Laughton developed a love for the stage, but something always interfered. His parents wanted him to study for a career in the British Navy. For several years, as a young man, he worked in a large London hotel. The job fascinated him because it gave him opportunities to study all types of people. Then the World War carried him still farther away from the theatre. After a period of active service, he became interested in theatrical work and enrolled in Royal Academy of Dramatic Art.

Not until 1926, though, did he make his first professional appearance on the stage. It was in a play called "The Government Inspector" at one of London's art theaters.

From this point onward, Laughton made up for the slowness with which he launched his stage career. In a period of a few years, he worked his way up to the front ranks of London stage artists. He made his greatest success in the New York production of "Pay-

Miss Betty Lou And Her Pretty Baby Co. Here Thursday, 30th

Miss Betty Lou and Her Pretty Baby Company, embracing a galaxy of pretty girls in gorgeous and beautiful costumes and a wonderful array of artists, each a specialist in his or her line, come, according to the press, of the many cities they have played, as a company par excellence.

A stage band, one of the features of the company, support Betty Lou, who is unexcelled in her line. Add to this such specialty artists as Miss Ada Louise, Grace Delores, Rose Ellis and chorus. Mr. Al Reynolds, master of ceremonies, is an entertainer de luxe. Al Selkow, dancing juveline, and then the old favorite John "Ducky" Rhoads, comedian. This combination make up a show that you can really enjoy with your whole family. (From the Cumberland Times of Sept. 26th.-Cumberland, Md.) Betty Lou and her Pretty Baby Company drew much applause yesterday and last night at Fishers Maryland Theatre. The Royal Ambassadors band is one of the best

Notorious Bandits Get No Break From Ken Maynard Films

A screen star's popularity is a sacred trust, which Ken Maynard, cowboy-actor, who comes to the Palace Theatre next Saturday, Dec. 2nd in Universal's "Fiddlin' Buckaroo," continually strives to respect.

Maynard, who receives well over a thousand "fan" letters a week at Universal City, counts most of his mail from boys and young men who admire the robust, virile characters he portrays. Knowing that imitation is the sincerest flattery, Maynard refuses to smoke, drink, or in any way practice the slightest thing which might possibly implant wrong ideas in his youthful admirers. Sometimes his "shooting scripts" must be changed around to accommodate his screen ideals. The real flesh-and-blood bandits and outlaws of the old West may be glamorous in history, but in reality they were a pretty bad lot, in the opinion of Ken Maynard, and he does not intend to glorify them in his pictures. "Fiddling Buckaroo" presents Maynard as a bandit to thwart his evil companions and rescue a kidnapped heiress in a swift paced screen story. Gloria Shea, Fred Kohler, Frank Rise and Jack Rockwell, together with Maynard's troupe of real cowboys and his "wonder horse," Tarzan, aid the romance and action of the film, which Maynard directed.
