

HearD about TOWN

"Be sure your sins will find you out" is another truth often forgotten, but nevertheless is true. Monday afternoon a traveling man from Virginia called on us and during his conversation he asked us if we knew the state official who drove a car with license tag No. 3. Of course we did, and gave him the information, and asked why such a question? Well, he said, I do not know where the gentleman driving the car was but when I passed through South Boston this afternoon I saw the car with that number parked in front of the ABC store. Now, if you do not happen to know what the ABC store is, we will tell you; it is the name for the Virginia bar room.

Fortunately the driver of the car bearing tag No. 3 is like Caesar's wife, above suspicion, but even with that he can, and did, prove to us that he did not enter the store, and did not know he was parking near it until after he got out and left the car. However, he says the next time he goes to South Boston he will leave his car down near the Southern Railway station, which is several hundred yards from the aforesaid store.

Your Name 'Em: In discussing the article by Mr. White about North Carolina liquor a prominent gentleman said, "there are four places within a stone's throw of the court house where you can buy all of the liquor you want and any time you want it." We have been of the opinion that liquor could be had here without much difficulty but honestly, we did not think it was being handled as publicly as that. Kinder reflects on our officers, as well as our law abiding citizens, don't you think.

We believe there are as many beautiful homes in this county as you will find in any county in the State, certainly it is true if you consider the population. Among the beautiful country homes none are more attractive than the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Wagstaff about six miles west of town. While there may be, and are, disadvantages in living in the country, still, you just naturally can not refrain from breaking the tenth commandment when you see such lovely homes.

One of the most prosperous sections of this good county is that around Longville—this is the substitution of Roxboro. The farmers have good crops this season, and every one seems to have an eye for the beautiful, fresh paint being in evidence all about. Mr. F. D. Long, the efficient and popular chairman of the board of County Commissioners is, or would be if they had such an office, mayor and high-muck-nuck of this section.

Wanted, Help: That is the call Nat Jordan was making Monday afternoon at the headquarters of the Lazy Men's club. Nat said Charlie Williams was reported to have deserted him and left for South Carolina where he will put in some time in the tobacco business. Now, if it is proven beyond doubt that Charlie has actually gone to work we will have to deal with him pronto, for any man who so degrades himself as to go to work can not be a member of this respectable club and keep in good standing. But, somehow, we just do not believe Charlie has treated his faithful brethren in such manner.

Our good friend Dr. Tucker, the new postmaster, says he is getting on to the rules and regulations of the department all right, but really, he says, it has been so long since he did an honest day's work that it comes mighty awkward. But you can bet on the Doctor, for whatever he does he does right.

Week-End Houseparty

The following members of the young social set attended a house party at Carver's Cabin, Rougemont, last week-end: Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Harris, Misses Helen Morton, Winnie Wilburn, Waverly Thomas, Mary Elizabeth Sanders, and Messrs. Jake Taylor, John Campbell of Winston-Salem, George Thomas, and Reggie Harris. They reported a very enjoyable week-end in one of the prettiest spots anywhere around here in which to have a houseparty.

Arch Woods has the most peculiar piece of wood that it has ever been our experience to see. Petrified wood is not common in this section, although it may be in some other sections of this state and other states. But he has a piece up at the Central Service Station that must be away over one hundred years old. It is solid stone on one side and all the rest of it is hard. He says that he is going to use it for a razor hone as soon as he can get a smooth surface on it.

Some things that we need: Hard surfer streets in all sections of the town, repairs to those that we do have, a bigger tobacco market, and a chamber of commerce with a live-wire at the head who would answer every knock with two boosts.

Some things that are being done to answer some of our crying needs: The Woman's Club has started a library, the high school has built up a nice library in the past few years, a gymnasium is in process of construction at the high school, a long needed addition, the community house is being built and it looks that we are going to get it this time in spite of everything, and our tobacco folks seem to be perking up this time in an effort to have the market here that we should have.

