CONGRESS ADJOURNS

Now that Congress has adjourned we hope to see President Roosevelt carry on with his good work. When we consider the state of affairs just a little more than a year ago it is wonderful what he has accomplished. Of course, some of the things which he set in motion have not proven 100 per cent as he would have had them, but undoubtedly he has battled better than 75 per cent—and you will remember he said he thought that would be a mighty fine average.

One of the best things he has put across was the NRA; this has been a power for good, though there have been disappointments in this to some, but on the whole it has worked wonderfully well; it has shortened hours of labor, at the same time increased wages, and it has done much to kill cut-throat competition; it has put many manufacturers, who were just about ready to give up, on their feet, and it has wonderfully stimulated business. We would say of all of the alphabetical forms of relief it has been the most successful. The CWA has not done so well; in fact, we doubt if it has been worth the cost; we all remember how every one in this country, from the higher-ups down to the smallest weekly newspaper, criticised Great Britain for its dole, but if we are honest we must admit that the dole as practised by Great Britain has proven more successful than the dole, under the name of CWA; as evidence of its failure it has been abolished and the FERA set up to take its place, but with it being handled by the same management it is doubtful as to what will be the outcome; but we are willing to leave it all in the hands of our wise president, for we believe he knows and will bring things to pass.

Before Congress adjourned almost all of the important legislation asked by the President was passed; some few of what might be called minor things went over, but enough to give President Roosevelt the greatest power probably ever given a President of these United States.

Before adjourning Congress passed a bill giving the President power to revise, upward or downward, the tariff without the consent of Congress. When it is remembered we are living under the most unjust tariff laws ever enacted it can readily be seen the possibilities in this act; and we are confidently expecting to see many changes which will operate to the great advantage of both the manufacturer and the farmer; it will be so revised that the manufacturer will find a market for some of the surplus, and the farmer will likewise find an outlet for some of the surplus which has been the bane of the country for the past several years.

Undoubtedly the two most in the mind of the President at this time are the farmer and the laboring man; while he did not ask for the Bankhead and Kerr bills, he will almost surely sign them, and if the bills prove to be what their authors claim for them, the farmer will be amply protected, and the labor bill passed just before adjournment ought to enable the President to settle all labor troubles without the costly and often deadly strikes. With the adjournment of Congress we are looking for a real revival of business and ere another Congress meets we are hoping things will so have cleared up that there will not be that unrest usually following a gathering of the National Congress.

While sitting at our desk yesterday afternoon a car drove up on the sidewalk headed, apparently, direct for our door. Who was it? Why, Carl Goerch, of course. We told him we knew it was some darn fool but we did not know which one. He said, "you are all wrong, just another dam phool." But Carl is the only original, and if he did not act out of the ordinary it would not be Carl Goerch. He started a venture in Raleigh in which we all said he could not last six months, and lo, he has passed his first mile post, celebrated his first year, and is going strong, and best of all, is making money. The State is really a unique publication, nothing else like it, and if you are not reading it you are missing a real treat.

Carl was accompanied by his wife's sister and we are glad he told us who his companion was, for we thought he was pulling something over on Mrs. Goerch. Of course, he introduced us, but we were so struck with her good looks, and so surprised that one with such charms should be riding around with him, that we completely lost the name. We think we were excusable, don't you?

The Democratic State convention will meet in Raleigh tomorrow, when Hon. Cameron Morrison will be the keynote. If Cam can't put on the rousements no one else need try. They will be ther from Manteo to Murphy, and all intermediate points.

BEULAH W. M. U. MEETING AT MILL CREEK CHURCH

The W. M. U. of Beulah Association held its annual meeting June 12 with Mill Creek church. All the W. M. Societies in the association were represented except two. The attendance was splendid. Our faithful superintendent, Mrs. R. L. Wilburn, arranged an inspiring and helpful program. The theme of the meeting was "Recapture the Rapture of Prayer."

