

Hear D about TOWN

Our good friend, Mr. John D. Winstead jumped on us for stating that the tobacco crop had not suffered materially from the drought. Well now, really we do not think at the time the article was written that the crops had suffered very much, but we regret we could not truthfully say no what they had not suffered, for they have. In looking around the other day in a drive out into the country we find that crops, both corn and tobacco, does not look so well as it did a few weeks since; of course, if we can have rain soon there will yet be good crops, but rain is very much needed.

However, we venture the assertion that if any one makes good crops, of both corn and tobacco, John D. will do it; he is one of our real farmers and somehow always manages to raise not only good tobacco, but has corn and hay to sell his neighbors.

Another good farmer who is always to be reckoned with when you start out to find real farmers is our friend Mr. John H. Foushee; he has some of the finest corn to be seen, but it too, is needing rain. Well, friends, we kinder feel like the late Judge D. W. Bradsher, "what-ever is to be will be, if it never does be," and every thing will work out for the best. Let's not cross the bridge until we get to it, it will rain in due season.

We kinder agree with our friend Charlie Williams; he says that Nat Jordan and the writer have laid down on him, and he is having to give all of his time to headquarters. Well, since Dr. Tucker has got a job and gone on duty, and Nat we believe is just naturally too lazy to stir about this hot weather—and we are also down with the same terrible malady, it is pretty hard on Charlie, but we promise as soon as we have a good rain and the thermometer drops about 40 degrees we will report for duty.

Times may be hard, and the New Deal may not have done all that it should have done, but something has happened; the folks have money or mighty good credit for standing in front of our office door right now are four cars in sight, all save one less than six months old.

The lunch clubs, the Rotarians and the Kiwanians, as they are sometimes called, are supposed to sponsor any and everything which will be for the betterment of the town and community, and right now we know of nothing more worthwhile than to get behind a chamber of commerce. The town is suffering for want of some one whose business it would be to look after any and all movements for the good of the town and county. What is everybody's business is nobody's business, and that is Roxboro's condition today. Just because it did not work just as you thought it should have worked is no reason why we should not try it again.

Rev. W. F. West, one of the best loved ministers of this town, is also a booster proper for Roxboro. Saturday he had occasion to visit Greensboro and while there called on the secretary of the chamber of commerce and took up the matter of Route 144. This, if you will look at a road map, is the most direct route from Greensboro and points north to Richmond, the route at present is completed from Burlington to a point on Route 62, when you strike about 12 miles of sand clay; just about a mile of this sand clay is in Person county, where you again get on hard surface. Contract has been let for about six miles from Roxboro to Virginia, leaving a gap of about ten miles on the northern end. Mr. West says Greensboro is interested in this road; after leaving Greensboro he had a very pleasant talk with Mr. Mitchell, secretary of Burlington chamber of commerce, who was likewise interested in the project. If all of us will get busy, as has Mr. West, we will soon see something doing on this long delayed and much needed road project.

Looking Back Ten Years

The Following Items Were Picked At Random From An Issue Of The Courier This Week's Issue Ten Years Ago

Franklin-Moore: Washington, D. C., July 21st.—There took place at noon yesterday the marriage of William K. Moore of Roxboro and Miss Nancy C. Franklin whose home is near Chapel Hill, N. C. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John E. Briggs, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, the event taking place at the home of Mr. Briggs, who is the uncle of the bridegroom. The young couple came to Washington in order that the wedding ceremony could be performed by Mr. Briggs.

Mr. Clayton Cuts Barn of Tobacco: Mr. George W. Clayton of Hurdle Mills says let the warehousemen get ready, as he cut one barn of tobacco this week. This is the first report we have had of any tobacco being cut in this county, although of course it is almost time for some of the southern markets to open. Tobacco in general in other sections of Virginia and North Carolina belt is not looking as good as it might, although the crop in Person County has shown wonderful improvement recently. Indications are that prices will be good.

Beulah Association to Meet at Providence Church: The ninetieth session of the Beulah Association will be held on July 29th and 30th at Providence Church. This office is in receipt of the official program for the meeting. The sessions will last through all of Tuesday and Wednesday and several local speakers will appear on the program which will no doubt prove of great interest to those in attendance.

