

HearD about Town

In our last issue appeared a little three line want ad offering for rent three rooms, with the notation to apply to this office for particulars. Well, we have spent most of the time since answering inquiries. Two reasons for this, shortage of houses, or apartments, and the fact that the notice appeared in the family journal which is read by sundry and all.

Another cold spell struck here Monday night, and believe us it was cold, with the wind blowing something like about 60 miles an hour—or something near it. These cold spells we fear is playing havoc with the wheat crop, for with no protection it has a mighty poor chance. So far this season there has been only one snow, and it was barely visible on the ground. While we have reached the age where snow does not appeal to us, there is nothing which would be of more benefit to the farmer than a ten or fifteen inch snowfall.

Today week the tobacco market will close here, and as soon as the weather permits the farmers will get busy on their plant beds; however, it is not going to be necessary to prepare such huge beds, as Uncle Sam is going to see that you do not go beyond bounds and produce a bumper crop, at least if you do he will see that all of the profit is taken out of the crop; either a license to sell only what you agreed to raise or such a tax on all over that amount that there will be no profit in it. Just what measure is going to be adopted is problematical, but rest assured he is going to see that you live up to your contract, as well as seeing that those who refused to sign do not profiteer by such refusal.

Thank goodness, there is only a short while until the ground hog will have accomplished his purpose, just three more weeks, and then he can come out of hiding and we will soon have some spring weather. He promised us six weeks of winter weather and he has surely furnished us with three weeks of just that.

A GOOD CITIZEN OF ROXBORO

A good citizen must be honest, upright, and public-spirited. Mr. J. W. Noell is an example of this kind of man. He is thought well of by his many friends. He takes an active part in public affairs and does his very best in everything he undertakes to do. Mr. Noell is a leading member of the First Baptist Church. He is also interested in education and politics. His town and county has been represented by him in the legislature and senate. Mr. Noell is the editor of The Roxboro Courier, a paper which he has published for about forty-five years. He is a member of the Rotary club. Mr. Noell is always willing to do anything he can for his town and community.

We wish to note that last week's issue on "Good Citizenship" was written by Eloise Newell, and this week's by Evelyn Satterfield.

PRECIOUS BOOKS

Why and where they are treasured (Continued from last week).

But there is another type of library with quite a different purpose, where the books that can seldom be replaced are housed. These volumes must be carefully protected from careless handlings as well as from the wear and tear of constant use, for they constitute our library and historical inheritance.

Throughout the ages whenever men have gained leisure from actual toil, they have turned towards the arts and literature. They have collected books and these collections mark the peak of civilization and culture in nations and eras. They have saved for the literary treasures of the past.

The libraries of Florence, Venice and Rome, for example, gathered many Greek manuscripts that would otherwise have been destroyed in the war.

England's development for world trade in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries enable her book lovers to use their increased wealth to form vast libraries which have added not a little to the universal, mathematical and literary treasure. At the time of the world war, many of these collections had to be sold, and our own libraries are richer because some men of wealth were able to acquire quantities of these rare books, some of these records of great significance in American development.—Virginia Whitten.

REIDSVILLE WINS OVER US

Although it was cold last Friday night Reidsville didn't seem to mind the atmosphere. They came down with the impression that they were going to win, and they did! Viola Garrett was the "leading lady" for Roxboro, while Captain Moore followed in close quarters. Mary Craven gave the team a surprise when she scored two points for Roxboro. Elsie Hassan stepped up and played a good game. Dot Bowles played so well they didn't need her in the last quarter. (Don't let us fool you, she was put out on personal fouls.) Reidsville led the score by only 4 four points, 13 to 17.

The Roxboro High School wishes to express their sincere appreciation to Miss Lorena Wade for furnishing the music for the play "Cool Knights," which was sponsored for benefit of the gymnasium. She is skilled in this line and needs to be praised to the highest extent. We thank you!

B. O. O. M. CLUB MEETS

The B. O. O. M. club had its regular meeting at Marie Spencer's home on Saturday night. The meeting was one of the most interesting that we have had except for the number of absences. After the business transactions a very enjoyable program was held. A tap dance was given by Esther Walker, Louise Wasmack and Frances Critcher. Dorothy Riley was the winner of competition contests and received a lovely handkerchief as a prize; Carolyn Michaels receiving a stunning gift for low score. After the hostess served a delicious salad course the meeting closed with every one singing the club song. The next meeting will be held at the home of Esther Walker on North Main Street.

Last Friday morning Miss Joyner's fifth grade presented a very interesting program. A play, "An Hour With Henry Wadsworth Longfellow," was given. This play threw new light on the life of Longfellow, and gave a clear insight into the character of this great American poet.

Death Of Jack

On last Thursday morning, Feb. 15th, the death angel visited our home and took away our little pet dog, Jack. His death was caused by old age, being six years old. He was a beautiful little pet, always faithful to his mistress. We had lots of fun fretting him to hear him growl. He would try to bite us but we would get out of his way. We all hated to give him up.