The meeting opened with the audience singing the W. M. U. hymn "All Hail The Power," after which the W. M. U. watchword was repeated. Rev. N. J. Todd, pastor of the hostess church, led the devotional. Mrs. Earle Gentry extended a most cordial welcome to which Mrs. J. A. Massey responded. The reports of the W. M. S. presidents showed much progress during the past year. Mrs. Earle Gentry and Miss Julia Gentry sang "Tread Softly." The superintendent's report was given by Mrs. Wilburn. At the close of her report she made a brief talk on prayer. Prayer for the advancement of the work in the association was led by Miss Frances Todd. Mrs. W. F. West made an interesting talk on "Our W. M. U. Pin and Its Significance." At the close of her talk, in a very pleasing manner, she presented the Supt. Mrs. Wilburn, a W. M. U. pin from Beulah W. M. U. After the appointment of committees and the recognition of pastors and visitors, the audience sang "Take Time." The address of the morning was given by Mrs. W. N. Jones, president of N. C. W. M. U. She stressed the Heck Memorial program and what it has done in our work. The W. M. U. watchword, "Laborers together with God," and the meaning of our W. M. U. hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," were discussed, also, by her. Rev. L. W. Coggin dismissed the audience with prayer.

A bountiful lunch was served in the grove by the churches. The afternoon session opened with the audience singing "Living for Jesus." The devotional was conducted by Rev. W. F. West. His discussion was based on a selection from Nehemiah. He, too, emphasized the importance of prayer. Miss Mary Gentry gave a brief report of the Y. P. work. They did excellent work last year including the organization of many new auxiliaries. The reports were given by the officers. We regret that our efficient Personal Service chairman, Mrs. A. J. Crutchfield, is unable to carry on the work on account of her health. Mrs. Creath was appointed to fill the vacancy. The Stewardship chairman, Mrs. R. C. Garrison, was unable to be present. She is recuperating from an appendicitis operation. We wish for both Mrs. Crutchfield and Mrs. Garrison a speedy recovery. Mrs. Huel Gentry and Miss Julia Gentry sang

"Sweet Hour of Prayer." Mrs. J. M. Whitted, supt. of Greenboro division brought a message on W. M. U. Hints and Helps. The key address of the afternoon was given by Rev. J. C. McGregor. He followed his usual manner of first securing the attention of the audience with his original jokes and then he forcefully discussed "The Penetrating Power of Prayer," using for his background the experience of Lydia on the bank of the river in Philippi holding a W. M. U. meeting. He pointed out how prayer opened her heart, her home, and in so doing, she adopted the entire program of missions. Prayer would do the same for us today and a serious responsibility is resting upon the women today. A demonstration "A Happy W. M. U. Family," was presented by Mill Creek. Mrs. Todd, Rev. Mr. Todd's mother, made an inspiring talk on "How Loyal Am I?" The W. M. U. banner was presented to Mill Creek for the best W. M. U. The banner next year will be given to the society making the most improvement during 1934. The annual W. M. U. meeting will be held next year with Clement church, Tuesday after the second Sunday in June. Mr. Coggin led the closing prayer.

An Appreciation

We, the members of Lambeth Memorial Baptist church and Missionary Society wish to give a tribute of honor to our esteemed and loyal friend and W. M. S. president, Mrs. A. L. Boyd. We attempt to express in the language of the heart the measure of her whom we had come to revere and love as a mother in our church. She was a matchless leader in the society and church, who made full proof of her service as the Lord imparted these gifts to her. She did a full day's work for the missionary program, the greatest cause on earth.

She rallied to the help of her fellow-soldiers of the cross and kept the revival fires burning both in the society and the church and caused the Spirit to take hold upon the hearts of the people. Her missionary zeal could not be surpassed nor forgotten. She threw her whole soul behind every phase of the missionary work looking to Jesus for guidance. She was a spur and inspiration to "expect great things from God and attempt great things for God." Her soul was formed for the duties and the delights of a great leader and missionary endeavor. Nature fashioned her in with the general plan. She had turned her attention to the missionary and church life, and was truly among the great. She answered the call to missionary work in her own church and community. She worked for a great victory for the church and to win a lost world to Christ and claimed the Bible to be the greatest missionary textbook. Her life proved the missionary organization to be the greatest organization, an army of the living God, and every soldier has serious business in it. I never knew one whose power was greater to arouse the heart to duty and the soul to a sense of missions. Her life was inspiring and convincing. Those who knew her could not fail to catch that she fervently sought their spiritual well being, and that her heart burned with holy zeal for the Master's Kingdom. As she lived and taught, hunger and thirst for God were awakened. She sought always to guide the church's business to successful conclusion. She was fitted for such leadership because she possessed a strong mind, a quick perception and sound judgment in all christian ministry.

Hallie Mae Wagstaff.
