BEWARE OF SMOOTH TONGUE ARTISTS

The Roxboro tobacco market opened yesterday and with the coming of the opening came also the smooth tongue artists who will ply their best efforts to separate you from your hard earned money; notwithstanding there is every indication that the farmer is going to get a profit for his labor this year, it is of great importance that he make every dollar do a dollar's duty. A large majority of the farmers, as well as white collar men, laborers and professional men, to say nothing of the newspaper folks, are in debt, and it behooves every one to do his utmost to relieve the situation by paying something on these debts. Especially do we want to warn our farmer friends, and their good wives, to beware of the agent who calls trying to sell them something for which they possibly have little or no need; remember, these slick tongue artists are professionals in their lines and they could almost persuade the dead that they needed a new suit of clothes. The article they will present to you may be all right, but remember, these things can usually be bought for less money at your own nearby country store, for it costs money to travel over the country making a sale here and there.

We rejoice with the farmer in his prosperity, for we know the past few years have been hard on him and his family; the good wife has hardly known what it was to have a new dress, or a new fall hat—and every woman, either in town or country, wants above all things a fashionable hat to wear when she goes to church, or makes a trip to town, and the old man has worn that same old suit until it is as thin that the winds have little regard for it, while the children have had to go barefoot until the winter was almost gone, if not all of the winter. Yes, we know these things and we would not for a moment insist on you taking all of your money and trying to square all of your accounts, for you and yours are entitled to some of the luxuries, and no one will condemn you for giving your families some of the things mentioned; but please do not let the shark who has no interest in you other than to fleece you out of your money get any of it.

STRIKE SETTLED

Such was the news that came over the wires Monday, and in settling the strike every one was manifestly pleased. While the strike has been called off and many workers back at their accustomed tasks, the matter is still to be threshed out, and no one can claim a victory, for no one knows just what the results will be. The President will name three boards which will take into consideration the questions in dispute, namely the stretch-out, hours and wages and the powers of bargaining. These matters are perfectly willing to leave in the hands of the boards to be appointed by the President, for we believe he will name men, possibly some women, who will have the interest of both capital and labor at heart.

It ended as all knew it would eventually end, by arbitration, and that is the only way such matters can end, but the trouble was, why strike before making an effort for peaceful settlement? It did no one any good, but on the contrary every one lost by it; the manufacturer lost from the close because while the mills were not running there were no profits, and the laborer lost millions in wages. May it be a long time before we see such a foolish proposition again.

With the tobacco market opened, no major football games to be played here, what have we to look forward to?

Yesterday was a red letter day for Roxboro, for notwithstanding every house was practically full of tobacco the buyers never let up for a minute, and the farmers were almost to a man satisfied with prices. It can no longer be said the Roxboro buyers are not interested in our market, they are and you may feel safe in entrusting your tobacco to them.

Roxboro has four big warehouses and every one is managed by folks you know, have known practically all your life, home-folks, and they are all interested in not simply what they can get out of the business on account of commissions, but they are your friends and want to help you.

And again we say, SELL YOUR TOBACCO IN ROXBORO.

NEW JERSEY TO CHARGE HAUPTMANN WITH MURDER OF LINDBERGH BABY

mann probably will not be started until next week.

When asked what charges will be preferred in the state which has jurisdiction over the abduction and death of the baby, Wilentz turned to Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of the state police. They conferred a minute. Then Schwarzkopf said: "Kidnapping and murder."

Hurries Case.

District Attorney Samuel Foley, of the Bronx, hurried his case before the grand jury, calling nine witnesses at the first day's session.

Among these was Dr. John F. Condon—the "Jafsie" who paid over the $50,000 ransom as Lindbergh's intermediary.

"We presented the case," Foley said, "as completely as we could, but it is not yet coordinated, and can not be until we hear the testimony of important witnesses, including Colonel Henry Breckinridge (the Lindbergh attorney) and Colonel Lindbergh."

Foley's Evidence.

Building up his case of extortion against Hauptmann, Foley laid this evidence before the grand jurors: The testimony of Dr. Condon that he paid the money over; his partial identification of Hauptmann as the recipient.

The identification by John Perrone, the taxicab driver who says Hauptmann gave him a dollar to deliver a note to Condon's home—one of the ransom notes.

Testimony of Walter Lyle and John Lyons, filling station attendants who identified Hauptmann as the man who paid for gasoline with one of the ransom bills.

Foley has also summoned handwriting experts who have identified Hauptmann's writing as that of the ransom notes.

