ABOUT our advertisers we have only what is good to say. Those that advertise with the college publications should receive support from the college. Stop and think. Do you not, each one, have some project on hand which requires the co-operation of others for a successful issue? Do you expect assistance from them without giving in return what aid you can render in their projects? Unless you are not a "square man" you will. This is a similar case. Our advertisers help us by advertising with us—in fact they enable us to exist. We should show our appreciation by giving them our entire patronage. In short, we advocate boycotting those who want to make money out of us and don't want to help us in those things which give pleasure to students. Get what they can out of you and give you nothing in return. At present our advertisers can supply our needs. Give them the patronage that is due them, their goods are the best and at as low rates as anywhere else. It rests with each University man therefore whether or no he will help the University in this indirect way. When new advertisers come we advocate a division of patronage to be sure, but we think that as long as they remain off our list, or Magazine's list, or Hellenian list, they should receive no support from us.

The University is truly proud of such alumni as Prof. L. D. Howell. The good he is doing in the graded schools in Goldsboro is incalculable. His Round Table is excellent and will do much good for the schools of the State. The short stories intended for such young readers as school children are, are very attractive even to those of riper years. We remember our days with Harper's Young People after we had "finish'd fifth reader" with so much pleasure. The Round Table supplies a great want. It should be in the hands of every teacher in the State.

FRESHMAN ELECTION.

At last the desires of the Freshman have been realized. A full set of officers have been elected for one year, and the scheming and wrangling is at an end. The members of '97 should not in their happiness overlook the leniency which they received on last Saturday from '96, and should be appreciative and respectful accordingly. It has ever been the Freshman's lot to pass through trial and tribulation when attempting the election of his fellows, for to the jolly Sophomore it and has always been reserved the prerogative and special right of disintegrating verdant gatherings. In this recent conjunction of inexperienced youths, it was demonstrated that even so callous a nature as that of the Sophomore is susceptible at times to feelings of pity, for the helpless Freshman were allowed to pursue the uneven tenor of their way with but little of annoyance or interruption. After some little maneuvering, Mr. Settle Dockery was chosen chairman and he declared the house open to nominations. The following men were elected to offices:

President, Eatman.
First Vice-President, Connor.

Second Vice-President, Bailey.
Third Vice-President, Parker.
Historian, Horne, W.
Prophet, Busbee, R.
Poet, Pittman.
Orator, Smith, D.
Secretary and Treasurer, Torrence.

Essayist, Johnson, F. B.
There was much ill-feeling expressed throughout the meeting by members of contending factions, the fact of which is deplorable and serves to broaden whatever breach exists between fraternity and non-fraternity men. There is or should be no lines drawn between these two classes of students. Some seem to forget that all were at one time without the pale of Greekdom and that the present condition of a part of them is due only to their own progressive efforts.

Dr. Thos. Hume lectured on missions to the young people and preached three times to the people at Clayton, Johnston county, last Saturday and Sunday. He was suffering from a very sore throat, but we are sure he was interesting and instructive to all.

The Doctor appears to think that this county is one of those "nurses of lions" of which the poet speaks, as so many of our best students come from it.

THE CRIMSON-WHITE of the University of Alabama is proud of its subscription list—and justly so too. Only five men of the whole student body asked, refused to subscribe to their weekly. Why can't the students of the University of North Carolina do something like that? That is loyalty.
