TAKE NO CHANCES

You can hardly pick up a paper but what you read of some store, or home, having been robbed, and in this day of quick get-away with automobiles you rarely hear of any of the guilty being captured. We want to warn our country friends not to carry their money home and keep it about the house, for there are too many stragglers, just waiting for an opportunity; and further, the man who comes in your home to rob you will not stop short of murder if it is necessary to accomplish his purpose.

Why take any chances? Possibly you lost money in some of the bank closings, and do not have any too much love for banks as a general run, but remember, every dollar deposited in your bank in Roxboro is guaranteed up to $5,000 by the United States government, and you can not lose no difference what happens to the bank. Should the bank happen to get in a tight place you can go there and get your money, if it is not in excess of $5,000, and get every penny you have in it, without cost or worry, for Uncle Sam has guaranteed it. And, may we say by way of parenthesis, that this is not an advertisement for the Peoples Bank, as they know nothing about what we are writing, in fact you all know that we do not consult any one as to what we say in this column.

Take our advice and put your money in the bank, do not carry it home and take chances of having it stolen.

HOW VERY PLEASANT

How pleasant it is to dwell together in love and harmony, and that thought is brought about by the splendid way the farmers of this good County and Roxboro are working together at this time. During all of our fifty years spent in this good town we have never known such a feeling of friendship as is manifested here daily at this time; the farmer is patronizing his home market, the buyers and warehousemen are exerting their utmost efforts in trying to serve them, and the merchants of Roxboro are meeting every demand placed upon them, seeing that they carry just the thing you want, and price it in keeping with what the same goods can be purchased anywhere, in fact they are making catalog houses live hard, and are getting many dollars which in the past have gone elsewhere.

That there have been prejudices in the past, most occasioned by mistaken acts on the part of both town and county, all will admit, but today all seem to realize that what helps one helps the other, and the result is there are going to be many dollars circulating in this section which heretofore have helped enrich other sections. The co-operation which we have today is going to mean much for the County, as well as the town, and a few years of such work will tell in the improvements on all sides; aside from the value in dollars and cents, it will so knit us together that any outsider who might happen along and attempt to create any rupture will find he has come to the wrong place and will soon make himself scarce in our midst.

We are proud of the civic clubs of Roxboro, for they have meant much to us. If we mistake not the first of the kind here was the Woman's club, and no one can tell the great things this club has accomplished; then came the Rotary club, which in turn was followed by the Kwanis club. The last named has been here only a few months, but is already beginning to make a place for itself, while the Rotary has been here more than ten years, and to this club we give much credit for the good fellowship existing today between the town and country. For a number of years, the classification of farmer in the Rotary was not filled, but several months since the club gladly welcomed as a member Mr. Claude Hall, and now another good countryman has come in. Mr. Dan L. Whitfield of Hurdle Mills. These two gentlemen will mean much to Rotary and we are convinced their efforts will do much to solidify that spirit of goodwill between the town and country.

In electing our good friend, Rev. J. F. Herbert, president of the Kiwanians, the club not only honored Mr. Herbert but it more highly honored itself. He has been, and is, a power for righteousness and all good and worthy efforts in this community, and but for one of the rules of the Methodist conference—that four-year rule—we dare say Mr. Herbert would be one of our fixtures, certainly he would be if the vote was left to this office.

By all means let's grab it quick. In another column will be found an article from our Jalong correspondent who wants Roxboro to take over a team from Jelong and call it "Roxboro." Good suggestion, all that is asked is that we furnish the boys with uniforms and some small expenses, which will naturally accrue, and this we can well afford, for a good ball team will mean much for the fans, and give us somewhere to spend some pleasant afternoons. Somebody start the ball to rolling, we will do our part.

CENTRAL GRADED SCHOOL NEWS

The splendid opening of Roxboro Central graded school seems to have been a real inspiration. The school was organized with unusual ease and is operating in a progressive way. The entire system, regardless of crowded conditions, is working in a cooperative style.

The P. T. A. had its first meeting Sept. 18. The devotional number of this meeting was given by Miss Hattie Burch in a most impressive manner. The second number "Why Have a P. T. A.?" given by Mrs. W. F. West, was so effectively given that it was a second feast of the meeting. Such programs will certainly increase the interest of the large attendance.

Miss Maude Montague's third grade won the P. T. A. banner for having the greatest number of parents present.

Miss Inda Collins has been in charge of the chapel exercises on Thursday mornings and has suggested such worthwhile thoughts as Psalm 19—Keep mouth and heart clean and pure. Psalm 1—Keep mind on good things; pick out some good in a person and copy thereafter.

On Monday morning, Oct. 1, Mr. J. F. Herbert conducted chapel devotional exercises. He talked of the friendship of Jesus and Zacchaeus, and of His strong friendship to us. His warning to the school children was, not to be two-faced, but to cultivate the habit of making others happier.

Oct. 8 Mr. J. C. McGregor brought the story of Naaman. Even though Naaman was efficient, obedient and a man of valor and otherwise accomplished, he was a leper and suffered the loss of his usefulness. The children were urged not to let petty traits cause them to lose their usefulness. The listed traits were laziness, dishonesty and telling falsehood. Our visiting ministers always bring helpful and appreciative messages.

