

Jalong Triples Wilton; Hillsboro Beats Durham

Jalong put on three three-run scoring spears to turn back Wilton 9-3 last Saturday. Gentry held Wilton to eight safeties including a triple and a single by Allen. W. Tippet hit a home-run for Wilton. The boys from Longhurst collected fourteen hits off the best that Wilton had to offer and made nine of these into runs, thereby tripling the score. Sutt led his team with three hits.

Sharpe of Hillsboro, and Sparrow and Veasey of Durham fought a thrilling mound duel when the Statesmen and the Bulls met on the Bull field last Saturday. Hillsboro won the contest with squeeze plays and walks playing a big part in the game. Durham outthrew the borbites made more of their good for borbites made more of their good for five runs while all Durham could do was to collect three runs. King, first up for Hillsboro in second, walked and took second on Allison's sacrifice. Sharpe sent King to third on a hard single to right and then stole second. On a squeeze play both men scored and Mann raced to second when Chandler threw wild to first. Hillsboro added another score in the fourth. Durham tied the score in the fifth at three-all. Hillsboro won the game the seventh when Blackwelder and Riddle doubled in succession, and G. King's grounder got through Goodwin, resulting in two markers.

Now Hillsboro and Ca-Vel will have to play a rained-out contest and the winners of that will meet Durham for the pennant of the first half contest of the Central State League.

BILL CUMMINGS PLANS ACTIVE RACING SEASON

Fresh from his victory in "the 500" at the Indianapolis Speedway, Bill Cummings is already busy with plans for carrying out a strenuous program of racing for the balance of the season at the various tracks. For nothing dims the ardor of this youthful veteran for the motor racing game!

Discussing his victory after the race, Cummings said, "thirty three drivers started the Indianapolis Classic this year—scorching the bricks over that 2 1/2 mile track. For 200 grueling laps—nearly 5 hours of it—we kept up the blistering pace. I had to average 104.863 miles an hour, the new world's record for "the 500"—sometimes hitting it up to over 2 miles a minute—to win. 4 hours and 46 minutes of this wrings the vitality out of a man and you can bet that I felt pretty well played out at the end of the race."

Cummings' first request after the race was for a Camel. "Any time I'm 'all in,'" he explained, "Camels give me a 'lift' in energy. I smoke them steadily."

In view of the known preference for Camels of champions in various fields of sport, such as Cummings, Ellsworth Vines, Jr., Bill Horn, winner of the Gold Cup Speedboat event, Miss Helena Madison, Olympic champion swimmer and holder of many world swimming records, and others whose endurance and energy is constantly tested to the limit, Camel advertising now stresses the "energizing effect" in Camels which has been experienced by millions of smokers, and recently confirmed by scientific studies carried out in a famous New York research laboratory.

IN MEMORIAM

Bessie Bailey Walters, daughter of John Bailey and Jennie Bailey, was born at the home of her parents in Roxboro township, March 12, 1882. She was married to James Henry Walters 1909, and entered into life's eternal at her home in Roxboro, N. C., as the glorious sun was beginning to gleam across the eastern hill on May 18, 1934.

Her birth brought joy and sunshine into her parent's home, where she grew into womanhood, exhibiting her daily activities the lovely traits of gentleness, kindness and good will to every one. She was always loving and lovable. She was an unfailing source of comfort to her father and mother, an inspiration to all who knew her.

She was even tempered and well poised, patient, cheerful, brave and hopeful. Her influence for good was inescapable, and to all who knew her, it was a challenge to live a little more nobly, a little more unselfishly, a little more graciously day by day. Who can tell how far down the ages the influence of her life will be felt? How many lives will be lifted to a higher plane by it.

She was a diligent and efficient housewife, she ministered with unlimited energy to the needs of her household, extended unlimited hospitality to intimate friends and strangers alike, and yet was never too busy to do what she could to benefit the cause of Christ, our heavenly King.

