

HearD about TOWN

Our good friend, Mr. J. T. Gentry, of Varina, N. C., favored us with a call last Saturday. Mr. Gentry is a native of this County, and like a number of good folks made the mistake of leaving us, but he has been very successful in his adopted home. He says his tobacco crop was damaged by hail, but he has received a good price, and his crop will pay him a nice profit.

Mr. B. S. Glenn, one of the best merchants and farmers in the County, poked his head in the door yesterday morning and said if Roxboro kept up the pace it had set on the opening day the market would sell the crop raised in Person. Well, that is just what we believe the buyers are going to do, and we predict the farmers will stand by their home market.

Mr. John Jones, of Moriah, who is recognized not only as a good farmer but as one who is intensely interested in schools, had a load of tobacco here yesterday, and he was tickled at his prices. Said he just brought along a load of tips and was not expecting any great things, but they averaged better than 28 cents.

Notwithstanding the time for straw hats has passed we saw two of our best merchants Sunday wearing straws. Well, perhaps they were just trying to reduce the stock of straw hats, but to us it looked like a mighty poor advertisement for fall hats.

We saw one pile of tobacco at the Hyco sell for $1.00 a pound. My, sounds like the days of 1919.

Beautiful Dahlias

Misses Addie and Bessie Hester presented three vases of the most beautiful dahlias we have ever seen to the First Baptist church last Sunday. It was a thoughtful act and was appreciated by the pastor and congregation.

HURDLE MILLS SCHOOL NEWS

The people of Hurdle Mills are very proud of the eight graduates of the class of '34, who have passed on to institutions of higher learning. The following is a list of the students and of the institutions they are attending: Misses Eloise Hester and Louise Cates to E. C. T. C., Greenville, N. C.; Miss Florence Moore to Craft Business College, Durham; Messrs. Randolph and Bernice Hester, John Newton and Matt Long to Elon College; Mrs. Carl Hester, Jr., to Coynne Electrical College, Chicago, Ill.

The students are preparing for better conduct by selecting five monitors for each truck load of students. The monitors are: Mr. erry's truck—Ruby Jones, Sue Phelps, Curtis Jones, Johnny Moize and Herman Norris; Mr. J. A. Cates' Bushy Fork load: John Briggs, Annie Lea Moore, Allene Whitfield, Katie Sue Blalock and Jennie Lee Whitfield; Mr. J. A. Cates' Holman Bridge load: Geneva Laws, Lucille Berry, J. H. Blalock, Louise Clayton and Felix Wilkerson; Mr. H. G. Gentry's load: Nannie Lee Moore, L. V. Wrenn, Kelly Huff, George Crumpton and Oliver Averett; Mr. Dan Snipes' load: Steadman Hester, Eugenius Novatter, Mary Sester, Alma Solomon, and Bessie Newton.

The seniors of the class of '35 have elected the following officers for this year: President, Arch Fox; vice-president, Bessie Newton; secretary, Mary Gester; treasurer, Alma Solomon.

The girls of the high school department are very proud of their home economics teacher, Miss McGregor, who is helping them to learn how to economize. She has already given us notes on the preservation of food and on table service. We are now ready to start on our first dresses which will be kitchen smocks. We already have for our use in this course a stove, three sewing machines, an ironing board, a mirror, and two sinks. Our kitchen cabinets have been ordered and are expected to be here very soon. We hop that each of the girls will continue to like Miss McGregor as they do now.

The CWA corporation has been working on our walk recently and has gotten part of it so that it can be used and we hope that it will soon be finished.

The eighth grade has also elected monitors for their class for study hall. They are as follows: Sallie Wilson, Ivaline Breeze, Elmo Hawkins, Annie Moize and Rachel Moore.

Carolina and Wake Forest All Set For Game Saturday

Chapel Hill, Sept. 25.—Carolina and Wake Forest are to meet on the gridiron here Saturday in what is expected to be the best attended opening game between these two rivals since they started playing football way back in the nineties.

All this week the ticket sale has been unusually heavy. The 62-0 trouncing that Wake Forest handed Guilford last Saturday has served notice that the Tar Heels have a formidable crew to reckon with this Saturday.

Two of last year's standbys who didn't play against Guilford are expected to be ready for Carolina. They are Mike DiAngeli, one of the State's best guards, who reported late, and Bill Martin, the best broken field runner on the squad, who had an injured foot.

The Deacon line will outweigh the Tar Heels 10 pounds to the man, averaging 200 pounds. Built around the veteran center, Reinhardt, and the massive tackles, Swan and Ohtety, it charges, blocks, tackles, and does everything else that a good line should do.

Wake Forest also has a coterie of fine ball carriers in Martin, Edens, Myers, Kitchin, Morris, Shepard, Gold, Horton, and Peacock, and in Edens and Kitchin it has perhaps the best kicker and passer in the State.

To stop the Deacon hosts, Carolina is banking on the speed, drive, experience, and spirit of its veteran line. The latter, averaging 190 pounds, lists six lettermen, Daniel Kahn at center, Captain Barclay and Kahn at guard, Tatum and Ewins at tackle, and W. Moore at end, with one sophomore, Buck, at the other flank.

From tackle to tackle the personnel is the same as Carolina was starting in the closing games of 1933. Only the ends are untried.

SNYDER - FULLBACK

If its work in practice is any criterion, there will be a great battle and some brilliant play all along the line here Saturday.

The Tar Heels are looking to Jackson, Shaffer, Hutchins, Dashiell and one or two others to carry the brunt of the running attack.

The reserved seats for this game will be $1.65 and general admission $1.10.
