EXPERT CALLED FOR GUIDANCE IN 'PURSUED'

First White Child Born In Borneo Now Gives Hollywood Help

Those whose enjoyment of motion picture includes noting technical errors probably will meet disappointment when they see "Pursued," a dramatic story of British North Borneo, which comes to the Palace Theatre on Thursday September 6th.

When the writing of the story was assigned, John Arensma, native of Borneo, was engaged in the capacity of technical advisor.

Of Dutch parentage, Arensma was the first white child born in British North Borneo and he now uses, for business purposes, the surname, Dafu, meaning "white child," given him by the Malay natives.

The attire of Rosemary Ames, Victor Jory, Pert Kelton, Russell Hardie and the other players in the cast, the streets, houses and other settings were checked by Arensma to insure authenticity.

"Pursued" was produced by Sol M. Wurtzel and directed by Louis King. It is based on a story by Larry Evans.

Human Stories Like 'Housewife' Catch Interest Of Public

So-called "human stories" do not run in cycles, but burst suddenly and obtrusively into the midst of other cycles. This has been the history of the American stage.

"Peg o' My Heart" came in the midst of a cycle of very heavy "dramas"; "Abies Irish Rose" stepped into the middle of a mystery rage; "Seventh Heaven" walked in calmly to disturb a run of problem plays.

Recent pictures definitely mark a trend toward this simple human story.

Warner Bros. which has gone as far as any other producer toward the ultra-modern and sophisticated is also among the first to recognize the tendency. Two of their recent films, "As the Earth Turns" and "The Merry Frink" were plain stories of plain people. Public response to these was so favorable they produced "Housewife," which comes to the Palace Theatre on Friday September 12th.

"Housewife" is the story of a wife who inspired her husband to win success and then sees him turn out to be a more flashy woman.

George Brent, Bette Davis, Ann Dorak, are the three members of the triangle while others in the cast include John Halliday, Ruth Donnelly, Hobart Cavanaugh, Rob-

Jean Harlow Makes Hit With Calif. Police

Pasadena Cops Liked Star So Much They Made Her "Honorary Chief"

They "mugged" platinum-blond Jean Harlow at the Pasadena, Calif. police station before she finished her starring role in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "The Girl from Missouri" which is to be seen Monday and Tuesday September 11 and 12 at the Palace Theatre.

She was photographed and fingerprinted by the police, not because she had violated any of the Crown City's laws, but because she had previously broken an important engagement to appear as honored guest at the Pasadena police department ball.

Her presence at the festivities had aided in making the ball the most successful in the history of the Pasadena department. So the bluecoats rewarded her by appointing her honorary police chief of the city.

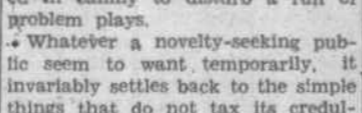

The ceremony took place at the police headquarters, where Police Chief pinned a chief's gold badge on her. He told her she shall always be honorary chief of the department during her absence from the city and active chief whenever she visits Pasadena.

But to become "Chief" she had to go through the same rigid routine to which all law enforcement officers must submit. She was fingerprinted, then--in the same Identification Bureau, even in the same chair where Pasadena's most notorious criminals had been photographed--the blonde star was "mugged" frontwise and sidewise.

Margaret Lindsay New Type Actress; Beauty With Brains

Screen actress, 1934 variety, she might be called--this lovely young Margaret Lindsay who plays opposite Warren William in "The Dragon Murder Case," the First National production which comes to the Palace Theatre on Wednesday, Sept. 12.

There's nothing sensational or flamboyant about Margaret. She typifies the newer group of film youngsters who now hold forth in Hollywood--well-bred, intelligent, poised, and intent on making good in the profession she has chosen for her own.

Margaret is sociable, but not particularly social. She goes places because she knows she'll have a good time--and not because she should be seen there.

She lives conservatively and says that with many subjects that would have been so much Greek to the fluffily-brained ingenue of early film days.

She lives conservatively and saves a good part of her salary. She never expects to own a Rolls-Royce as long as Fords are being made.

"The Dragon Murder Case" is the most baffling and exciting of all the mystery thrillers by the famous author, S. S. Van Dine. Warner-