A HAPPY REUNION

On Saturday, July 14, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Martin were made happy when their sons and daughters gathered at their home near Christie and gave them a big supper. The table was put out under the trees in the cool shade. Everybody just walked around the table and laughed and talked as they helped themselves to what they liked best. Meats, potatoes and sandwiches were the main courses served. Preserves and egg custards were served for the dessert. Cake and ice cream were served afterwards for refreshments. Everybody seemed to enjoy themselves and they began to join in interesting conversation. Forty-two were present.

The children and grandchildren: Mr. and Mrs. Alton Stuart of Bryn Mayr, Penn.; Mr. Elliott Epps and Mr. Casey Epps, Bryn Mawr, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shepherd, Mr. H. L. Martin and children, Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. John Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Martin, Wooddale; Mrs. Jewell Martin, Misses Sadie and Marianna Martin, Messrs. Edward Epps, James Martin, Canada Martin of Christie. Other guests present were: Misses Lou Johnson, Alma Coleman, and Mr. Reedy Shepherd of Virginia.

Unable To Get Labor

Tarboro, July 18.—A report has reached here that a farmer who resides within a few miles of this city has been unable to secure labor with which to gather his tobacco crop. It was stated that he would have to wait for a neighbors laborers to help him as some of them on relief would not work.

Bird's Eye View Church News

By F. O. Carver, Jr.

The only enemy that disturbs the peacefulness of the hot weather this week is that which comes from the contestants in the tennis tournament that is being sponsored by the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs. So far pairings have been drawn and a few of the preliminary matches have been played, but nothing like near all of them have even gotten a chance to play yet. Most of the playing is being done on the court of Bick Long and the court belonging to Cal-Vel Circle. Every day you see these folks who are promoting it around talking in little groups about the matches, when they are going to be played and speculating on the probably winner in each. Oh well, the good old summer time, when the thermometer never seems to quit going up is the time for such energetic fellows as tennis and baseball players while we other luckless fellows have to sit back and watch the fun, enduring the heat as well as we can. But, really there is a lot of fuss about this tournament and we hope the best man wins.

The community house. What can we say about the community house this time. Last week we said that they had started work on it, and we must admit that this was a big improvement over what has been done there in weeks heretofore. But as yet we can not see any signs of any work having been done. Now we know that we are neither engineers nor contractors, nor carpenters, and that perhaps we are showing the impatience of the ordinary layman when we say that we see no signs of anything having been done. But, honestly, we are so anxious about the community house, because we do not wish to see barricades put up around this project which was the fate of one of our local projects a few weeks hence. So lets keep the barricades down and the old chin up, and pretty soon we'll be having a housewarming in the new community house.

Resolutions of Respect
The Heavenly Father needed another angel to help Him in His work, so on January 15, 1934, He called the soul of Mrs. Isalah Gentry to its eternal home.
The hearts of the members of the W. M. U. of Mill Creek Baptist Church were made sad at her going, but knowing that she was one of the finest of christian characters we are thankful that God lent her to us eighty-three years.
She was a member of the Woman's Missionary Society.
We, the members of the W. M. S., wish to express our love for our beloved member who was earnestly in doing the will of God. May we feel that our loss is her eternal gain;
Therefore, be it resolved:
First, That we extend to the family our sympathy;
Second, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Courier, a copy be sent to the family, and a copy be placed on the W. M. S. record.
Mrs. Earl Gentry, Mrs. Dewey Dickerson, Mrs. Buck Strum.

All Time Heat Records Cause Deaths To Mount

(Continued from first page) lists battled with snow balls when one inch of snow fell on Mount Evans. Cattle and grains suffered severely. Thousands of head of cattle faced starvation and death from thirst in the Great Central Plains. Stockmen sought to market unusually large shipments to save them from ruin, but the live stock centers were glutted with supplies and urged that additional shipments be withheld. The Chicago yards had 75,000 head and was hampered with a strike.

WALKOUT HATLS LIVESTOCK TRADE IN CHICAGO YARDS

their facilities already overtaxed by the glut of animals on hand. Two commission houses provided fodder for some of the stock and the Union Stock Yards & Transit Co., which operates the yards, announced it would attempt to get sustenance to the government-purchased animals.

Trucks were used to convey animals that expired to rendering works. Although the union men were out in full force, picketing the pens with "this place unfair to organized labor" signs upon their backs, only one instance of violence was reported. A nonunion laborer was struck on the head by an iron water plug as he stood on a hay dock. His assailant was not known.