Five children were one by one welcomed to her great motherly heart and each one was cared for as tenderly and loved as devotedly as if it had been the only one. Of these children (three sons and one daughter) survive. While her father and many other loved ones who had gone before, had doubtless gathered at the heavenly gates to welcome home with happiness the pure spirit of Mrs. Bessie Bailey Walters, her husband, three sons, one daughter, mother, two brothers and one sister were gathered around her bedside to witness the calm and quiet passing to the gloryland beyond.

Surviving Mrs. Walters are her husband, Mr. James H. Walters, three sons, Messrs. Riley B. Walters, James H. Walters, Jr., and Shelton Walters; one daughter, Mrs. James H. Harris; her mother, Mrs. Jennie Wilkerson; three brothers, Mr. Willie Bailey, London Bailey and Fred Bailey; six sisters: Mrs. Gelle Watkins, Mrs. Dollie Jones, Mrs. Lattie Peace and Mrs. Catherine Barbee; two grandchildren, little Bedford Harris and Quinnen Harris.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist church on Sunday, May 20, 1934, at 2 p. m., conducted by her pastor, Rev. L. W. Easterling, assisted by Rev. J. Springfield, pastor of the New Mt. Zion Baptist church of Roxboro. Members of the Quinn's Chapel choir rendered appropriate music. Relatives, friends and neighbors gathered to pay a last loving tribute and the flowers which filled the capacity were mute and appropriate symbols of the fragrance, the beauty and purity of

LOST CONFIDENCE

By THAD K. JONES

We read with pleasure and profit Mrs. Day's excellent piece in a recent issue of The Courier. It is worthy of our profound, prayerful thought and consideration. I have been thinking about writing a piece on a similar subject—Lost Confidence. It is sadly true that the discovery of one person's treachery tends to weaken our confidence in the integrity of mankind and treachery abounds. It is sometimes found in the most unexpected places. Some people you would think were almost immune to any gross wrong yield to some destructive temptation and fall sometimes to rise no more.

Decit, sham, pretense, insincerity, vacillation and treachery abounds. Oh, deception, thou art one of the Devil's most faithful and destructive agents. Often it begins in the home. Wife and husband deceiving each other and parents and children deceiving each other. Often it is in the foundation of children's lives and causes their failure, fall and destruction, both soul and body. The Book tells us the devil hath deceived the whole world, and he began his destructive work in the Garden of Eden with Adam and Eve, our foreparents. They listened to his deceit, believed his lies and fell and through them humanity fell and all down the ages he has continued his deceptive, dirty and destructive work. He deceived the old antediluvian. They heeded Satan's lips and refused to heed Noah, a preacher of righteousness, who warned them of their danger. But

Mrs. Day said we are too prone to change with the wind so to speak. This is a sad truth which has caused many tears and heartaches. So many are friends to your face and foes behind your back, adaptable, reversible, unstable, peace destroyers. There are some people who are ready to sanction any false doctrine that is in accord with their carnality. Some years ago I heard a church member say that if Jesus was on earth at this time he would

Mileage Hints

By J. F. Winchester, S.A.E. Supervisor of Motor Vehicle Equipment, Standard Oil Company of New Jersey

WHY is it that one motorist gets 30,000 miles out of a set of tires, while a contemporary will obtain only 20,000 miles from the same type and grade of tires? The reason is usually because the first motorist takes the trouble to heed a few simple rules designed to minimize tire wear.

Tires are built to render real mileage today; but they can not do so if the motorist who uses them is careless. The driver should inspect them periodically for nails, glass and other foreign substances in the tread, which will work their way in and cause trouble. He should keep his wheels in alignment. He should not permit worn or loose wheel bearings, tire rims out of line on the wheel, springs out of line or loose spring clips.

Every motorist should have his tires inflated to the pressure recommended by the manufacturer at least once a week during the summer months. Under-inflation causes undue wear. One way to aid in keeping the tires properly inflated is to be sure the valves are not worn and leaky and to use valve caps which keep out dust and dirt. By heeding these few simple rules and by driving carefully over rough roads you will get out of your tires all the mileage the manufacturer built into them.

they being led by the deceiver and the arch enemy of mankind, continued in their wickedness and the flood came and destroyed them all, reminding us that sin and suffering stand related as cause and effect in Divine order and appointment. And this appears both nationally and personally.

