"Arthur's arm was still around her;

Several minutes had gone by
Since the first kiss had been given,
And he'd sworn for her to die.

'Darling,' gently lisped the maiden,
Red as roses grew his face;
'If you never loved another,
How then learned you to embrace?'

Joyously he pressed her to him,
Whispering in her ear with haste:
'Football trainers at the college
Made us 'tackle' tound the waist.'

FOOT BALL.

The football season has come again,
It's ghastly work's begun;
They gouge each other's ears and eyes,
And break their ribs and shins and thighs,
And have no end of fun.

CHAFF.

TULL (on 59th street, reading bill posters a month old), "Boys, I never saw as much free reading since I was born.

TOWSER SHARPE, (walking up Broadway) "Say boys, Barnum's circus must be in town today; let's wait here till the crowd passes.

KIRK, (as the elevator carries his baggage up to his room), "My God, boys, look at my baggage going up that chimney."

BRAWLEY, (in Savoy hotel), "Sav. waiter, fetch me one of them programs, I want to see what you have got to eat."

TULL, (pointing at the grape fruit at the Savoy), "Waiter, please hand me one of them big sour gourds."

Hops Price, (In Philadelphia Union depot, trains coming in every four minutes), "My Lord, boys, there must be a picnic in this town to-day.

TOWSER SHARPE, (after the champagne supper at the Commonwealth Club), "Boys, what place in that we just left?"

Geo. Graham. "That was the Commonwealth Club."

T. S. "Pshaw, there was nothing common about that place."

FOR SALE—A pair of 'yaller' shoes. Apply to "Pete" Murphy.

Where did Kirk put Guy Rankin to sleep? In the hammock.

GATE KEEPER, (at the ferry as "Pete" starts through), "Hold on friend, let me see what kind of shoes you have on?"

The warlike spirit never dies;
In peace 'tis present just the same.
When nations know no enemies,
Their youth will brave the football game. Ex.

HOW BITTER.

"'Tis sweet to love,
But, oh! how bitter,
To love a girl
Whose dress don't fit her."
But 'tis bitter far,
So I am told,
To make a touch-down
And miss the goal.

The North Carolinas did not win the football game here yesterday in the contest with our University boys, but they won the unqualified admiration of the spectators for their pluck and constancy. And they also distinguished themselves for the excellent spirit with which they accepted their defeat. They are worthy sons of those sires without whose aid Lee never could have held his lines before Richmond or won the Seven days' battle.—Richmond Dispatch.

It was the hardest fought contest ever seen on a Richmond field. Virginia had come to win, and they were surprised to see that it took all their determination and skill, combined with the training of Poe and the splendid direction of Penton, to overcome the North Carolinians. The "Tar Heels" are the second best eleven that ever appeared on a Richmond field. They deserve credit for their splendid team work. Had they not been suffering from the effects of a hard fight with Lehigh the figures might have looked different.—Richmond Times.

We are only too glad to reprint such as the above, when they are deserved. The student body at the University of North Carolina delights in the absolute confidence of the faculty. They have tried to show themselves worthy of this confidence in the past and trust they will succeed in the future as well as they have done in the past. Represented by such students the reputation of the University will never be hurt by the roamings of her "Tramp foot ball team."