Some things that we could use if we had them: Brighter street lights, public library with a wide selection of books, community playground with swimming pool, tennis courts, etc., golf club for the golf-minded populace, federal appropriation for a post office building here. What about it, folks? Its up to us. Let's go after these needs of our community.

TENNIS GOSSIP

Every afternoon large crowds gather to see the various play-offs in the championship matches for the coveted Tennis Trophy, a regular feature of the summer social activities here. This match is sponsored by those in and around town who like to play tennis. Whether you are any good or not you are eligible to enter the play-offs. Mr. J. A. Long and Collins & Alkman have very generously donated the use of their respective courts to the playing of the contest. In the beginning of the tournament there were twenty-odd players. This number has been weeded out until there are only two left in the upper bracket, these being Bick Long and Champ Winstead, Jr., it being generally conceded around among those who know that these two are the best in town. Thus it would seem that the real fight is going to come in the semi-finals, although there are others who will likely give the winner of the upper bracket a tight time in the final match. In the lower bracket the seeded players are Taylor, Newell and Gardner, with one match, that between Sam Robertson and Pung Stafford to be played. So we will see what we see when the final match has been played.

ATTENDING SCOUT CAMP

The following boys left Sunday for a week's camping trip at Camp Cherokee near Reidsville. From Scout Troop No. 49 Curtis Long, Bill Dickens, W. C. Warren, Jr., William, Bullock, Ben Broadwell, Bill Clay, Carol Spencer, Edward Harris, and Lloyd Gentry of Helena. From Troop No. 32: Bill Kane, Matt Long, Robert Smith, Donald Bradsher, Ben Thaxton, Donald Carver, Charles Ball, Charles Gates, Pridmore Thomas, Joe Blanks, J. D. Oliver, Leonard Bullard and Dick Puckett. All of these will spend a week in camp, learning about scouting. Dr. Robert Long, scoutmaster of Troop No. 49, carried the boys up to Camp Cherokee. He also carried along some other boys with him who spent the day, returning home Sunday night. These were: James Bradsher, Riley Wade, Basil Riley, Billie Murphy, Bob Whitten, Billie Michaels, Edward Leroy James and Thomas Warren. J. V. King also went along for the day's trip, carrying some of the boys on his car.

At Camp Cherokee, located just beyond Reidsville, the leaders of the Cherokee Council have put all available facilities for teaching the boys of the different units all they can about scouting in the short summer months. They have boating, bathing, regularly organized camp units for the boys and many other worthwhile features of scout training. The cost of the camp is very reasonable, being only seven dollars in toto, five of which may be paid in food.

1ST BAP. CHURCH

If I have strength, I owe the service of the strong.
If melody I have, I owe the world a song.
If I can stand when all around my post are falling;
If I can run with speed when needy hearts are calling;
And if my touch can light the dark of any night
Then I must pay the debt I owe with living light.

For any gift God gives to me I cannot pay;
Gifts are most mine when I most give them all away.
God's gifts are like his flowers
Which show their right to stay
By giving all their bloom and fragrance away;
Riches are not gold or land, estates or marts,
The only wealth that is, is found in human hearts.

LOOK at the baby in this picture. You yawned didn't you? Why? Simply because one good yawn deserves another. Or if you prefer to be psychological, it's a reflex action.

At any rate, when the baby in this picture made his debut on a car card in New York's crowded subways in behalf of a well-known 99.44 per cent pure soap, it was remarked in an equally well-known newspaper column that everyone who looked at the baby yawned. And if you don't care to take the columnist's word for it, try it on your friends.

STORY OF LOGAN MEADOWS

of murder in the second degree, and the prosecution agreed to accept that plea. Thus when the case was called at the fall term the indictment was changed to read murder in the second degree, to which the defendant plead guilty, and he was sentenced to serve twenty-five years at hard labor in the State Prison at Raleigh. In 1919 this sentence was terminated and the state had been paid in full for the slaying of Willis Royster. From this point the history of Meadows is vague, since he went back to Durham County to live. It is said that he committed some offense there and was sent back to the State Prison, and was only released on July 12 of this year.