An impetus to the search for accomplices of Hauptmann was given with the disclosure in Washington that Department of Justice agents were seeking to prove that Isadore Fisch—Hauptmann's friend who went to Germany and died suddenly—was present in a Bronx cemetery the night "Jafsie" paid the ransom.

The evidence in the possession of the federal agents, it was known, strongly hinted at such a possibility.

One Of County's Best Schools

It was my pleasure Friday to spend the day at one of Person County's best schools, and as I stood upon the steps of this splendid building the thought presented itself to me that doubtless there were many people in the county who did not know of the fine work that is being done there. Olive Hill is the school in the Concord community.

The building was erected in 1920. Recitation rooms, big, spacious auditorium, office and library, standing in midst of three and half acre plot, well grassed, play grounds, trees, shrubs, and flowers and presents a most imposing appearance.

Miss Helen Graves of Leasburg is principal and has been for years and is assisted by fine corps of teachers. Miss Graves taught in the old building and planned this new building. She is a consecrated woman and most excellent teacher and feel sure many hundreds of girls and boys recall their school days under her guidance with pleasure and pride.

Situated nearby is the community house, built by state funds, under Miss Graves' direction, supplemented by other funds.

The county is to be congratulated upon possession of so great an asset as Olive Hill. May her days of usefulness continue.—C. G.

BETHEL HILL SCHOOL NEWS

The regular Friday morning chapel was conducted by Mr. West, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Roxboro. Mr. West introduced Rev. Walter Johnson, evangelist, who made a talk to the student body, using for his subject "Books and Beans."

The P. T. A.

The P. T. A. met in the school auditorium Monday, Sept. 24th. We were glad to have so many patrons of the school at this meeting. An interesting program of work has been planned by this organization. We invite the parents to cooperate with us in our plans for a bigger and better school through the P. T. A.

The Football Team

The football team will play Hillsboro at Hillsboro Friday, Sept. 28. Good luck!

Interesting Program

The sixth grade gave an interesting chapel program on Tuesday morning. The theme of this program was "Time." The eleventh grade will give a program Friday, morning at 10:30. We invite the fathers and mothers to these exercises and to visit us in our classes and to visit us in our classes and to visit us in our classes.

A Negro Minstrel

Thursday night, Oct. 4, a negro minstrel will be given at the school, at 7:30 o'clock. A baby show will be an added attraction. A program of fun, song, and dance is assured. The funds will go to the athletic association.

OXFORD LED OLD BELT

Oxford, Sept. 26.—Prices on the better grades of tobacco offered on the Oxford tobacco market skyrocketed Friday and the reopening Monday after the week-end holiday found prices firm on all grades, lugs selling exceedingly high.

The word is getting noised about that Oxford has led the belt in prices for several days and new patrons are coming daily, many of them from distant tobacco-growing counties.

Sales began without a block in any of the six large warehouses, which have a daily selling capacity of more than 500,000 pounds. Two full sets of buyers representing all the manufacturers and exporters of tobacco and a number of independent buyers bid spiritedly daily and keep prices highest in Oxford.

The bulk of the offerings to date have been ground primings, but a greater volume of leaves from the middle of the plant appeared on the market this week and this type of tobacco is easily bringing from $40 to $80 the hundred. The average for the entire market the past week when 1,767,574 pounds was sold, was near $27.00 the hundred. Oxford is the only market in the Middle Belt which offers government grading service. Farmers are confident this is helpful in getting higher prices for their tobacco.

GEN. JOHNSON RESIGNS CHIEF OF RECOVERY UNIT

It never, before was accepted. Today, the recovery leader revealed his reasons in some measure for giving up his job, pointing to pressing private work.

Now Superfluous.

Johnson, in his letter, called the President's attention to the fact that the NRA was being reorganized and under the scheduled reorganization set-up, he felt, his own job was superfluous. He assured the Chief Executive that he would have his (Johnson's) continued friendship, and that should he be called on again to serve the New Deal, he would be ready to do so.

President Roosevelt, in accepting Johnson's resignation, said he felt the NRA had fulfilled its first phase of usefulness, and that the time had come for revision. At the same time, it was made plain that this reorganization will come in the very near future, perhaps within the next few days. It was indicated at the same time that the President plans within the next few days, after he arrives in Washington tomorrow, to see Johnson and have a talk with him concerning the NRA.

Johnson, before going out of office on October 15, will make a final report to the President, and it was obvious from the letters making the resignation and acceptance plain today that this report will to some extent chart the course of the big recovery unit in the future.

::: Congratulations :::

We congratulate our farmer friends on the prices they are receiving for their tobacco. We invite you to bring your crop to this market to sell, and we rejoice with you that you are getting such fine prices.
