

John McCollum is One of Those Joining Navy

John Curtis McCollum, brother of Mrs. Ruth G. Briant of Roxboro, was one of the limited number of young men accepted for enlistment in the United States Navy at the Recruiting Station, Room 502, Wachovia Bank Building, Raleigh, during the month of February, according to an announcement made by Lieutenant Commander Robert H. Maury, U. S. Navy, Officer in charge of Navy Recruiting for the States of North and South Carolina.

McCollum was transferred to the Naval Training Station, Norfolk, Va., for an eight weeks period of intensive training in the duties and customs of Uncle Sam's Men of War's Men. During this period men are instructed in seamanship, manual of arms, infantry drill, signaling and a variety of subjects to fit them for duty aboard ship.

It has been further announced by Commander Maury that applications for enlistment are being received daily at Raleigh office and young men who are interested in the Navy as a career are invited to visit the station where the navy will be fully explained.

Coming Attractions At The Palace

'DANCING LADY' HAS DAZZLING BEAUTY CHORUS

Bizarre Effects Achieved When Girls Dance Through Maze Of Mirrors

Through cameracraft and mechanical ingenuity the motion picture screen becomes a gigantic kaleidoscope in the presenting of spectacular musical ensembles in "Dancing Lady," the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production which comes Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 26-27th, to the Palace Theatre with Joan Crawford and Clark Gable co-starring.

In one of the scenes each of the chorus beauties, revolving through a maze of mirrors, can be seen thirty times at once, the effect created being an endless parade of pulchritude. In other scenes complete changes of costume and setting are witnessed, as though by magic, right before the eyes of the spectator. Still other scenes whirl upon the screen in a dozen different angles simultaneously.

The most thrilling scene of all, perhaps, is in the finale in which Miss Crawford dances through an impressionistic number of modern tempo. In this some eight thousand dancing figures—if you could possibly count them—appear upon the screen.

Although cameracraft secrets are carefully guarded, it is declared that while these scenes are actually photographed by the camera as they appear on the screen, the trickery lies in optical illusions scientifically computed by a corps of engineers. Six hundred mirror units and nineteen tons of fabricated steel were used in the shooting of one of the gorgeous dance ensembles, it is said.

In several numbers, Miss Crawford becomes the dancing partner of Fred Astaire, noted New York revue star. Nelson Eddy and Art Jarrett sing the new songs. Franchot Tone, last seen with Miss Crawford in "Today We Live," heads the supporting cast. Others

SWELL COMEDY LAUGH LOADED SCREEN FARE

Dunn-Trevor Vehicle, "Sally and Jimmy" Will Drive Away Blues

"Jimmy and Sally," the Palace Theatre's offering which comes Thursday, Feb. 22, is wholeheartedly recommended by this department. In fact we believe that this Fox comedy romance with music is one of the ablest of the season and thoroughly suited to Jimmy Dunn's style.

Also, we are of the opinion that his new film sweetheart, Claire Trevor, also portrays an interesting characterization.

Jimmy, cast as a high pressure press agent, is so sold on himself that he neglects his girl friend. She happens to be smarter than he believes her to be and as a result he gets more than one surprise. On more than one occasion she gives him pointers which help to build up his ego.

When Jimmy falls for his boss' sweetheart, a dancer with the leading night club, he starts something which he had not reckoned for. As a result some of the big shots of gangland toss him around.

The supporting cast is composed of a number of able troupers whose skillful efforts are worthy of mention: Harvey Stephens, Lya Lys, Jed Prouty, Gloria Roy, Alma Lloyd and John Arledge.

McCoy Film Provides Unique Screen Thrills

A pair of cow-punchers gone "bone-crusher" is the theme of one dynamite sequence of "The Whirlwind," Tim McCoy's latest Columbia thriller that comes Saturday, Feb. 24, at the Palace Theatre.

A new high for excitement and action is reached in the picture when Tim McCoy faces Matthew

Betz, the villain, in a wrestling match that would do credit to Madison Square Garden. The boys really have it out and the thrills come fast while they are going through head-locks, flying mares, half-Nelsons, wrist-locks, and assorted rough tactics.

Alice Dahl is seen as Tim's new leading lady, Pat O'Malley, J. Carrol Naish, and Joe Girard are prominent in an excellent cast.

Burley growers in Haywood County are signing the tobacco reduction contract, reports the farm agent, and say it is something that should be done even though the government has not aided them.