Logan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Meadows, was born and reared in that section of Orange County which later was transferred into Durham County. When he first served a prison term he could not have been more than twenty or twenty-one years of age. At this time he is sixty-five or sixty-six years old. And now in the declining years of his life, having paid to the State his debt, he sits and ponders on the past, reviewing in his mind, perhaps, the joys and the sorrows, taking the bad with the good. But now the cup of bitterness seems to be running over for him. Homeless, with no source of income, the old man applied to the transient bureau in Durham for aid. Undoubtedly they aided him there temporarily, but when they went to see where they could place him permanently, Durham said he was Orange County's charge since he was born and reared in Orange County; Orange County said that he was

Mileage Hints

THE spark plug is one of those parts of an automobile which the average motorist feels he can install and promptly forget for thousands of miles. So he can; but only at the expense of truly efficient operation of his automobile. Spark plugs should be checked over now and then. A check-up may reveal a loose connection, a burned-out or thin resistance unit which permits only a small amount of current to pass through the plug, improperly set interrupter points, burned points; or it may be carbonized and cause missing at low or high speeds. Any one of these faults is sufficient to cause inefficient combustion, missing or pre-ignition. Faulty plugs often increase gas consumption.

The mechanically minded motorist can inspect his own plugs. He should be sure they are screwed in tight. He should check the connections, look for cracks in the porcelain, clean the points and test the spark plug gap. This last job is best done by a competent mechanic, as the size of the gap is determined by various factors. Plugs can be cleaned with alcohol, gasoline or kerosene, preferably with alcohol.

Periodic attention to the spark plugs will do much to insure your getting smooth engine performance and maximum mileage.

Durham County's charge since he lived in that part of Orange that later became Durham County. We don't know, but it seems that the old man could be given someplace where he might live out the few remaining years of his life in comparative comfort after the stormy career that, for him, has just closed.

Nazis Accused Of Killing Dollfuss Die Upon Gallows

ment of Kurt Von Schuschnigg, Dollfuss' successor, took stern measures to suppress Nazis, ordering that those who engaged in rebellion be placed in concentration camps at hard labor. Their property is to be confiscated.

Holzweber and Planetta were hanged after the prescribed three hours following their conviction by the court martial.

Their counsel made a plea for clemency, which was rejected by President Miklas.

The men had faced the court calmly, and the official statement regarding the execution, which was witnessed only by government officials designated to do so, reported their defiance as continuing to the end.

Pale faces of the soldiers who witnessed today's execution indicated the strain they were under.

Another witness was black-robed Provincial Court Councillor Kreuzhuber, who was required to watch the hangman carry out his orders.

He saluted the police and then ran up the steps to his chamber.

Then a woman in a blue dress, weeping bitterly and supported by two friends, came out.

She was Frau Planetta, who yesterday had begged to be allowed to express her sympathy to the wife of the man her husband killed.

(The wish has not been granted and Frau Dollfuss now has returned to her children in Riccione, Italy.)

The official statement said the pro-German cries of the two men came after the death warrant was read to each as he stood on the gallows.

Holzweber was allowed a farewell moment with his wife, and Planetta said goodbye to his wife, sister and a sister-in-law.

The trial of Planetta and Holzweber started yesterday, but was adjourned late at night after a long discussion of the counsel and resumed this morning.

Not Intended.

"I did not mean to kill the Chancellor," Planetta had said in the court, where he and his co-defendant seemed the calmest persons present. "I am sorry."

Official data for June and July are lacking, but these months have seen industrial unrest mount until a climax was reached in the San Francisco general strike.

Officials say the cost to the nation as a whole, directly and indirectly, probably would run into the hundreds of millions. They point out that the slash in the income of the workers alone would be around $50,000,000, if not more.

