Timely Farm Questions Answered At State College

Question: Can soybean meal be used to advantage in the home-mixed poultry ration? Answer: Soybean oil meal is rich in proteins but it is best not to replace the entire animal protein feeds with this meal. If this is done, the ration will have to be supplemented with a carefully figured mineral mixture. A small amount of the soybean oil meal, approximating five percent, could be used to replace that quantity of animal protein feeds and will make a very satisfactory ration.

Use This Laxative made from plants

Theodore's BLACK-DRAUGHT is made from plants that grow in the ground, like the garden vegetables you eat at every meal. NATURE has put into these plants an active medicine that stimulates the bowels to act—just as Nature put the materials that sustain your body into the vegetable foods you eat.

IN MEMORY OF DENNIS STANFIELD

Just as the sun shed its first rays of Golden Sunshine over this earth on Wednesday morning, January 31, 1934, God in His Infinite Wisdom saw fit to send forth a Messenger to call Home another of his beloved children, and at 8:26, the Death Angel entered Watts Hospital, picked Dennis up in His arms and carried him Home to where God on His White Throne was waiting to hand him the key to the Eternal City, and to direct him to the outstretched arms of his mother who had preceded him some 18 years before.

Dennis was in the beautiful stage of life, just starting his twenty-fourth year of sojourn in this world, his birthday being June 18, 1934. He appreciated and loved only the beautiful things of life, and just why, he, with such a spotless character, was taken in such a sudden manner will continue to remain a mystery until God sees fit to reveal it to us; but we do know that our Heavenly Father is justified in all of his undertakings, and it is not for us to question him "who doeth all things well," but to live as he would have us, and when we are called to our reward, it will be then and then only that we will understand the reason for God performing his tasks in such a mysterious way.

Words are inadequate to express how much Dennis will be missed among his friends, relatives and immediate family, because he was loved so dearly by all who knew him; but it is so useless to eulogize over a person whose daily walk of life proved him to be a God-loving man, a true brother and an obedient son. Yes, we shall all miss him, but not nearly so much as his father, two sisters and one brother, who, in the years to come, will still be listening for that familiar voice, which has been stilled forever, and with strained ears they will listen for those footsteps that have ceased to fall.

Even though we know that losing Dennis means his eternal gain, it is still so hard for us, and especially those loved ones, to understand that God has a mission for Dennis to fulfill, and may they, as well as all of us, be submissive to our Master's call and say with humble hearts, "Father, thy will, not mine be done."

We know that no word, regardless of how tenderly spoken, or no deed done in all sincerity can ease or heal the wound so deeply cut in the hearts of those who love him, but may they become reconciled to the fact that he is free from all pain and sorrow and that they will no longer see him fight so valiantly for his life, only to lose it, as he did from the time he was injured until he left us, and may they realize that he is at rest with His Heavenly Father, whom he loved, and is so much better off than we who are left in the material world.

All that physicians and nurses, who worked so faithfully day and night, could do was done to restore him to us again, but the iron hands of pneumonia clutched him, and for five days he fought bravely for his life, only to grow weaker, so God called him home where he would be free of all of his suffering.

Dennis was a faithful member of the Brookdale Methodist Church, and his efficient work in the church activities gained for him many true Christian friends, all of whom loved him dearly. It can truly be said that his character was far beyond reproach, and it wasn't only in the church and home that he did kind deeds, because in his daily associations with his friends, he never failed to grant a favor requested of him.

Dennis was laid to rest in Burchwood cemetery beneath a huge mound of flowers which signifies the last tribute of love and respect that his many friends and loved ones could pay him here in this material world, and may they think of him as sleeping, and not dead and that when we come to the Judgment Bar on that Eternal Morn, we shall see him again and rejoice.

He leave to mourn his loss his father, Mr. Ira T. Stanfield, two sisters, Misses Helen and Mary Stanfield, and one brother, Mr. Elbert Stanfield, all of this city, besides a host of friends and relatives.

Y. P. Division Of Oak Grove Meets

The Young People's Division of Oak Grove Church held a business and social gathering Saturday night Feb. 17, in the home of Miss Mamie Love Barnette. The meeting was called to order by the president, Maxie Clayton. The devotional, which was on Faith, was conducted by Frances Featherston. Plans were made to present a pageant on March 11, in observance of Young Peoples day.

After the business meeting a delightful social hour was enjoyed with Louise Barnette in charge. Many interesting games were played with a deal of enthusiasm. Delicious refreshments were served to about twenty-four people. Guests for the evening were—Miss Ruth Davidson, Rev. E. B. Craven and Mr. Reginald Warren.

Miss Prudy Blalock Dies Thurs. Feb. 8

Miss Prudy Blalock, about 80 years old, who made her home with her brother, Mr. Tom Blalock near Camp Creek Church, Granville Co., was found dead in her bed Thursday morning, Feb. 8th. She had been in feeble health for several years, but her death came as a shock. She was laid to rest in the cemetery at Camp Creek Primitive Baptist Church Friday. She leaves one brother, Tom, with whom she lived, and several nieces, nephews, and other relatives and friends who will follow her on to the great beyond from which none ever returns.

In The Remembrance

On the 21st day of January the death angel visited the home of R. F. Smith and took from us our dear loving mother and bore her home. She was sick only three days. She bore her suffering as patiently as one could. It was so sad to give dear mother up. She was so kind and good to all she knew. We miss her kind and gentle footsteps and sweet voice. We know that she is gone from us where we can't see her any more, but we are all trusting to meet her in heaven where parting will be no more and there will be no more goodbyes. It is so sad here on earth without her, to think that she lies so deep beneath the sod and her heart so still and cold. We feel so sad that dear mother, can't visit our home any more. She always came to see us and she leaves a vacant place where no one else can fill, but while she leaves a vacant place in our home she fills one in heaven. Sleep on, dear mother, and take thy rest. We loved you but God loved you best. It is sad to give you up, but God needed another angel to complete His "shining" band. All that loving hands could do was done but nothing could stay the cold hands of death. The pall-bearers and floral-

All Hog Growers Eligible To Sign

All hog producers, regardless of their past hog production, now are eligible for hog reduction payments under a new ruling on the 1934-35 reduction contract, it was announced by W. W. Shay, swine extension specialist at State College. A previous AAA ruling specified that if the 1932-33 hog litter average was less than three, the contracting producer was not required to reduce hog production for 1934, and in any event was not eligible to receive any hog reduction payments.