It will be greatly appreciated if all parents will prepare a lunch for their children on rainy days. This will avoid the rush home, probable tardies and allow them to stay at school, keep dry, thereby preventing much sickness and they will have plenty of time to eat. Parents will please notice that the tardy bell rings at 8:40, which is five minutes earlier than in previous years. We have noted many tardies. Perhaps this is the reason. Everyone will appreciate all cooperation given in this matter that every one arrives on time.

The first month of school brought an evening of great pleasure to teachers when they were so graciously entertained at dinner by the Rotarians. This annual occasion is always looked forward to.

MEETING AND ALLOTMENT CARDS

By H. K. Sanders

At present the interest of farmers centers around their tobacco crop, the good price that it is bringing, and their marketing and allotment cards. We have the following suggestions to make in connection with the cards:

1. Check every entry on your card at warehouse. It is much easier for the Field Agents to correct an error immediately, if in the rush they should make a mistake on your card. They will be glad to correct any error that you find.
2. Check your warehouse bills, especially if you have turned a tag.
3. Keep your record books. Enter each and every sale made by anyone on your farm. Be sure to make a record of the number of pounds sold, amount received for each sale, date of sale and the name of the warehouse.
4. Check addition of pounds on warehouse sales slip before presenting card for your check.
5. After you receive your check, see that correct entries have been made on your allotment card.
6. Copy the information on each allotment card into a record book as your sales are made. This information will be very valuable in case the allotment card is lost and you have to get a duplicate.

JESUS IN AGONY

When he had taken the eleven disciples with him into Gethsemane Jesus said to them, "My soul is exceeding sorrowful, even unto death." And there he sweat as it were great drops of blood, his soul being in great agony.

It was difficult for him to face his suffering. We miss the point if we pass it up by saying he was divine and therefore found to easy to submit; it was difficult. He cried unto the Father that if it were possible to let that cup—that suffering and agony—pass from him.

While on the cross he cried out, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" All of this agony of soul in addition to his physical suffering!

Why was it necessary for the blessed Son of God who knew no sin thus to suffer? For the answer to this question we have only to turn to Isaiah 53:6, "All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned everyone to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of all."

For an idea of the meaning of this statement let us turn to his words concerning Dives and Lazarus. Dives died and was buried and in hell lifted up his eyes being in torment. Then he begged for that poor man who before had lain at his gate full of sores desiring to be fed with the crumbs that fell from the table to be allowed to come and merely dip his finger in water to cool his parching tongue. But he was told that could not be for there was a great gulf separating them that could not be crossed. In other words he was out of reach of mercy.

In like manner at the crucifixion the Father is withdrawing his mercy from Jesus. He sent angels to minister to him when he was tempted in the wilderness but he is sending no angels now. He sent Moses and Elijah to talk with him on the Mountain of Transfiguration but Moses and Elijah are not sent now. The Father is withdrawing his mercy from the Savior that he may not have to withdraw it from us in eternity.

Such love on the part of Jesus Christ should strike a cord of appreciation in every human heart, and that appreciation should express itself in humble trust and obedience. Matt. 26:17.

Ruth Reads Himself Out Of Loop As Ball Player

Bambina Announces He Is Willing To Manage Some Major League Outfit But Will Not Sit On Bench As Pinch-Hitter

Detroit, Oct. 8.—Dynamic, colorful Babe Ruth, the biggest drawing card baseball has known, read himself out of the game as a player today, but said he would be delighted to sign with some major league club as manager.

"I want to remain in baseball," Ruth, here for the world series, said today, "but I will not sign a players' contract next year with any club. I have no intention of sitting on the bench or being around merely for pinch-hitting purposes. That doesn't appeal to me at all."

No Job in Mind.
Then, to make it clear that he wasn't talking about any particular club, he added:

"I haven't had an offer to, take hold of any club, nor have I anything definite in mind as to where I might land if I left the Yankees, but I have made up my mind as to what I want to do, if there is any future for me in the big leagues."

He also made it clear there isn't any serious prospect that he might supplant Joe McCarthy as manager of the Yankees next season.

"To avoid any misunderstandings," he said in a formal statement, "here's what happened. Before leaving New York I had a meeting with Colonel Ruppert and asked: 'Colonel, are you satisfied with McCarthy for next year?'"

"The colonel replied that he was and I said, 'That suits me—that's all I wanted to know.'"

"I did not say that it was a case of McCarthy or me."

"This much is certain—I want to remain in baseball but I will not sign a player's contract next year with any club."

"In view of Colonel Ruppert's decision, I will make my plans accordingly."

The fact that McCarthy's three-year contract as manager of the

Mighty Babe Quits

Yankees still has a year to run is one very effective barrier to Ruth's well known ambition to pilot the club with which he gained fame—and a fortune. A year ago, the Bambina turned down the offer of Colonel Ruppert, owner of the Yanks, to manage the Newark Bears, a Yankee farm.

Ruth played in 125 games this season, but retired from many of those games before they were over. His legs, small compared to his bulk, have caused him trouble for several seasons.

He smacked out 22 home runs during the season and ended with an unofficial batting average of .288.