The department's summary of the number of days lost until the end of May was: January, 1,926,035 days; February, 789,553; March, 1,091,023; April, 2,937,515, and May, 3,477,893.

At the end of May 44,151 employees were out because of controversies with their employers. An offhand estimate of the number affected now—or out within the past week—is 200,000.

WASHING SOIL BIGGEST MENACE

"Washing away of the soil is the biggest menace to present-day agriculture," declared W. E. Bowers, agronomist of the soil erosion service, United States Department of Interior, who was in Roxboro Friday.

"Soil erosion caused the decline in crop yields of Oklahoma alone. The cost to North Carolina farmers from unrestricted erosion is at to the extent of $100,000,000 annually," pointed out Mr. Bowers, least $66,000,000 a year, and that doesn't include the stupendous expense erosion causes the state in damage to highways, the filling up of water-supply reservoirs, and the silting of streams and harbors."

Mr. Bowers said the government had found recently that sediment in the last five years, since the 340-acre High Point municipal lake was impounded on Deep River, had filled that reservoir with silt to around 10 percent of the lake's capacity. The High Point reservoir, he in-

MILL CREEK CITIZEN DIES

Mr. George W. Averitt, prominent resident of the Mill Creek section, died at his home on last Thursday about 4:30 P. M. His death came as a result of a heart ailment with other complications. He had been ill for some months, but had been able to attend to his regular duties until about three months ago. His condition became critical about ten days before his death, and he failed steadily until death occurred. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Annie Averitt, one son, Clarence, and two daughters, Misses Blanche and Jewell Averitt. He is also survived by his father, James T. Averitt, and four brothers and two sisters.

Funeral services were conducted from the Rock Grove Missionary Baptist Church with Rev. J. B. Curran and Elder Roy Monk in charge. Active pall-bearers were: Messrs. I. C. Tingen, A. R. Tingen, O. N. Tingen, N. L. Tingen, C. O. Tingen, and Tommy Hicks. Floral-bearers were Misses Nancy B. Averitt, Lillian Averitt, Polly Vickers and Messrs. Silas Averitt, James Averitt, Merillon Averitt, Oliver Averitt, Jessie Averitt, Ernest Dixon, Thomas Dixon and Durrell Tingen. The music was furnished by the choir of the Rock Grove Church. At the conclusion of the funeral services the body was buried in the church cemetery.

FIFTY MILLIONS COST OF STRIKES TO THIS NATION

The financial loss entailed by strikers in America has been assembled and given out for the public information through the press of this country by conservative estimates workers already have lost 15,000,000 days of this year because of strikes or lockouts—and all the returns are not in.

Labor Department records show that there were 10,000,000 man-days in which workmen went without pay because of labor disputes up to June-1.

Official data for June and July are lacking, but these months have seen industrial unrest mount until a climax was reached in the San Francisco general strike.

Officials say the cost to the nation as a whole, directly and indirectly, probably would run into the hundreds of millions. They point out that the slash in the income of the workers alone would be around $50,000,000, if not more.

formed, cost the citizens of that city something like $1,000,000. In 40 years as the present rate of siltling, the Deep River lake will be extinct, according to government specialists.

In order that its water supply may be protected High Point officials are asking cooperation of the soil erosion service to prevent the aggravated washing of silt into the lake. A movement is on foot to interest the government in helping to provide a protective cover of trees and grass on all land for some distance surrounding the lake property.

A Legal Will MAY SAVE MONEY FOR HEIRS

Your will is probably the most important document you will ever sign and it should be a monument to your business judgment. Unlike most business documents a will does not go into effect until after death of the maker, when it is too late to make changes.

A will based upon a carefully made estate plan is a necessity, and postponement of action is unwise, unbusinesslike. Our suggestion for an estate plan that will give consideration to money saving privileges and protective measures allowed to a testator, can be put into legal form in your will by an attorney of your own choice.

An interview in confidence without obligation will be welcomed.