Lost confidence is prevalent and is getting worse, which is clear evidence of the downward trend and degeneracy of our country. Dear people, it is no pleasure to me to say this about my beloved country. I wish something could be said or done to get people to think and seriously consider their own destiny and also that of our beloved country. Lost confidence is a serious loss. I pity the ones who have lived such low, dirty, deceitful lives whose conduct is so vile that no one has any confidence in them and if we have only a little respect or love for them and they have lost about all that is worth living for and they have no one to blame but themselves, and we can all live a truthful, honest life and be worthy of the confidence and respect of other people and lost confidence like many other evils brings trouble and loss to both the guilty and innocent.

Those who can be trusted to stick to the truth and right at all times seem to be few and hard to find in Mrs. Day's opinion and she is right. It is a sad fact which tells of the moral let-down of our country. Fifty or sixty years ago about half of our adult people were trustworthy. But, oh, how are the mighty fallen. Only a few are truly trustworthy, and yet they are trusted by some people. How often do parents allow their daughters to go night or day and most anywhere with young men which they know to be untrustworthy. Fifty years ago this would not have been allowed by parents. Oh, for the time to come when people will be more interested in virtue and morality. The moral let-down of the present is terrific and far reaching. It is a heavy blow on the foundation of our national greatness. Virtue, once dethroned is seldom again enthroned. And this often makes marriage a failure at the beginning. And this often implies dissension, discord, separation and divorce with all the train of evil that follows.

Mrs. Day said we are too prone to change with the wind so to speak. This is a sad truth which has caused many tears and heartaches. So many are friends to your face and foes behind your back, adaptable, reversible, unstable, peace destroyers. There are some people who are ready to sanction any false doctrine that is in accord with their carnality. Some years ago I heard a church member say that if Jesus was on earth at this time he would adapt himself to the present evil conditions and environments. It is sadly true that with many people the old time religion and at least a part of the Bible is out of date, out of style, antedate at the present evil trend of affairs and unholly world conditions. What else can we expect but the just punishment of the Almighty and most merciful God who has waited long, is waiting, still we treat no other friend so ill.

So many whose life and conduct is such that they invite evil suspicion and the lost confidence of people should treat them as though they were immune to all evil.

I commend to the readers of The Courier of June 7 under the caption, "Who can be trusted." Read it re-read, consider and heed. Written by Mrs. Day, and I thank her for her kind allusion to my weak efforts. So much does a word of praise or approval cheer us as we travel the rugged ways of an evil world. Life is largely what we make it and largely what others make it. Some one has said life is what we are alive to. It is a mistake to be alive only to appetite, pleasure, pride, money making and worldly accumulating. We should be alive to kindness, helpfulness, charity, virtue, and the will, laws and commands of God.

HOW THE COOK GOT EVEN WITH AN F. F. V.

(Upton Wilson, Reidsville Review) Prof. J. E. McLean, superintendent of Rockingham county schools, tells this one:

A cultured scion of one of the F. F. V.'s was a guest in a hunting lodge on the North Carolina coast. The Negro cook at this lodge prided himself on his skill with skillet and pan. The first day he placed a savory dish of venison before the Virginian. The latter ate it heartily, pronounced it good but thought Virginia deer would have provided meat just a bit more tempting. The second day the cook served a most delectable fish that had been caught off the North Carolina coast. This, too, the Virginian went for gustily but when he had finished he was nevertheless of the opinion that the fish would have been better had it been caught in Virginia waters.

The cook said nothing out thought a great deal, followed it by a bit of action, with the result that soon after the Virginian retired for the night he sprang out of bed with a small turtle clinging to his great toe. His cries for help brought the cook flying to his aid. "What is this thing that has me by the toe," the critical guest demanded, "a sea turtle?"

"Nawwir, boss, dat ain't no turtle. Dat's jes a young Nawth Carolina bed bug." And after a slight pause, "Kin you beat dat in Verginny?"
